A GOLDEN DAY FOR THE GOLDEN GATE

Fog attempts to sneak through the Golden Gate and over the crest of the Marin Headlands to fuzz out the crystal clarity of the San Francisco Bay air, but both Wolfback Ridge (foreground) and San Francisco across the bay bask in golden October sunshine. Temperatures in the 80s dissipated the fog before it gained any beachhead in Marin yesterday, and Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean said he could remember few days so clear. The mercury climbed to 82 degrees in Sausalito, San Rafael and Woodacre, 83 in Petaluma and 85 in Novato. Federal weather forecasters said the Indian Summer would continue at least through tomorrow.

Year-End Viet Cease-Fire Seen By Nixon Aides

But Halt Not In Sight, Reds In Paris Say; 'Insolent' Thieu Hit

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Officials of President Nixon's campaign organization today predicted a Vietnam cease-fire by the end of the year, but there were gloomy statements from the North Vietnamese and attacks on Presidents Nixon and Nguyen Van Thieu for blocking a peace settlement. (Related story, page 19.)

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong "Foreign Minister" and delegate to the Paris peace talks, told UPI correspondent George Sibera: "An early cease-fire is not in sight, and all the rumors to this effect are not based on facts." She added, "we still have no agreement with the Americans over the basic issues."

Mme. Binh and Ly Van Sau, the official spokesmen of the Viet Cong delegation, told a Paris news conference that "if President Nixon so wishes, we can have a cease-fire within hours." Both Sau and Mme. Binh made it clear they meant Nixon should dump Thieu whom they called a U.S. puppet.

The official North Vietnamese newspaper Le Nhan Dan attacked South Vietnamese President Thieu for what it called his "bellicose, insolent statements" and said North Vietnam would press the battle to victory. Hanoi Radio accused Nixon of hiding behind Thieu's back while prolonging the war.

"Nixon is hiding behind the back of Thieu to dodge responsibility for impeding the course of peace negotiations and for prolonging the war," Hanoi Radio said. "Nixon's sticking with Thieu is a major obstacle to ending the war and the realization of national accord in South Vietnam."

The broadcast monitored in Saigon amounted to a rejection of Thieu's tough conditions for ending the war—the withdrawal of the North Vietnamese armies from South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia and a cease-fire under international inspection.

Le Nhan Dan criticized Nixon for the continued air war against North Vietnam and said that at a time when the United States was talking of progress in negotiations, on Oct. 11, its planes bombed the heart of Hanoi.

Veiled Is Word On Quentin Peninsula

By PAT PERRY

The Ross Valley Sanitary District began last night's public hearing on a general plan for the San Quentin Peninsula before the Larkspur Planning Commission on an ominous note: a veiled threat to condemn peninsula property surrounding its sewage treatment plant. (Another Larkspur planning commission story, page 45.)

Far more veiled, however, were the identities of firms said to be interested in locating on the peninsula once developed. Requests from the audience to know were carefully brushed aside by spokesmen for T. I. Properties, major landowner on the promontory.

Generally, the hearing — attended by about 50 persons — was highlighted by discussion for and against the extent of development proposed and by questioning of the impact on schools.

The president of the sanitary district board, Eugene Ostaggi, told commissioners that under the district's joint powers agreement with the San Rafael Sanitary District, a major water and sewage treatment facility for Central Marin is planned on the peninsula. Its exact location still hadn't been determined.

District Engineer J. Warren Nute said the districts are studying three sites for the multimillion dollar "pollution control facility." One is the present Ross Valley sewage treatment site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, another within the Hutchinson Quarry bowl and the third "somewhere else on the peninsula."

"The present location is probably the best," said Nute, "but we'll need control of the properties around there, and the only way is to buy the property, so we don't have houses around the plant."

Commissioners asked if the sanitary district has rights of eminent domain entitling it to condemn property for acquisition, and Nute said it did.

The sanitary district's pronouncement was the closest thing to action in the four-hour public hearing on the general plan.

Because only three planning commissioners attended the hearing — Leonard S. Rubin, Charles H. Curley and Benton A. Sifford — it was announced that no action would be taken. Chairman Otto Hoefler and Earl J. O'Grady Jr., were absent. The hearing was continued to a special meeting on Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

David Van Pelt, a member of Dan Coleman and Associates, planning consultants hired by the city and paid by T. I. Properties to develop a general plan for the peninsula, showed a colored map.

The two deeply excavated bowls of the Hutchinson Quarry and the area above the sewage treatment plant were filled with high-density apartments, while all the lower land fronting on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was devoted to commercial development. Wood's Island, next to the ferry terminal, was covered with offices. The dividing ridge between the two quarry bowls was earmarked for a large hotel or motel. The ridge-line on top of the quarry

Voiceprint Will Be Used In Trial

In what is thought to be a Bay Area first, a voiceprint identification was allowed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court as evidence against a San Anselmo man charged with making a telephoned bomb threat.

Judge Gary W. Thomas accepted the voice identification which was used to link Steven C. Chapter, 28, a telephone installer, to a phoned threat to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Rafael.

Chapter allegedly called in, counted down from 10 to one, mimicked a bomb exploding, then, a few minutes later called back, counted from one to 10 and said a bomb would be placed in the telephone building in two days.

Thomas ruled there is enough evidence to try Chapter on the bomb threat charge and ordered him to appear in superior court Nov. 6.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith said that in 1968 the state Supreme Court ruled out voiceprinting on the grounds that not enough study had been done to

Boggs 'Clue' Proves False

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A piece of orange-colored debris floating in the Gulf of Alaska proved a false clue Tuesday in the 10-day-old search for House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and three companions who disappeared in a light plane.

The debris turned out to be only a pallet from a ship's cargo hold, ending two hours of suspense which started when an Air Force search crew spotted the debris about 30 miles off the Alaska panhandle.

Boggs and three other men disappeared Oct. 16 aboard an orange and white twin-engine Cessna that was on a flight from Anchorage to Juneau during a rainstorm.

Bomb-Letters To Nixon, Laird Found

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Security forces found explosive charges today in letters addressed to President Nixon, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers and U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, police said.

The three letters were found Tuesday by postal workers in Kiryat Shemona, a town in northern Israel near the Lebanese border, said the national police spokesman, Mordechai Tavor.

Supervisors Vote Curbs On Growth Of Waterways

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, on a 4-1 vote, yesterday approved a long-sought ordinance to limit development in stream beds and flood plains. (Other supervisors stories, page 3:)

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, the lone dissenter, said he opposed enactment of the ordinance because flood plain property owners had not been individually notified.

The "primary floodway zone" — designated F-1 — prohibits dredging, filling, diking and construction in all watercourse channels but permits one floating boat dock per parcel.

The "secondary floodway zone" — designated F-2 — covers lowlying areas which occassionally are flooded.

Construction within the F-2 zone would be permitted only within specified areas, leaving ample ponding area around new construction to absorb winter overflow.

The ordinance, in creating the new zones, does not automatically change existing zoning within flood plains. Changes for specific parcels must undergo public hearings first.

"I think we should notify people who are going to be

Sausalito Appoints A New Fire Chief

Robert C. Quayle, acting Sausalito fire chief, has been named permanent chief of the department. (Other Sausalito City Council Stories, page 36.)

Quayle's appointment to the $18,754-a-year post was announced, along with five other fire department promotions, at last night's city council meeting.

The 35-year-old chief joined the Sausalito department in 1965 and was named lieutenant in 1967, a post he held until June of this year when he was appointed assistant chief by then Fire Chief Robert Halon.

After Halon resigned in July, Quayle was named acting chief. In that job he reorganized the department from a two-platoon to a three-platoon system with six men on each shift.

The reorganization, which will reduce the firefighters' work week from 63 to 56 hours, calls for a chief, three battalion chiefs, three lieutenants and 12 firemen. The proposal was approved by the council last month.

City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr also announced last night that two fire captains, Stephen H. Bogel and Max E. Robertson, had been promoted to battalion chief. Also named battalion chief was Lt. Albert J. Jones.

Appointed lieutenants were firefighters John C.Fylstra and Dustin F. Leer.

400 Fight Fire In U.S. Forest

QUINCY (UPI)—A 400-man crew today battled a 120-acre blaze fanned by high winds in a rugged canyon along the Feather River in the Plumas National Forest.

A U.S. Forest Service spokesman said the brush and timber fire, located about half way between here and Oroville, was spread during early morning hours by winds gusting up to 60 miles an hour. However, the winds later dropped to 10-20 m.p.h.

The spokesman said containment of the fire is expected late today with control expected by mid-morning Thursday.

Parcel Blows Up, Three Wounded

BEIRUT (UPI)—A parcel-bomb mailed from Belgrade exploded in Tripoli, Libya, Wednesday, seriously wounding the representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) and slightly injuring two other persons, the official Libyan News Agency said.

In a dispatch from Tripoli, the agency said, "It is believed that the Zionist terrorists are responsible for such terrorist operations."

Agnew In Ranks Of Nixon Funders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has contributed to President Nixon's re-election campaign, but John N. Mitchell has not. Secretary of State William P. Rogers has chipped in, but Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has not.

These were only a few of the names gleaned from the hundreds of pages of Republican contributors made public Monday by the General Accounting Office (GAO).

The accounting, required by law 15 days before the election, showed that the Republican financial situation is still healthier than that of their opponents—but the Democrats have been gaining.

The reporting period covered the six weeks ending Oct. 16. During that time, Nixon's forces collected about $13 million and spent about $10.5 million. The committees for the election of Sen. George McGovern in the same period received about $9 million and spent about the same amount. But the record also shows the McGovern campaign had debts amounting to $2,862,578.

The GAO furnished a breakdown of Republican contributions Tuesday, but was not yet prepared with the listing of McGovern contributors. GAO employes said the national McGovern for President Committee report would run to 2,000 pages or more, in addition to the smaller committees.

Virtually the only surprise in the latest bundle of financial disclosures was the fact that

Acquittal In Hanrahan Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Romiti issued a verdict of acquittal today for Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan and 13 others accused of conspiring to obstruct justice after a police raid in which two Black Panther leaders were killed.

Romiti, hearing the case without a jury, agreed with defense attorneys that the prosecution had not proved its case. He ruled before the defense presented any of its evidence.

"This court can only conclude the evidence is simply not sufficient to establish any conspiracy against any of the defendants," Romiti said. "It is not the purpose of this trial or this court to evaluate the work and conduct of the police.

"The gut and only issue is whether there was a conspiracy by the defendant."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

To Appeal

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Juan Corona's attorney says he will appeal in an attempt to win freedom on bail for the Mexican defendant who has been held 17 months in the killing of 25 farm workers.

A bail request by defense lawyer Richard Hawk was turned down without comment last Friday by Superior Court Judge Richard E. Patton, who is presiding at Corona's trial.

Hawk said yesterday he will file an appeal at an unspecified date with the State Court of Appeal.

Corona, 38, a farm labor contractor, has pleaded innocent to 25 murder charges in the hacking deaths of the transients whose bodies were dug from peach orchards in Yuba City in May, 1971.

New ACS Head

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Arthur G. James, professor of surgery at Ohio State University Medical School and head of the Columbus Cancer Clinic, today was elected president of the American Cancer Society.

The society also announced the election of Dr. Justin J. Stein, professor of Radiology at the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine as vice president and president-elect. Stein has been president of the society's California division since 1964.

Festival Optimism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 16th annual San Francisco Film Festival has ended on a note of optimism and its directors say the event is almost certain to continue.

Executive director Claude Jarmin pointed out that the 13 sellouts during the 21 feature films is "more than we ever had."

He said that the accumulated $50,000 deficit with which the festival started may have been cut to as low as $10,000 this year.

Sale Approved

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal judge yesterday approved the sale of four Penn Central Railroad properties in the heart of New York City for $13.8 million.

Judge John P. Fullam rejected the proposed sale of two other parcels for $45.6 million, saying the bankrupt railroad would not make a good profit on them.

The trustees of the Penn Central offered the land for sale as part of their program to strip the railroad of nonrail assets. The land, some of the country's choicest real estate, lies on both sides of Park Avenue in Manhattan, running north from Grand Central Station.

Pitchfork Deaths

BELFAST (UPI) — Two Roman Catholic men stabbed to death with pitchforks near the Irish Republic border may have been killed in revenge for the shooting of a part time Protestant soldier two days ago, a British army spokesman said today.

The army said one of the victims was a member of the Irish Republican Army and said the other also apparently was connected with the IRA.

Elsewhere, a sniper killed a 19-year-old soldier in Belfast and a soldier injured by a booby trap explosion died in an English hospital, bringing to 619 the death toll for three years of religious and political strife in Northern Ireland.

Arrest Moratorium

DALLAS (UPI) — Police Chief Frank Dyson disclosed last night he has temporarily stopped sending police into black neighborhoods with arrest warrants. Three Negroes have been shot by officers in the past two weeks, and blacks have protested with demonstrations.

About 200 blacks were demonstrating for the second night in a row when Dyson announced the temporary moratorium. They marched toward the downtown area, but reversed their field and returned to a church for a meeting. They later learned of Dyson's announcement.

Dyson said his arrest moratorium was issued in an attempt to relax tensions between police and Negroes.

Peron Returning

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Former Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron, 77, will return to Argentina Nov. 17 to try to make a political comeback, the newspaper Cronica said yesterday.

The report said he would bring the body of his late wife, Eva, the idol of millions of Peron supporters while her husband was in power.

In Madrid, the newspaper Nuevo Diario said Peron would leave Madrid for Buenos Aires Nov. 14 aboard a plane chartered from the Italian airline Alitalia. Peron "has prepared everything for his Operation Return," the Madrid newspaper said.

Two Share Nobel Prize In Economics

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — John R. Hicks of Britain and Kenneth J. Arrow of the United States today won the 1972 Nobel prize for economic science, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences announced.

Hicks and Arrow were awarded for "their pioneering contributions to the general economic equilibrium theory and welfare theory," the academy said.

The economy award is worth $100,000 like the other Nobel awards. But it is not one of the original prizes. It was instituted four years ago by the Bank of Sweden in memory of Alfred Nobel.

Hicks, of All Souls College in Oxford, England, and Arrow of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., will share the prize.

Hicks, born in 1904, was educated at Oxford and then taught at the London School of Economics from 1926 to 1935. He served as a lecturer at Cambridge until 1938 when he was appointed a professor at the University of Manchester. He moved back to Oxford as a professor 1946.

Arrow, born 1921, took his masters degree at Columbia University, New York, in 1940 and his Ph.D. in 1951.

He served in the U.S. armed forces 1942 to 1946 then started his scientific career as a research member of the Cowles Commission in Chicago. Arrow became a professor of economic science of statistics at Stanford University in 1949 and moved to Harvard in 1968.

He served as an economic adviser to President John F. Kennedy in 1962 when he was a member of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Arrow is the third American to win the prize which has been awarded three times before. In 1970 Paul A. Samuelson was awarded and last year Russian-born U.S. economist Simon Kuznets won the prize.

He is also the eighth American to win a share in the 1972 Nobel awards. Americans have earlier won the awards for chemistry, physics and a share of the medicine prize.

Prof. Bertil Ohlin, a member of the prize committee, said the equilibrium and welfare theories are of major importance to the everyday life of most people in the world.

"The equilibrium theory is the basis for many ideas being applied in practical economics. Take as example as the localization of industrial plants, the attempts by governments to control money policies and foreign trade," Prof. Ohlin said.

Prof. Ragnar Bentzel, chairman of the prize committee, said the welfare theory tries to analyze how to reach an optimal economy by changing the "institutional situation" for a nation's economy.

Crash On Midway Kills Four Sailors

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy said today four sailors were killed, 22 injured and one was missing after an attack bomber lost a wheel on landing last night and careened across the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Midway.

The Navy A6 Intruder all-weather fighter-bomber had just returned from a combat mission over North Vietnam, a Navy spokesman said, when its left landing gear collapsed as it touched down.

The jet skimmed over the carrier's arresting cables used to halt planes and slid from the stern to the bow of the 900-foot ship.

The spokesman said the jet knocked an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber over the side of the carrier, then plowed into four A7 Corsair attack bombers, another A6 Intruder and another Phantom, all of which were badly damaged. The Navy said another F4 was slightly damaged.

Ten of the injured seamen were transferred to a hospital at Da Nang. The others were treated aboard the carrier.

New Lavelle Charge Is Dismissed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A young Air Force Academy graduate who filed charges against Gen. John D. Lavelle over the illegal bombing of North Vietnam believes the administration is "giving amnesty to men who disobey orders" by refusing to courtmartial the general.

Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans Tuesday dismissed charges brought against Lavelle by 1st Lt. Delbert R. Terrill, 25, Charlevoix, Mich.

Seamans ruled that Lavelle had been punished enough. Lavelle was relieved of his command of the 7th Air Force in Southeast Asia and retired when it was revealed he ordered 28 bombing raids against North Vietnam last winter that were outside air war restrictions imposed by the White House. Testimony in Congress showed Air Force reports were falsified to cover up the violations.

Terrill, who presently is on the staff of Air Reservist Magazine at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., filed charges against Lavelle June 21, arguing that discipline and morale as well as "law and order" would be undermined if the Air Force prosecuted enlisted men for long hair but failed to prosecute a general for violating orders.

Terrill said Tuesday Seamans' action was "a slap in the face to every soldier who has ever worn the American uniform."

Airborne Signs

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A Louisiana advertising firm is planning to spread "billboard advertising" to the skies with a single-engine Cessna and the world's largest neon sign. The Airborne Advertising Co. is planning a fleet of the planes carrying signs 12 feet high, 40 feet long, and 900 feet of neon tubing.

U.S. Bomber Raids Over North Again Curtailed

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. bombers eased up today on raids over North Vietnam, the U.S. command said, amid widespread reports of an approaching Indochina cease-fire. But air and ground warfare raged on in South Vietnam.

The Communists rained shells and rockets today around South Vietnam's two biggest cities, Saigon and Da Nang, killing 28 Vietnamese and wounding 115, most of them civilians.

One American civilian was killed and three others were wounded today when Communist rockets exploded stored napalm at the big Da Nang air base. Two Vietnamese civilians were killed in the attack and 20 others were wounded.

Another American was wounded deep in the Mekong Delta Tuesday when his helicopter was struck by small arms fire, field reports said.

The U.S. Navy said four sailors were killed, 22 injured and one was missing after an A6 Intruder attack bomber lost a wheel on landing on the flight deck of the aircraft carrier USS Midway Tuesday night and slammed into a group of parked planes.

That made a total of five Americans killed and 26 hurt in Vietnam or offshore in the past 24 hours.

In today's attack in the Saigon area, the Saigon command said an undetermined number of Communist 107mm and 122mm rockets hit the rubber plantation city of Dau Tieng, also known as Tri Tan, 40 miles northwest of the capital, killing 11 people.

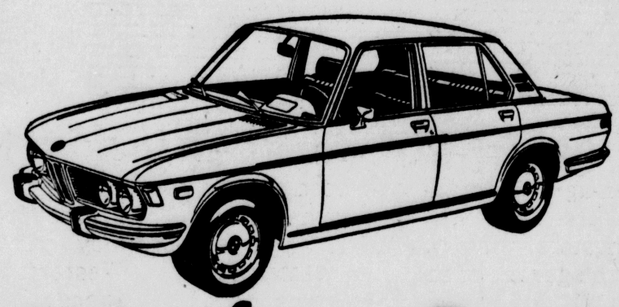

U.S. bombers Tuesday and early today restricted their raids in North Vietnam to below the 20th parallel in the country's panhandle area, the U.S. command's daily communique said.

Military sources said today U.S. B52 bombers resumed bombing the North late Tuesday after a one-day halt officials attributed to adverse weather conditions.

Oldsters Restaurant Delayed By County

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday shied away from pumping $7,500 into a proposed restaurant which would offer cheap meals to needy senior citizens.

While unanimously endorsing the idea submitted by the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, supervisors questioned the legal grounds of supporting a venture restricted to a single group.

As outlined by Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the coordinating council, the kitchen would be located at the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad Depot in San Rafael and would be operated by senior citizens.

He said it would provide one hot meal a day, five days a week, to elderly citizens at a cost of about $1 per meal.

Ryken, in urging county support, said $13,000 already had been donated by the San Francisco Foundation and the Archdiocese of San Francisco.

The board, in referring the matter to the county counsel's office for study, said it would consider the proposal again Nov. 14.

It suggested the coordinating council show how it would screen those using the kitchen should use of county funds be authorized.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed William Coleman of Corte Madera and Lane McVae of Marinwood to the county youth commission; Robert H. Greene to the San Rafael Meadows flood control advisory board; Alanna Dougherty of Ross to the family and children's services advisory committee; Trude Baum and Mrs. Jack Silverman to the mental health advisory board.

RECOMMENDATION — Recommended Dr. Paul A. Steinman of Ross or Dr. George J. Monteverdi of San Rafael be appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the state Mental Retardation Area Board V.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Dr. James R. Prest of San Rafael from the county mental health advisory board.

CLAIMS — Rejected four claims totaling $1.2 million from youths injured in an auto accident last July at the Highway 101 exit to Marin City and Sausalito. The youths, Karen Lynn Ruggiero, 17, Robin K. Blake, 20, Deborah Ruggiero, 16, and Michael R. McCurdy, 22, were injured when an auto crossed the center line and struck McCurdy's car. The claims maintain the county was at fault because of improperly marked road construction.

INJURY —Rejected a $500,000 claim from Robert D. Ruffin of Mill Valley who was injured last July when struck by an auto in Mill Valley. The claim maintains the county was at fault for lack of maintenance of Buena Vista Avenue, which is within city limits of Mill Valley.

CONTRACT — Approved a $53,725 contract with the Marin Institute to provide rehabilitation and treatment programs for alcoholics.

LANDSCAPING — Directed the county staff to work with the state Division of Highways to provide screen planting along portions of Highway 101 from Richardson Bay Bridge to Highway 37.

RECYCLING — Authorized on a 4-1 vote the allocation of $3,000 for a regional demonstration project on recycling trash. The project is being sponsored by the Association of Bay Area Governments and proposes, ultimately, to barge organic waste to low-lying delta areas. Supervisor Louis H. Baar opposed the allocation.

JAIL — Learned that the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors had reduced the daily rate for housing out-of-county prisoners. The rate was reduced from $9.67 to $9 per day, saving Marin about $8,000 a year on its $100,000 contract.

APPEAL — Overruled the planning commission and upheld the appeal of Henry Bormolini and John Velcich who objected to a requirement for six feet of fill on their four-acre parcel near Novato before construction of two storage buildings. The land is located on Deer Island Road adjacent to the Novato Creek flood plain.

PAYMENT — Submitted an application to the state for $53,057 in lieu of revenue lost from agricultural lands under agricultural contracts. About 85,000 acres in Marin are under contracts, which give ranchers tax benefits but prohibit development for 10 years.

HIRING — Authorized the department of public works to hire a junior civil engineer instead of an engineering technician. The junior engineer will work in the department's land development section at about $11,244 per year, or $3,000 more than a technician.

FAIRGROUNDS — Delayed to Nov. 14 a proposal from Kay Corlett of San Anselmo that garden clubs and civic groups be encouraged to help landscape the civic center and fairgrounds.

HIGHLANDS — Delayed to Nov. 28 rezoning and master plan hearings for the controversial Highlands residential development on a hilltop overlooking the Bel Aire Subdivision near Tiburon. The matters were postponed pending environmental impact studies.

Mailer Attacks Women's Lib, Nixon Policies

BERKELEY (UPI) —Author Norman Mailer attacked women's liberation and the Nixon administration Tuesday night in a speech disrupted by pickets, cheers and catcalls and ending with the arrest of two persons for disturbing the peace.

Mailer's two-hour speech at the University of California was picketed by a dozen women's liberationists, whom he has often criticized.

Mailer, the author of a number of best-selling books, said the women's liberation movement and the Nixon administration both practiced a form of totalitarianism.

He said Nixon practiced "benign totalitarianism" while women's liberation was a "terroristic movement, not a revolutionary movement."

Mailer read portions of his new book, "St. George and the Godfather," a report of the Democratic and Republican National Conventions last summer.

Beirut Letter Bombs Injure Two

BEIRUT (UPI)—Two letter bombs exploded in different parts of Beirut today, injuring three persons, police sources said.

One parcel exploded in Beirut's main post office, injuring a mailman who was handling it. The second parcel exploded at a transport company, injuring a secretary and an office boy.

Transit Network Tests Expanded

Marin County supervisors yesterday authorized expanded testing of the county's balanced transportation program to determine the validity of a recommendation for 350 intracounty buses by 1990. (Another supervisors story, page 1.)

The recommendation, contained in the controversial Phase II Report, has come under fire from several supervisors who claim the report failed to compare various levels of bus service with population projections for the eastern portion of the county.

As submitted, the report tested eight variations with all but one leaning heavily on large population increases in West Marin.

The one that considered only slight growth in West Marin — as called for in the countywide general plan — produced the recommendation for 350 buses serving a 1990 population of about 286,000.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, most outspoken critic of the report, said yesterday a study of 100 buses against a 286,000 population might have produced the same level of service but no one knew since it hadn't been tested.

He proposed three new sets of figures which were accepted for study along with two others from the planning department.

His three proposals varied only in 1990 population figures all served by 100 intracounty buses, expanded roadways and new intervalley connector roads. Populations varied from 285,000 to 309,000 to 366,000.

The last two proposals to be tested were submitted by the planning department. The first postulates a 1990 population of 286,000 served by 350 buses but halting all road expansion.

The second planning department proposal postulates a 1990 population of 364,000 (25,000 in West Marin) served by 350 local buses and expanded roadway system including intervalley connectors.

Results of the five new tests, to be cranked through a computer simulating 1990 land use patterns, will be back to the board later this year when the countywide general plan is presented.

Some Building, Zone Pleas 'Too Trivial'

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night declared several development proposals and rezoning requests too trivial to require environmental impact reports.

The commission, following guidelines established Oct. 5 by the city council, allowed the following proposals to proceed without impact reportu: sauna and massage parlor at 900 Fifth Avenue; landscape plans for mobile home park off Smith Ranch Road; site improvements to building at 811 Francisco Boulevard; two-lot subdivision at 35 Sirard Lane; map change at Locust Avenue and Gold Hill Grade, and map and text changes allowing prezoning of Terra Linda Community Services District and adding the district to the zoning ordinance.

According to commission secretary Fern Vincent, the commission last night required impact reports for the following developments: McCarthy Co. development off San Pablo Avenue; map change at Glen Park and Myrtle avenues; map change for Arthur Nicolaisen's Northgate East development at 4040 Civic Center Drive; map change requested by Wells Fargo Bank for extension of Mitchell Boulevard, and request for multiple-residential use of parcel at 43 East Crescent Drive.

Commissioners also said Thomas Schaal's request for a map change for proposed development of the Stanley Dollar estate on Mission Avenue requires an impact report. (Though the commission has rejected Schaal's proposal to develop the historic site, Schaal has appealed the decision to the city council. The council will consider the appeal at 8 p.m. Monday.)

The commission also declared that proposed development of Peacock Gap Unit 5 will require an environmental impact report, Mrs. Vincent said.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Reviewed the final proposed redevelopment plan and recommended its adoption by the city council and the redevelopment agency.

PEACOCK GAP — Continued for 30 days consideration of a tentative map for a 170-lot subdivision at Peacock Gap Unit 5.

BUNGALOW — Approved Allan Hock's proposal to use a circular driveway in front of 279 Bungalow Avenue for required off-street parking.

SPRING GROVE — Approved Paul J. Felton's moratorium use permit request to construct a single-family residence on a 65-acre parcel at 209 Spring Grove Avenue.

DUBOIS STREET — Approved for one year a permit allowing a recreational vehicle storage area at 580 DuBois Street as requested by McPhail, Inc.

AUTO REPAIR — Approved a proposal by Donald Giles for an auto repair shop at 111 Verdi Street.

GOLDEN GATE — Granted environmental and design review approval to a food processing plant building at 40 Golden Gate Drive.

CARPORTS — Granted environmental and design review approval for a carport area at the Porto Bello condominium development on Porto Bello Drive.

OFFICE — Granted environmental and design review approval for a proposed three-story office building at 1103 Irwin Street. Representatives for owner First American Title Co. of Marin said 18 on-site parking places will be provided.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14.

Strike By Coast Ship Officers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Masters, mates and pilots of American flag ships on the West Coast and Hawaii went on strike today after talks with shippers over a new labor contract broke down.

The Masters, Mates and Pilots Union, representing 10,000 officers, said it set up picket lines at major West Coast ports and in Hawaii.

The union said it broke off talks at midnight Tuesday and the strike began at 6 a.m.

A Pacific Maritime Association spokesman refused to discuss the issue but said he knew of one ship in San Francisco that was being picketed. Word was awaited from other ports to determine the extent of the strike, the spokesman said.

The strike affects movement of all American flag ships and tugs in West Coast and Hawaii ports.

"We will strike them on the East Coast, too, if they go in there," a union spokesman said.

The walkout by deck officers came less than nine months after the end of a 135-day strike by West Coast longshoremen, the longest in U.S. maritime history.

The federal mediation service scheduled an early meeting in Washington, D.C., in an effort to get a settlement.

The union said that no foreign vessels would be affected by the strike.

But, a spokesman said, "We'll stay out as long as necessary."

The strike was called after 4 1-2 months of talks between the union and shippers over wages, hours and conditions.

The major issue, the union spokesman said, was "equalization of employment," or the retention of junior officers in jobs who otherwise might be laid off as a result of automation in the industry.

The spokesman said wage demands were in line with federal guidelines.

The Pacific Maritime Association, representing the shippers, had wanted to reduce their contribution to the pension scheme by $5.65 to pay for the equalization scheme, the spokesman said.

"It's the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of," he said.

Coast Guard Finds Body

The body of Jane Lowry Burton of Kentfield, wife of a building contractor, Neil T. Burton, was recovered by the Coast Guard yesterday five miles west of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Relatives of the 39-year-old descendant of California pioneers identified the body.

Mrs. Burton is believed to have jumped to her death Monday from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. A note was found on the front seat of Mrs. Burton's station wagon, parked in westbound lanes.

Bail Mixup Leads To Club Brawl

A battle between 10 policemen and Tommy Lee Walker, 27, of San Rafael, which ended when Walker was maced and jailed Friday turned out yesterday to have been caused by a bail misunderstanding.

Walker — indicted last Wednesday by the Marin County Grand Jury on two felony assault counts — was cornered in an office of the Lion's Share night club in San Anselmo about 11 p.m. by San Anselmo and San Rafael police and sheriff's deputies — all reportedly wearing bullet-proof vests.

The muscular Walker responded by tearing off his shirt, crouching in a fighter's stance and cursing and lunging at officers, according to San Anselmo police.

The tense scene was staged to make Walker post a higher bail than was required in municipal court, something it turned out he didn't have to do when Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court received all the bail facts Sunday.

Walker, an ex-convict who has spent most of the past 10 years behind bars, had been free on $2,000 bail he had posted in connection with the charges in municipal court.

Following the indictment last Wednesday on the same charges plus a listing of Walker's prior convictions, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales persuaded Judge Broderick to increase the bail to $10,000.

A warrant of arrest was then issued and Walker was picked up after being reported to be in the San Anselmo club.

Broderick, however, convinced by Deputy Public Defender Edward Briggs that the original $2,000 bail had been set after a full hearing in municipal court, returned it to the lower figure Sunday, and Walker was released from jail again.

Bales said he sought an indictment on charges Walker assaulted a Sausalito policemen and another man Sept. 29 because a preliminary hearing in municipal court had been delayed and because Walker has a "background of assaultive behavior that is real strong."

Auto Parts Stolen

Automobile parts and tools valued at $500 were taken Sunday or Monday from Annex British Motors, 523 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, by a thief who smashed through a fan unit, police reported today.

dividing Larkspur and San Rafael would be kept as open space.

In answer to Arthur Sestak from the audience, Van Pelt said he thought some of the quarry cliffs could be graded for building, but the 150 foot high vertical cliffs would obviously not be buildable.

Leon Persson, president of the Larkspur School District board, complained that residential construction on the peninsula would bring another school system, San Rafael's, into the Larkspur-Corte Madera area, and reminded commissioners of the trouble Corte Madera is experiencing over Mill Valley School District's refusal to build a school specially for students from Corte Madera's proposed Madera del Presidio development.

Van Pelt said he had been assured San Rafael schools would be happy to take children from the peninsula because they are experiencing a drop in enrollment. He confessed that both the Larkspur and Kentfield school districts had refused to consider annexing the peninsula area.

Persson asked if Van Pelt had anything in writing from the San Rafael schools administration, as the children would have to be bussed.

"Not in writing, I discussed it with them verbally," said Van Pelt. "But they're legally obliged, it's within their district they would have to do it."

Edna Jeffrey spoke in favor of the proposed plan, saying it would be a great asset to the county and to Larkspur. "You're most fortunate to have one large property owner that will have control over the whole development instead of piecemeal," she said.

John J. Ford III, attorney for T. I. Properties, major land holders on the peninsula, said T. I. plans "to create a showcase to complement the ferry terminal."

Said Ford, "We ask the City of Larkspur to tell us what you want."

He said T. I. Properties would accept C-1 zoning for the commercial development, rather than the C-2 recommended by Dan Coleman and Associates, C-1 requiring setback, not required under C-2. T. I. would also build the apartments under an "R-3 with open space" designation. "We have environmentally sensitive builders ready to do the job," said Ford.

Charles A. Brousse, chairman of the Larkspur Town Meeting, said T. I. Properties deserved an answer. "But in order to give them a sound planning answer we have to know what are the ordinances."

The commissioners and Larkspur's planning director, Arthur Stout, discussed at great length whether the town's zoning ordinances ought to be revised before or after the general plan is adopted, but reached no conclusion.

Brousse also attacked Coleman's plan as defective, saying its process was incomplete. There had been no economic or traffic studies, he said, no report from the county planning department, no concurrence from the sanitary district and school districts, and no consultation with citizens.

Norman T. Gilroy, Sausalito architect and T. I. Properties' planning consultant, said all the development concepts had followed the city's development policy. "We are looking to do something which is sensitive to the desires of the city," he said.

Warren Patton complained from the audience that he had only Coleman's plan to look at. "I don't have any alternative," he said. "I've no basic foundation to make a choice."

Edith De Witt, secretary of the Greenbrae Improvement Club, said the plan was based on people as consumers, not on "how they are human beings alive and living. This is a developers' plan, powerful — what is the population and budget of Larkspur compared to these people?"

Commissioners attempted to draw from attorney Ford just who intends to build on the peninsula, but were unsuccessful.

Ford said T. I. Properties wouldn't do the construction, but would retain control through planned unit development. He said "an environmentally sensitive" nationally known firm of builders wanted to build all the apartments and build the offices, but refused to disclose the name.

"A national company wants to consolidate divisions and move there, a 30-minute ride to San Francisco, and use Larkspur's white collar work force." He said he couldn't say which firm, but "it's an office type of operation."

Similarly, he said "an international motel" was committed to the site, plus "a major recreational use."

Without guidelines from the city, he said, none of the deals could be closed.

Newlywed Ex-Convict Jailed Again

A 36-year-old former convict who was married last week was sentenced yesterday to one to five years in prison for felony hit and run driving.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court, who on Friday married William Marion Lawson and Maria Mateo, 36, of San Francisco, ordered Lawson back to prison.

Gardiner said he appeared to have been involved in two deliberate attempts to run down women in Mill Valley.

Lawson was convicted last month of one count of hitting pedestrians in Mill Valley in June, but a jury cleared him of a second count.

Lawson was arrested June 27 by the California Highway Patrol. He was on parole from state prison where he spent from February 1967 until December 1971 for second degree murder.

His sentencing had been delayed a week so he could marry before going back to prison.

easing of U.S. bombing in Vietnam.

"It does not do any good for military or civilian authorities to discuss those operational authorities in advance," Laird said. "It could jeopardize the safety of the pilots who are now flying." (Related story, page 2.)

UPI reporter Matt Franjola, reporting from the Central Highlands city of Pleiku 280 miles north of Saigon, said soldiers there were excited by Thieu's speech.

"The president said there is soon going to be peace," one soldier said. "Maybe there will be peace before the (presidential) elections in the United States." And the Saigon newspaper Tin Song (Live News) which often reflects Thieu's views carried a headline today: "Cease-Fire May Come Soon." There were other related developments:

—Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Prime Minister of Laos, was flying to the United States today to confer with Secretary of State William P. Rogers on the latest Indochina peace moves. His government has been engaging in inconclusive peace talks in Vientiane with the Communist Pathet Lao.

—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian ruler who heads a government-in-exile in Peking, issued a statement today via Peking Radio condemning present plans for a cease-fire in Indochina. His forces have been fighting to overthrow President Lon Nol's government.

affected and let them know they are going to be clobbered . . . " Roumiguiere said.

"It's another spike to take away the property owner's rights," agreed Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "It's another zoning tool against people who want to use their land."

Baar's comments brought a sharp reaction from Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste who countered that unrestricted growth within flood plains was too costly to permit to continue.

He drew support from chairman Peter R. Arrigoni who pointed to the Army Corps of Engineers' concrete channel in Corte Madera Creek as a multi-million dollar project caused by development on flood plains.

Baar later sided with the majority after winning a "statement of intention" from the board that the new ordinance would not restrict property owners until flood plains have been surveyed and mapped and public hearings held on rezoning.

The Novato Creek flood plain, already studied by the public works department, will be the first to undergo rezoning.

Mailliard Will Speak Tomorrow

Rep. William S. Mailliard, Republican incumbent in the Sixth District running for re-election on the November ballot, will speak at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM 'Sounding Board' program.

Questions may be phoned into the broadcast, according to moderator Kitty Oppenheimer.

The program will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

On Nov. 2 pros and cons of Proposition 14 (the Watson Initiative) will be discussed on Sounding Board.

The San Anselmo School District board will hear newly elected student body presidents present their winning platforms when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Red Hill School library.

The presentation is part of the board's new policy allowing student representation at board meetings, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

The board will also consider a policy regarding student travel to field trips, discuss an employee insurance program and consider a request by three district employees to attend an educational conference in San Jose Nov. 9 and 10.

OBITUARIES

Eben Baty, 75, Father Of Marin Judge, Dies

EBEN NEAL BATY
Banker-lobbyist-author

Eben Neal Baty, retired banker-lobbyist-author and father of Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court, died today after an illness of about two months.

Baty, 75, had been hospitalized for some weeks until he was brought home yesterday. He was found dead in his bed in the early morning at his home on Paradise Cove on the Tiburon Peninsula.

Baty was born in What Cheer, Iowa. His career was in the Chicago area, where he was vice president and legislative advocate for Household Finance Corp.

He retired at the age of 45, however, and came to California in 1942, living first in Palos Verdes. The family moved to Marin in 1946.

He and his wife took a trip around the world in 1958 which resulted in a book called "Citizen Abroad," published in 1960. The book was an attempt to arouse Americans from what Baty called "that false security today threatening America almost more than thermonuclear weapons."

He said he thought the country had slumbered through the "frittering 50s" and was "iniquitously satisfied with mediocrity, all the way from the schoolhouse to the White House."

In the book he described how foreigners had come to hate Americans for their smugness along with "our U2 fiasco and other tragic mistakes. . "

Baty once told a reporter that with his background of banking and an income derived from corporate investments, he could have become an "ultraconservative, somewhat to the right of the National Association of Manufacturers and the DAR, if that were possible."

Instead, he said he regarded "most highly the American Civil Liberties Union, the League of Women Voters, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Quakers . . . and many other similar organizations."

In 1961, while on another trip, Baty and his wife were aboard a Portugese liner which was hijacked for 12 days by a band of Portuguese rebels.

In addition to his wife, Emma, I. Baty of the family home, and his son, the judge, who lives in Point Reyes, Baty is survived by another son, Jackson N. Baty of Osage, Iowa; a daughter, Mrs. Howard (Mary) Gossage of San Francisco; a brother, Ross Baty of Monticello, Iowa, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral will be private.

prove they are unqiue like fingerprints.

Since that time, Smith said, extensive study has been done and scientific voice identifications have recently been admitted into evidence in Los Angeles and Sacramento. The supreme court has yet to reconsider its 1968 ruling, he said.

Testifying yesterday during the eight-hour hearing were two experts in the field flown in from Michigan.

Dr. Oscar Tosi, a professor of audiology at Michigan State University, said he had studied 350,000 voiceprints over four years with a $300,000 federal grant before concluding each voice makes a unique pattern when recorded.

A pupil, Lt. Ernest Nash of the Michigan State Police, selected Chapter's voice as the one which made the threat to the telephone company Feb. 1.

Chapter was charged Sept. 29 after a seven-month investigation of the threat called in to a recorder that takes messages from 18 installers.

Tapes of the voices of each installer were then compared with the recording of the threat for similarities, San Rafael police said.

Power Outage In S. Marin

A broad area of Southern Marin was without power for up to 37 minutes yesterday when equipment failed in the Alto Substation of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in Mill Valley.

About 5,000 customers were affected.

The failure, at 4:38 p.m., knocked out power in Mill Valley, portions of Bolinas and Stinson Beach and on Mount Tamalpais for up to 30 minutes. Tiburon and Belvedere, also affected, had power restored by 5:15 p.m.

Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today declared Arizona a major disaster area because of flooding caused by heavy rains in a two-county area in the southeastern part of the state.

MARIE LAW

Private funeral for Marie Law, 89, longtime Petaluma resident, was held today in Petaluma.

Mrs. Law died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness. She was a native Californian and wife of the late Everett Law.

Mrs. Law had formerly lived at 221 Keokuk Street and was a Petaluma resident for 26 years.

She is survived by her son, Roland Law of San Rafael.

CHARLES TRAVERSI

Charles Joseph Traversi, 69, retired Petaluma salesman, died yesterday at a local hospital after collapsing at his home from an apparent heart attack.

Traversi was born in Olema and was a lifelong Petaluma resident. He and his wife of 41 years, Josephine, lived at 509 Walnut Street.

Novato Defers Action On Apartment Complexes

The Novato City Council wrestled last night with the problem of precise development plans for two apartment complexes and then postponed any action on them until after its meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The council tomorrow is to consider which projects now before the city in various stages of planning need an environmental impact study.

Councilmen first considered the Rowland Boulevard development of 32 units on 2.3 acres for International Concrete Systems Consultants Inc. Ray Minolati, representing the firm, claimed the firm had vested rights because it has already spent $135,000 on the project. City Atty. Clark M. Palmer said the firm did not have such rights.

The council also postponed consideration of the Cow Barn apartments of 90 units on five acres on South Novato Boulevard, planned by Belvedere City Councilman Allan Steinau.

The Novato City Council also:

BIDS — Rejected three bids for 10 cars for the police department and authorized staff to negotiate with the bidders on alternates to the bid. Councilmen Fred F. Ruegg and Dorothy Young said Ford dealers had complained that the specifications were so drawn that they could not bid. Bids were received on Plymouths, Dodges and Chevrolets.

WALKWAY — Received a letter from Mrs. Richard Carter of 87 Vivian Court asking that the city install drainage pipe and a walkway along Vineyard Road for children walking to and from school. The council ordered staff to come up with suggested plans and plans for financing it at the Nov. 7 meeting.

REZONING — Introduced an ordinance rezoning from single-family to planned-residential a lot at 1639 Novato Boulevard for Frank T. Perachiotti.

HUMAN NEEDS — Adopted a resolution that the city formally recognizes the Novato Human Needs Center Inc., a nonprofit agency to be financed by private funds.

SUBDIVISIONS — Accepted Bahia Unit 2 as complete but referred to the city attorney for his opinion on the legal steps necessary to transfer ownership of an approved subdivision of St. Francis Heights Unit 5 by Zehorenko Construction Co.

STOP SIGN — Approved placing a stop sign on Clausing Avenue at Lamont Avenue.

COMMISSION CHANGES — Heard that the planning commission accepted the resignation of Beverly Ehreth from the city-county planning committee and named Gail Wilhelm to replace her, with Richard L. O'Connell as alternate.

NAME — Scheduled 8 p.m. Nov. 21 for a public hearing on changing the name of a portion of San Jose Boulevard near San Jose School to Ignacio Boulevard.

CHALLENGE — Challenged Novato Unified School District trustees to a swimming contest, the time and place to be set later. The total laps completed by the loser shall be paid for at the rate of seven cents for the school board and five cents per councilman. The funds will go to the committee working for the passage of the $500,000 bond issue on the Nov. 7 ballot.

NOMINATIONS — Received a letter from Gov. Ronald Reagan asking for nominations for persons under 19 years of age who have performed outstanding deeds of bravery and service. These will be screened and sent on to the national contest.

LEAGUE — Heard a discussion between Councilmen George C. Quesada, Mrs. Young and Ruegg on the merits of the League of California Cities convention last week in Anaheim. Quesada said he had hours of tapes he wanted the council to listen to. Young and Ruegg believed there was "99 per cent chaff to 1 per cent grain" in all the meetings they attended. Ruegg doubted if Novato was getting its money's worth since the league had raised its dues from $1,500 to $2,300 per year.

CLAIM — Referred to the city's insurance carrier a claim from Tami Atkins through her guardian, Ronney Brasseur, of 65 Juanita Court, Novato, for $20,000 damages for injuries supposedly sustained on play equipment at Pioneer Memorial Park Aug. 15.

MEETINGS — Agreed to holding weekly meetings in November to see if the council could get through the agenda in less time.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato Community House and agreed to meet again at 9 a.m. Saturday to interview candidates for a position on the planning commission. The city is still accepting applications for that position.

Facelift For Death Row

By JEFF GREER

San Quentin's infamous Death Row No. 1 was a noisy place yesterday — far more clamorous than the days when it held men waiting to be executed.

Death Row has had no tenants for more than a month now. A Supreme Court ruling at least temporarily knocked out California's death penalty and the state Department of Corrections ordered all Death Row inmates moved to other parts of the prison system.

San Quentin officials are taking the opportunity to give the old cells on the top of the North Wing a facelift — the row's first major refurbishing since it was built in the 1930s.

The sputtering roar of welders' torches and the clang of heavy pipes being replaced echoed through the cellblocks. Convict crews are doing the work.

The triple cage arrangement in which Sirhan B. Sirhan was housed attracted the most attention. When Sirhan arrived in San Quentin after being convicted of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, he was kept separate from the rest of Death Row's inmates for fear someone would kill him. He slept in Cell 33, flanked by empty cells on each side, and separated from the rest of the row by two special metal mesh fences.

Although Caryl Chessman lived longer on Death Row than any other condemned man, neither Park nor any of the guards could remember which cell or cells he occupied for 12 years. He fought long but unsuccessfully in the courts to avoid the gas chamber, but went to his death on May 2, 1960.

When first opened, Death Row No. 1 had only 34 cells. Twenty-eight matching cells on the opposite side of the block were used for short-term isolation of tough prisoners. Six "quiet cells" were provided for extreme discipline cases. All cells are four feet wide, 11 feet deep and seven feet high.

During the years, the number of condemned men rose to a peak of 104 late in 1970, and Death Row Nos. 2 and 3 were opened on the upper floors of San Quentin's adjustment center.

RENOVATION — A prisoner works with welding equipment to prepare San Quentin's Death Row for a new role, detention of inmates who violate prison rules. It is the row's first major facelift since its establishment some 40 years ago. (Independent-Journal photo)

Lt. Henry A. Tabash, officer in charge of the adjustment center, said Death Row No. 1 would be used again after its refurbishing to house convicts, segregated for short-term punishment after breaking prison rules.

Convict workmen are ripping out the bunks' steel springs to replace them with solid sheet-steel platforms upon which a mattress will be placed.

"That will prevent the inmates making knives out of the springs," Tabash explained. The six "silent cells" also will be used again. Their heavy steel doors completely cut off occupants from even hearing their neighbors.

The special screening put up to protect Sirhan from his fellow inmates also will remain. A nearby platform, topped by a chair from which guards kept a 24-hour watch on his cell, still is in place but probably will be removed, guards said.

Death Row inmates had a few amenities lacking in other cell blocks, including one television set for each three cells. Those have been removed from the shelves high on the barred catwalks facing the cell doors.

The old cast iron toilets and washbasins which inmates could "smash to smithereens" are being replaced with unbreakable stainless steel units, Tabash said.

New steam heating pipes and hot water lines are being installed; the two small shower rooms have been replastered and are being repainted.

The refurbishing project will last through November, Tabash said.

Should California voters reinstate the death penalty by approving Proposition 17 on the Nov. 7 ballot, Death Row will be returned to its old use, holding dozens of men awaiting dates with the nearby apple green gas chamber.

Close Nixon Aide Linked To Secret Security Fund

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The former treasurer of President Nixon's re-election campaign has told a grand jury that H.R. Haldeman, a chief White House aide, was authorized to approve payments from a secret cash fund used for political security operations, the Washington Post said today.

The Post said that Haldeman along with four other presidential associates were named by Hugh W. Sloan Jr., who formerly managed Nixon's reelection campaign finances, before the grand jury which conducted the investigation of the Watergate bugging case.

The grand jury indicted seven men as the result of the investigation of the June 17 break-in and bugging attempt at the Democratic National headquarters in the Watergate complex.

Haldeman, when informed by the Post of its findings Tuesday, issued a statement through the White House press office saying: "Your inquiry is based on misinformation because the reference to Bob Haldeman is untrue."

There was no further elaboration.

Haldeman, who will be 47 Friday, is considered one of Nixon's three closest aides. The other two are Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and John Ehrlichman, responsible for domestic affairs. Haldeman is chief of Nixon's White House executive staff.

The Post said Haldeman had been identified to the grand jury by Sloan as a fund controller along with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Nixon's former campaign manager; former Commerce Secretary Maurice C. Stans, the finance director of the Nixon campaign; Jeb Stuart Magruder, deputy director of Nixon's campaign, and Herbert W. Kalmbach, the President's personal attorney.

According to the Post, unidentified federal investigators independently confirmed that the five men controlled the fund which at times totaled $700,000.

The fund was uncovered during the FBI's probe of the Watergate case. It was allegedly used to finance political spying activities against Democratic candidates.

Two of Sen. George McGovern's top aides, campaign director Gary Hart and political director Frank Mankiewicz, said Tuesday that McGovern is slicing into Nixon's lead in the polls because the issue of alleged corruption is "getting around the country and sinking in."

Waldheim: U.N. Blunted World War

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said Tuesday night the United Nations had in its 27-year history "provided a channel between East and West during the worst periods of the Cold War," thus preventing another world war.

Waldheim told the U.N. 27th anniversary commemoration: "Twenty-seven years ago, the world's first global peace treaty —the charter of the United Nations—came into effect. And yet not a day has passed since then without unnecessary conflict somewhere on this earth.

"Can one therefore wonder at the discouragement of the people?" Waldheim asked. "Older generations say, 'It has always been that way, man will never change.' Youth, for its part, tends to be bitter and cynical. However, we must not forget that 27 years have passed without another world war. And the United Nations has certainly been a key factor in maintaining peace.

"It has kept many crises from turning into conflicts. It has provided a channel between East and West during the worst periods of the Cold War. It has helped a billion people gain their independence. It has awakened the conscience of humanity to the great injustices of our time—hunger, poverty, racism and discrimination, the violation of the individual's human rights," the secrtary general said.

"'Yes,' you will say, 'this is all very good and true. But look at the unhealed and intolerable wounds which subsist—the war in Southeast Asia, the crisis in the Middle East, Cyprus, Korea and the situation in Southern Africa, racism, colonialism, the poor getting poorer and the rich richer.'

"Well, I agree with you. It is intolerable and all those who share responsibility in this state of affairs should pause for a moment on this day and search their conscience," Waldheim said. "The world just cannot be at rest until the last conflict has been solved and major injustices corrected."

National Yule Tree From Wyoming

WASHINGTON (UPI) —This year's national Christmas tree will come from the Medicine Bow National Forest in southeastern Wyoming, the U.S. Forest Service announced today.

The tree, which will be the central feature of the annual Pageant of Peace exhibit on the Ellipse, just behind the White House, hasn't been selected yet. But officials said they would supply a 65-70 foot Engelmann spruce to Wyoming state officials who were selected by pageant arrangers to provide the 1972 tree.

Ex-GI Will Get Capitol Staff Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As President Nixon was greeting veterans invited to watch the President sign legislation increasing veteran's educational benefits, Larry Kirk, Aurora, Colo., spoke up saying he had applied for the fellowship program which provides temporary White House staff jobs for young people.

"You want to be a White House fellow, really?' Nixon asked. When Kirk, a Vietnam veteran, said that he did, Nixon hired him on the spot saying "it's arranged."

REDEVELOPMENT

San Rafael's Proposal To 'Save The Downtown'

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
(Last of three articles)

To "save the downtown" and improve San Rafael's economic and transportation situation, the San Rafael City Council (as the city's redevelopment agency) proposes to "freeze" 20 to 31 per cent of the city's assessed valuation as far as other taxing agencies are concerned.

This is the nub of the redevelopment plan which will have its only legally required public hearing at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the city hall.

This is how it would work:

For taxes going to county, city general fund, school districts and special districts, all property within the redevelopment area would remain at its current assessed valuation.

All taxes from any increase in that valuation would go to the redevelopment agency, to be used for public projects designed to rehabilitate the area and for purchase of properties within it which could then be divided or combined for resale — with the resale money also going into the redevelopment coffers.

Estimates differ on the percentage of the city's total assessed valuation that would fall within this restriction. Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, who should know best, says it is approximately $50 million — or 31 per cent of the total valuation. William J. Bielser, assistant city manager and redevelopment director, contends it is only about $33 million — or 20 per cent.

Taking Broemmel's figure, here is what would happen to the San Rafael school system, for example:

Current total assessed valuation of the San Rafael Elementary School District is $146,780,-973. All of the redevelopment area is within the district, so slightly more than one-third of the elementary school district would be affected. Thus the elementary schools would get additional revenue from increases in assessed valuation in only two-thirds of the district.

Current total assessed valuation of the San Rafael High School District is $221,293,400. Slightly less than a quarter of the high school district's valuation is within the redevelopment area, so it would receive additional revenue from increases in valuation in more than three-quarters of the district.

Supt. John F. Plank of the city schools has claimed that the two districts stand to lose a total of $91,000 the first year under the redevelopment program. This would represent the expected increase in valuation in the redevelopment area taxed at $5.75 per $100 assessed valuation — the total rate for elementary and high school districts.

This estimate checks fairly closely with the predicted increase in valuation based on the average for the last three years as computed by the county assessor.

The school districts would not really lose $91,000 — but they would get $91,000 less than they could expect without the redevelopment "tax freeze." The board of education thus would face a choice of either (a) holding down the increase in spending in the two districts by that amount, or (b) raising the tax rate. If it did the latter, taxpayers outside the redevelopment area would be paying higher taxes because of redevelopment.

The same principle would apply to the city itself: Unless it held down the increase in spending, it would have to raise the tax rate (now 94 cents), thus in effect making residents outside the redevelopment area pay extra for the program.

It would apply, to lesser extent, to the county — the impact being smaller because the redevelopment area represents a much smaller portion of the county's total assessed valuation.

Redevelopment advocates contend that these figures mislead.

County Assessor Broemmel has reported that industrial-commercial property in downtown San Rafael increased in assessed value by only 3 per cent a year for the last three years — well below the inflation rate. This means that commercial-industrial is producing a steadily lessening percentage of the total tax requirements of the city and school districts, so that other property (virtually all outside the redevelopment area) must pay more.

Bielser believes that the redevelopment program would reverse this. An initial loss in expected revenue increase would be more than compensated by the eventual gain from stimulation of building and trade, he contends.

A difficulty is that, under the California Redevelopment Act, the city could keep these increases funneled to redevelopment for up to 45 years. The law does not require it to do so. The city council could provide that a portion of the increase to meet expected inflation could be redistributed to the schools or other agencies.

A Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Small Business Administration has declared the San Mateo County in California a disaster area because of damage to homes and businesses by flooding and mudslides resulting from heavy rains early this month.

TRICYCLE TEST AT DRAKE HIGH SCHOOL

Right Hand Giveth, The Left Taketh Away—Stiff Unit Fee

By JAY GOODWIN

Bearing gifts in one hand and taking them away with the other, the Tiburon City Council last night approved the conversion of the Harbor Hill and El Marinero apartments to condominiums, then slapped the applicants with unexpectedly high subdivision fees.

The council followed its decision by imposing a moratorium on future conversion applications until it can update its housing element, zoning ordinance and subdivision ordinance to deal with such conversions.

The council's action permits the owners of the two apartment complexes to sell units individually as privately-owned homes. At the time of their conversion, however, the owners of each subdivision must pay the city about $100,000 in recreation fees.

Tiburon's subdivision ordinance requires that all developers either dedicate recreation land or pay fees to compensate for the burden that their new residents will place on municipal services.

Employing a complicated formula in the city's subdivision ordinance, the council decided that the appropriate in fees are $95,681 for Harbor Hill and $101,930 for El Marinero.

Harry Miller, attorney for the owners of Harbor Hill, objected to the fee, labeling it "so unbelievable that it's difficult to discuss."

He argued that conversion of the apartments to condominiums would not place any additional strain on city services and, thus, the owners should not be required to pay recreation fees.

Foreshadowing a possible law suit, Miller told the council, "If you are going to impose a park dedication fee, I think it would be illegal to impose a fee that would be so high as to confiscate private property."

The city staff had previously estimated the appropriate fees at approximately $20,000 for both proposed conversions.

After the council approved the conversion, Miller told the Independent-Journal that he will advise his clients to sue the city.

The council chamber was over- flowing with residents of the two apartment complexes, predominantly opposing conversion. As in the past, the tenants said they had not been informed of the proposed conversion and that such a move would force them out of their apartments onto the housing market.

With little discussion, the council agreed that the proposed conversion would have a trival impact on the environment and, thus, would not require impact studies.

In four identical votes, the council approved the tentative and final subdivision maps for the conversion of the 54-unit Harbor Hill and the 48-unit El Marinero. Each vote was 4-1, with Councilman Albert Aramburu dissenting.

Immediately after it approved the conversions, the council imposed a moratorium on future conversion.

The pending condominium projects — the 46-unit Marinero Heights development presently under construction and an eight-unit conversion on 2 Lyford Drive — were exempted from the council's moratorium.

No application for conversion will be processed by the city until the zoning and subdivision ordinances can be rewritten.

A motion by Councilman Allan N. Littman to set a six-month time limit on the moratorium died for lack of a second. The council then adopted the moratorium by a 4-1 vote, with Littman casting the lone negative vote.

Julie Concedes She Likes Job

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower, touring a hospital facility here Tuesday, conceded to newsmen she is one of her father's surrogate candidates.

"I guess I'm a surrogate candidate in that I represent him at quite a few events," she said. "I welcome the opportunity to talk about him and his programs."

Mrs. Eisenhower, visiting the emergency treatment facility at the Santa Monica Hospital Medical Center, said she knew nothing to substantiate rumors of a Vietnam peace settlement. "There are so many factors involved," she said. "I wouldn't want to hope for an immediate solution."

New Color For Tiburon Patrol Cars

The city council last night accepted Police Chief Maurice D. Lafferty's suggestion and decided to repaint the patrol cars solid white.

Lafferty told the council that all-white cars would be safer and more easily recognized than the department's two-tone cars.

The repainted units will also lose the painted stars which currently adorn the doors. Since the stars are no longer worn by Tiburon's police officers, said Lafferty, it would be more appropriate for the cars to display the force's new insignia.

Those insignias — which will soon be sewn onto the shoulders of the police uniforms — depict two snarling sharks swimming head to tail around a sailing ship.

The Tiburon City Council also:

COASTLINE — Endorsed Proposition 20, the coastline initiative, by a 4-1 vote, with councilman Allan N. Littman renewing previously stated objections that the measure is poorly written and that it would include almost all of Tiburon within its planning jurisdiction.

REDEVELOPMENT — Adopted an ordinance which declares the need for a redevelopment agency and agreed to discuss the boundaries of the proposed survey area in one month.

LAW SUIT — Denied and referred to the city attorney a claim against the city by Alfred and Loretta Birich, of 1800 Centro West Street, which accuses the city of depriving them of their property rights in an easement access across "Lower Racoon Lane."

Cotton Factor Has An Aluminum Cover

MOSCOW (UPI)—Engineers in Bukhara, Soviet Central Asia, have covered the roof of the local cotton factory with 10.8 acres of aluminum foil, the Tass news agency said.

The mirror-like surface is intended to protect the workshops from heat by reflecting away 40 per cent of the sun's heat radiation. The cotton factory is one of the largest in the Soviet Union, Tass said.

Mailliard, Boas Discuss Issues At Marin Session

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin's congressman yesterday dropped his strict neutrality on the controversial proposal for joint civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base, reciting the major arguments in its favor.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, insisted that he still would take no position on the proposal unless the county board of supervisors does so first. If they favor it, then he will push the military for joint use, he said.

Mailliard's recital of favorable arguments was in marked contrast to the strong opposition of his Democratic challenger in the November election, San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, who has long opposed joint use, saying he would favor it only if it had support from Novato citizens.

The issue arose yesterday when both candidates spoke at a Peacock Gap Country Club lunch held by the women's auxiliary of the Marin Medical Society.

Mailliard, asked by a member of the audience of about 50 persons to comment on the joint use proposal, said the subject has been clouded by "a lot of misinformation and emotion." He said that "only seven to eight jets a day" would use the base in the airline service, a number he termed "relatively few."

The civilian jets would "make a lot less noise" than the military fighters already using the base, he added.

"Nobody is talking about another international airport," Mailliard declared.

Boas, citing his own long-standing opposition to the joint use proposal, said that a public figure "has to lead, has to take chances."

(The county supervisors still have not taken a position on the proposal, and early this month tabled indefinitely an environmental impact study on joint use. It would cost up to $55,000 and take up to eight months to complete, according to county staff.)

Mailliard and Boas also discussed health care problems, opening congressional district offices, and legalizing the possession of marijuana. Both favored some system of national health insurance and legalizing the possession but not sale, of marijuana as proposed in Proposition 19 on the November ballot.

Boas, citing health care as the third biggest cost to taxpayers after education and welfare, noted that it was inflating at the rate of 12 per cent a year, or twice the general rate of inflation. This hits especially hard at old people, he said, adding that in Marin more than 30,000 people are over 60 and 18,000 are over 65.

Boas said Medicare "has failed" because it pays only some 50 per cent of a patient's medical costs. He assured his audience that he was "not talking about your husband's fees."

Inflation has been primarily in hospital costs, he said.

Mailliard predicted the start of national health insurance within two years, but cautioned it must be planned carefully to avoid the "administrative chaos" that has plagued Medicare.

The new federal revenue sharing with local government, Mailliard said, should improve local health programs. He warned that turning to the federal government for solution to all problems inevitably will make government "totally unmanageable."

Mailliard, responding to criticism by Boas for not having an office in Marin, said it was "far more efficient" to have one well-staffed office in the Federal Building in San Francisco with direct access to federal agencies and the federal telephone switchboard.

Mailliard, terming his role in passage this month of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area as his proudest achievement in 20 years in Congress, said "only an old hand could have done it; someone new could not have done it."

AMA Presented Doll For Study Of Acupuncture

CHICAGO (UPI) — Twelve Chinese doctors touring the United States gave the American Medical Association Tuesday a two-foot-high doll with which to study acupuncture. The doll came complete with charts and needles.

The delegation, on a threeweek tour of the United States, visited the Museum of Science and Industry, the University of Chicago and the headquarters of the 200,000-member AMA.

Dr. William Barclay, assistant executive director of the AMA, promised to mail each of the doctors copies of the AMA's major publication—the Journal of American Medical Association—"in hopes they will provide a better understanding between us about medicine and science."

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Political Asylum Granted Activist

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Student leader Miguel Castro Bustos was given political asylum in the Panamanian embassy here Tuesday and later left for Panama, a country Bustos said "was fighting against Yankee imperialism."

Bustos, 28, who emulates Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, occupied the 100,000-student National University of Mexico for a month this past summer, forcing university authorities tc open registration for teachers training college graduates. Panama's ambassador to Mexico said Bustos was granted asylum as a person persecuted for political crimes.

Fire Protection Pact For Hospital Ratified

Directors of the Marin Hospital District last night ratified a one-year contract under which the Kentfield Fire Department will provide fire protection to Marin General Hospital for $9,455.

The rate, approved last week by the fire district board, is up from the previous nominal fee of $1 a year and is retroactive to Sept. 1.

The hospital board also voted purchase of a waste compactor from the Blackwelder Co. for $6,762 in partial compliance with recently enacted regulations by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Hospital officials still will be permitted to burn pathological wastes in an incinerator, although changes in that process are pending as well.

Until some months ago, the hospital had burned all wastes in the incinerator, but recently contracted for hauling away of all nonpathological wastes. The new compactor will enable quieter, more efficient disposal, according to hospital administrator Ray K. Bolinger.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

GIFTS — Heard reports on the following gifts: $3,500 to purchase blood pressure monitoring equipment for the intensive care nursery from the North Bay Chapter of the March of Dimes; a Bird respirator with stand and attachments from the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association; a Bird respirator and orthopedic walker from Viola C. Rentz and a $20,000 bequest from Minnie Menges Neimeyer.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with physicians Robert Massad, Lawrence Price and Lawrence Posner to provide employee health services.

STUDENTS — Approved an agreement with the University of California Medical Center, San Francisco, to provide students with clinical experience in coronary care and maternal and child health, part of the hospital teaching program.

CONTRACT — Rejected a proposal by Architectural Productions Inc., engaged in a medical records-radiology remodeling project, for additional payment if the firm's contract exceeds the deadline by 30 days.

CHILDREN — Heard that eligible parents of crippled children will be able to send children to the intensive care nursery at Marin General Hospital as a result of approval of the nursery by the Bureau of Crippled Children Services.

BILLS — Wrote off $10,855 in unpaid hospital bills for July, August and September, or .46 per cent of total hospital revenue for the period of $2.369 million.

CLOSED — Took no action after a closed session called to discuss pending litigation.

WATSON — Discussed but took no action on Proposition 14, the so-called Watson tax shift plan on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Viet 'Terror' Protest Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Six thousand professors and students from 59 law schools have signed a petition condemning "the present policy of terror and destruction in Vietnam" and sent it to President Nixon.

A group of Stanford University law students announced Tuesday that copies of the petition also went to all 535 members of Congress.

They said law deans at Harvard, Yale, Stanford, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Arizona, New Mexico and UCLA are among those who endorsed it.

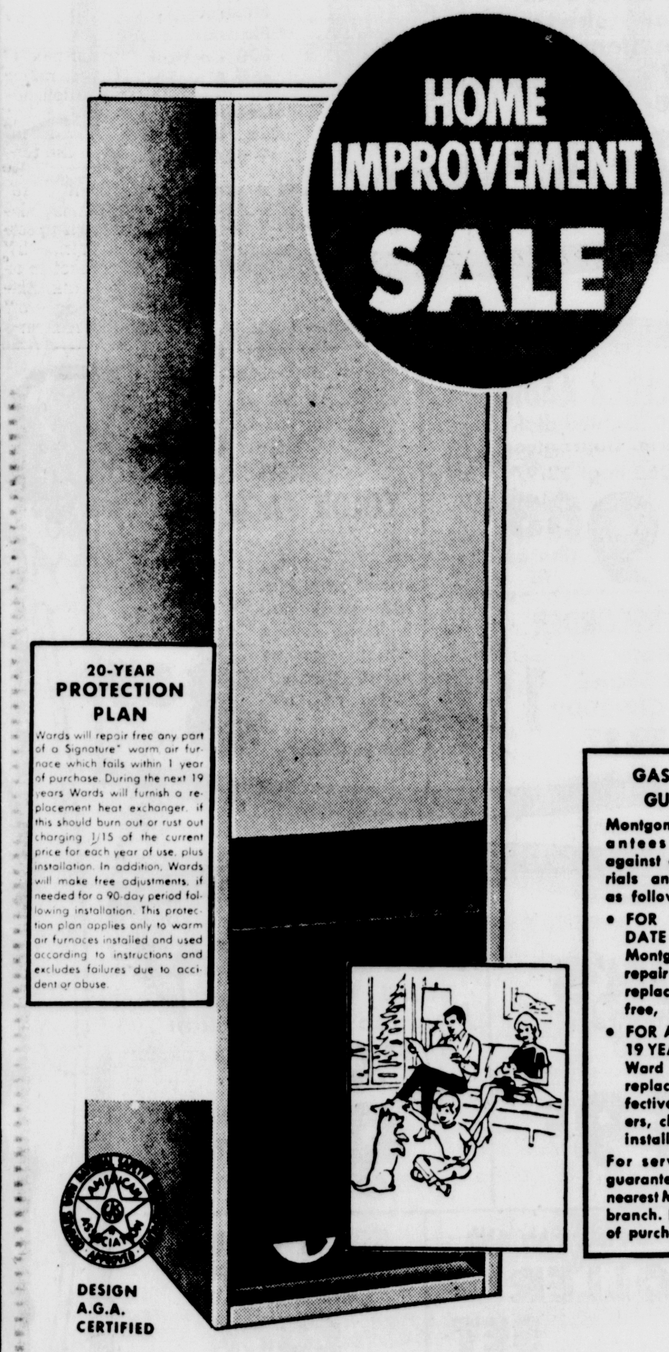

The petition also objected to "the re-escalation of the war in Southeast Asia."

Mailliard To Talk

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, will speak and answer questions at 7:45 p.m., Sunday at a public meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gargiulo, 1506 Buchanan Street, Novato.

Fairfax Again Fails To Reach Any Zoning Stand

The Fairfax Town Council tried last night to tie up loose ends on its long discussed new zoning ordinance, but got bogged down in customary squabbling.

SUCCUMBS — Claire Windsor (shown in a 1966 photo), star of silent movies in which she played flirty flappers in bobbed hair in "jazz age" films, died yesterday of a heart attack in Los Angeles. In her later years, Miss Windsor, 74, turned to painting and her oils were widely exhibited.

(UPI Telephoto)

What turned out to be a divisive evening began harmoniously enough with Councilman E. Ross Parkerson suggesting four pages of specific, apparently acceptable changes in the ordinance.

But visions of unanimity crumbled on the question of zoning a former restaurant site and disintegrated on what to do with the Marin Town and Country Club owned by Max Friedman.

Councilman Lee Nelder, on the short end of each 3-2 vote with Councilman Robert R. Souza, called the vote on the privately owned swimming resort "nothing but playing foolish politics."

Parkerson moved to rezone the 23.5-acre club commercial recreational, but that motion was replaced after a move by Nelder to table it was defeated 3-2.

Councilman Frank J. Egger instead made a successful motion simply to provide in the city code for rezoning performed by town voters in a ballot initiative last April. It passed, 3-2. Nelder again lost 3-2 on a bid to table the motion until the legality of the initiative is determined in court.

Friedman's attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy asked the council without success to leave the land in its present commercial zoning, discuss reasonable alternative uses or pay for the property.

In contrast to McCarthy's calm urging was a bitter outbreak by Eleanor Jean, owner of the three-acre plot which once contained the Buon Gusto restaurant on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Olema Road.

"I'm highway surrounded by commercial and yet you put me limited commercial. It's unfair," she stormed. "All the Johnny-come-latelys are now commercial and I'm sitting up there paying taxes. You're crucifying me and I'm sick of it."

But her tirade fell a vote short of success. Souza moved to place the property in highway commercial in the new zoning ordinance instead of in limited commercial which allows restaurants, but he and Nelder again formed the minority.

Souza called his motion "a matter of equity," but Parkerson answered, "If we willy nilly expand the commercial areas which deflate the importance of the downtown, we are very quickly going to lose the small town atmosphere we have sought to preserve."

Egger said he feared a shopping center with gas station and traffic light would be built if the zoning were highway commercial and voted against Souza's motion. He said he would prefer to see a new regional library on Mrs. Jean's land.

Mayor Albert E. Gately cast the deciding vote. "Let's face it. What happens to this particular piece of property is all important to how this town will develop the rest of the Sir Francis Drake area," he said.

Souza labeled the decision short-sighted.

A recess didn't heal divisions. Antoinnette Ghiringhelli, fiery owner of Deer Park Villa, cursed Egger for his vote and Marina Barberis — one of about 30 spectators — reopened the meeting by blasting Gately for not allowing her to speak.

"If I stand up and raise my hand, you call on me from now on, you hear that," she fumed. "You are still the servant, not the master."

Apparently happier with the limited commercial designation than Mrs. Jean was Harry E. Brogioli, owner of a three-quarter acre parcel on Sir Francis Drake in the Westbrae area.

Originally designated as a single-family site in the new zoning ordinance, the land was changed to the restaurant zoning last night.

Brogioli smilingly said he couldn't sell the land as single-family residential and added he wanted a gas station built there. However, he said he would be happy with any zoning that will allow him to sell.

Next was the Friedman decision, which Parkerson called the "only legitimate and moral action."

Souza, however, feared the land would stand idle and favored multiple residential usage or purchase by the town. "If we are taking property, we should pay for it," he said.

What to do with the Friedman property has been a focal issue in city council hearings on the proposed ordinance which started last December.

The proposed ordinance would include a limited commercial zone primarily for restaurants, a central commercial zone catering to foot traffic and a highway commercial zone including supermarkets, service stations and other car-oriented businesses.

Another proposed classification is the commercial recreational the April voters favored for the Friedman property.

Parkerson proposed last night creating another zone labeled commercial service zone for businesses like Fairfax Lumber and warehouse, storage, wholesale and distribution facilities.

In a departure from earlier votes, the council unanimously included his suggestion.

The council set another zoning hearing for Nov. 21, then adjourned to a regular meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 13.

WORD-A-DAY

Smokeless Evening For Hub Council

Bright red "no smoking" signs sprouted in the San Anselmo City Hall last night, and rubber and plastic baby pacifiers replaced the customary ash trays at three councilmen's seats and the press desk.

Noone would confess authorship of the antinicotine campaign, but Councilman Martin G. Blinder looked smugly happy. In previous meetings, he sometimes waved his arms through clouds of smoke and histrionically gasped for air.

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart said he understood the no-smoking signs were placed by the city's fire officials, but muttered darkly that "somebody must have put them up to it." He and councilmen Kenneth W. Anderson and Woodrow V. Capurro stared glumly at their pacifiers.

Councilmen, press and audience contented themselves with only one cigarette break during the evening, outside the council chambers. Noone deigned to take the pacifiers home.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

PARKING — After discussing problems arising from parking lot requirements for such businesses as the Lions Share night club and other firms, asked the planning commission to study a proposal that would require firms to own rather than lease their off-street parking spaces.

MORATORIUM — Amended the city's one-year building freeze to exempt residential lots too small to subdivide, if they are not touching any other undeveloped lots.

FEES — Approved imposing a $25 fee on applications for design review or sign review.

ILLEGAL USE — Postponed to Nov. 8, discussion of a report on illegal second dwellings on single-family zoned lots.

SIGN — Turned down an appeal from the planning commission's previous order that the Terrible Herbst service station must remove its free-standing sign — which features gasoline prices along with the name.

HIRING — Hired Margaret Carroll as clerk typist at $533 a month. She placed first in recent civil service competition for the post in the parks and recreation department.

ASSESSMENTS — Routinely approved costs for sidewalk, curbs and gutters on San Francisco Boulevard, after a public hearing in which no one protested the assessments against the property owners along the street.

SEPTIC TANKS — Postponed adoption of an ordinance parallel to the county's septic tank controls, until the council can study the county ordinance more fully.

MAINS — Approved contracts between the Marin Municipal Water District and the city and the Sleepy Hollow Fire District for a total of $21,390 in new water line installations.

LIBRARY — Approved hiring Morris Neil Finisy of San Rafael as architect for remodeling the San Anselmo Library, at a cost of not more than $835. The city's budget contains $5,075 for the project.

WATSON INITIATIVE — Voted 4-0 to oppose passage of Proposition 14, the so-called Watson tax reform measure on the Nov. 7 ballot. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro declined to vote, saying he found the arguments for and against it confusing.

SCULPTURE — Awarded a $1,031 progress payment to sculptor Paul E. Selinger for the play sculpture he is creating for the children's area in Robson Park.

ADJOURNED — To Nov. 1 at 8 p.m., when a joint meeting will be held with the planning commission to discuss the countywide general plan, balanced transportation study and other issues.

Meeting Set On Attorney Screening

San Anselmo City councilmen last night agreed to hold a closed meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 8 to begin screening applicants for city attorney.

John G. Buresh, longtime city attorney, has announced his retirement. More than a dozen applicants are seeking the post, according to Mayor Warren R. Perry.

All have returned answers to a 14-question package prepared by the council as a hiring guide. Several councilmen said they want more time to study the replies.

Councilmen debated last night whether it would be proper to hold a closed session merely to decide procedural ground rules on the hiring. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro argued it would be proper and said "we've done it before."

Buresh advised that such a meeting "would not violate the Brown Act" because "hiring is involved" even if no specific persons were discussed.

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart demurred that there was no reason to hold a closed meeting merely on procedural decisions, but Mayor Warren R. Perry said "we'll surely be deciding which ones we don't even want to interview."

The council chose Nov. 8 for the session even though one candidate, Joseph E. Sheeks, wrote to ask for an earlier interview if possible because he will leave on vacation Nov. 4.

Arrigoni, Boxer Will Talk Tonight

Incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni and his challenger, Barbara Boxer, candidates for Marin supervisorial district two, will speak at a candidate's night at 8 p.m. today in the library of Red Hill School in San Anselmo.

The appearance, sponsored by the San Anselmo Homeowners Association, will be followed by an informal coffee hour.

He Almost Ate Himself To Death

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI)— Doctors said Mike Walker, 38, tried to commit suicide over a long period of time by "eating himself to death." Tuesday he nearly accomplished it.

Walker, who weighs 920 pounds, suffered a severe gall bladder attack in a tractor-trailer truck that is used to transport him to state fairs where he is a side show attraction and makes speeches against the use of drugs. He appeared to be recovering today.

He suffered a similar attack in Houston last February. At that time, doctors needed a crane and a fork lift to hoist him from the truck.

Psychiatrists said Walker became a drug addict in 1955 and developed a dependence which later "triggered a self-destruction drive in Walker's mind which caused him to become obsessed with food in an effort to eat himself to death."

He reached a top weight of 1,187 pounds in 1971 before accepting psychiatric treatment and beginning a 1,500-calorie diet. Since then he has lost 267 pounds.

Few Have Heard Of Pot Measure

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— California voters are opposed to a marijuana legalization measure on the November ballot— but few of them have heard of it, the Mervin Field Poll reported today.

Field said a random sampling of 1,275 voters made three weeks ago showed that only one-fourth of the public had firmly made up its mind on the marijuana issue. The rest said they hadn't heard of it or wanted to wait to make up their minds.

But both groups indicated they were "disposed" against it.

Among the 26 per cent who had a position on Proposition 19, an initiative which would remove criminal penalties for using and growing marijuana, 60 per cent opposed it and 37 per cent favored it.

Little Cigars 'Same As Fags'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Luther Terry, former surgeon general, said Tuesday that "little cigars" have the same tar and nicotine content as cigarettes, are smoked in exactly the same way, yet unlike cigarettes are legally advertised on radio and television.

Such advertising, Terry said, constitutes an "evasion of the intentions of Congress," which banned the advertising of cigarettes on radio and television.

In addition, said Terry, the cigarette-sized "cigars" are classified as cigars, and thus are not taxed as highly as cigarettes, which results in a loss of revenue to the federal government. This, he told a news conference at the American Cancer Society meeting, is because "the Internal Revenue Service has the responsibilty for labeling smoking material as cigar or cigarette."

A Dog-Attacking Skunk Turns Out To Be Rabid

A skunk which attacked a small dog in West Marin last week has been found to be rabid, the second wild animal with rabies to turn up in the county this month, according to a spokesman for the county health department.

Nancy Ruggeri of the rabies control section said tests returned yesterday showed a skunk which was shot Oct. 17 had rabies. The skunk was killed after it attacked a chihuahua belonging to Mary Costa, who lives at 9787 Shoreline Highway, Olema. The dog had to be destroyed.

Miss Ruggeri said no rabid animal had been found in the county since 1970 until this month when a rabid bat turned up in West Marin.

She warned Marin residents not to touch animals klapping around, lying on the ground or otherwise looking sick. She said in such a circumstance one should put a bucket or a box over the animal and call the Department of Health Services.

LSD Blamed In Window Assault

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Douglas Vollrath, 21, who threw himself against 45 plate glass store windows while apparently under the influence of drugs, was reported recovering from severe lacerations.

Doctors at St. Francis Hospital said he sustained multiple lacerations, but none of the glass slivers struck a vital organ.

No Different On Peninsula

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Life on the San Francisco Peninsula is getting to be just like life in the city, according to a poll of San Mateo County residents.

The poll said residents were worried about overpopulation, overcrowding, overde velop ment, pollution, rising taxes, increasing crime and clogged transportation routes.

The poll, delivered Tuesday to the County Board of Supervisors, was conducted by the Environmental Quality Coordinating Council, which carried out a year's study for $6,000.

BRICE W. BECKMANN
Soon to be eagle

Marinwood Scout Due Eagle Rank

Brice W. Beckmann, 15-year-old Marinwood resident, will be awarded the eagle scout rank in a special court of honor at the Lucas Valley Community Church next Wednesday.

Young Beckmann, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bink H. Beckmann of 356 Peachstone Terrace, is a sophomore at Terra Linda High School.

He has spent four and a half years in scouting and a year in Cub Scouts, receiving awards including the yeoman, bowman and archer awards; two one-mile swim awards, a 50-mile hike award and a three-year perfect attendance award.

As a member of Troop 74 in Marinwood, he has served as assistant patrol leader and patrol leader, and now is junior assistant scoutmaster.

A member of Order of the Arrow, a scout camping honor group, he holds the rank of brotherhood as well as being a member of the Indian dance team of Talako Lodge.

Young Beckmann completed two projects to earn the eagle rank. He worked and supervised other troop members in aiding with the restoration of the old Dixie Schoolhouse, now a museum. He also worked and supervised other scouts in the clean-up of a new home on Blackstone Drive in Marinwood which was sold with the profit going to Marin scouts.

He has earned 24 merit badges.

Birth Control Pioneer Given Sanger Award

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, a pioneer in birth control and advocate of liberalized abortion laws, was given the Margaret Sanger award for courageous leadership Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

The Margaret Sanger Award is a bronze statuette depicting the founder of Planned Parenthood symbolically embracing "the children of the world."

"A leader in the scientific and technical progress of our field, Dr. Guttmacher has at the same time never lost sight of the basic humanity of its purpose, nor its concern for the well being of the individual and the ultimate dream that each child born in this world shall be joyfully wanted and loved by its parents," the citation said in part.

Slide Show

A slide show and taped program about the moon will be presented at the open meeting of the Star Observers of Marin meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the auditorium of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building, Third and Brooks streets, San Rafael.

In San Francisco's Orbit

What San Francisco represents among cities, Marin County—just to the north over the Golden Gate—represents among suburbs. Still fairly light on people (206,038 in 1970), its geography is varied and a pleasure to the eye—a place where mountains, ocean, and bay meet, known for its canyons, loamy farmland, lagoons, and streams. Primarily, Marin is a commuter county for San Francisco's well-heeled, a place that has changed suddenly from rural backwardness like most of the North Coast to a sophisticated and urbane community. San Rafael (population 38,977) is the closest thing to a city in Marin County and also has a newspaper—the Independent-Journal, superior to any San Francisco paper.

"The Megastates is a 'must' to know America. The ten biggest states, America's power base, are described with accuracy, verve, and dramatic vigor. It is a remarkable product of peripatetic research."—Former Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania

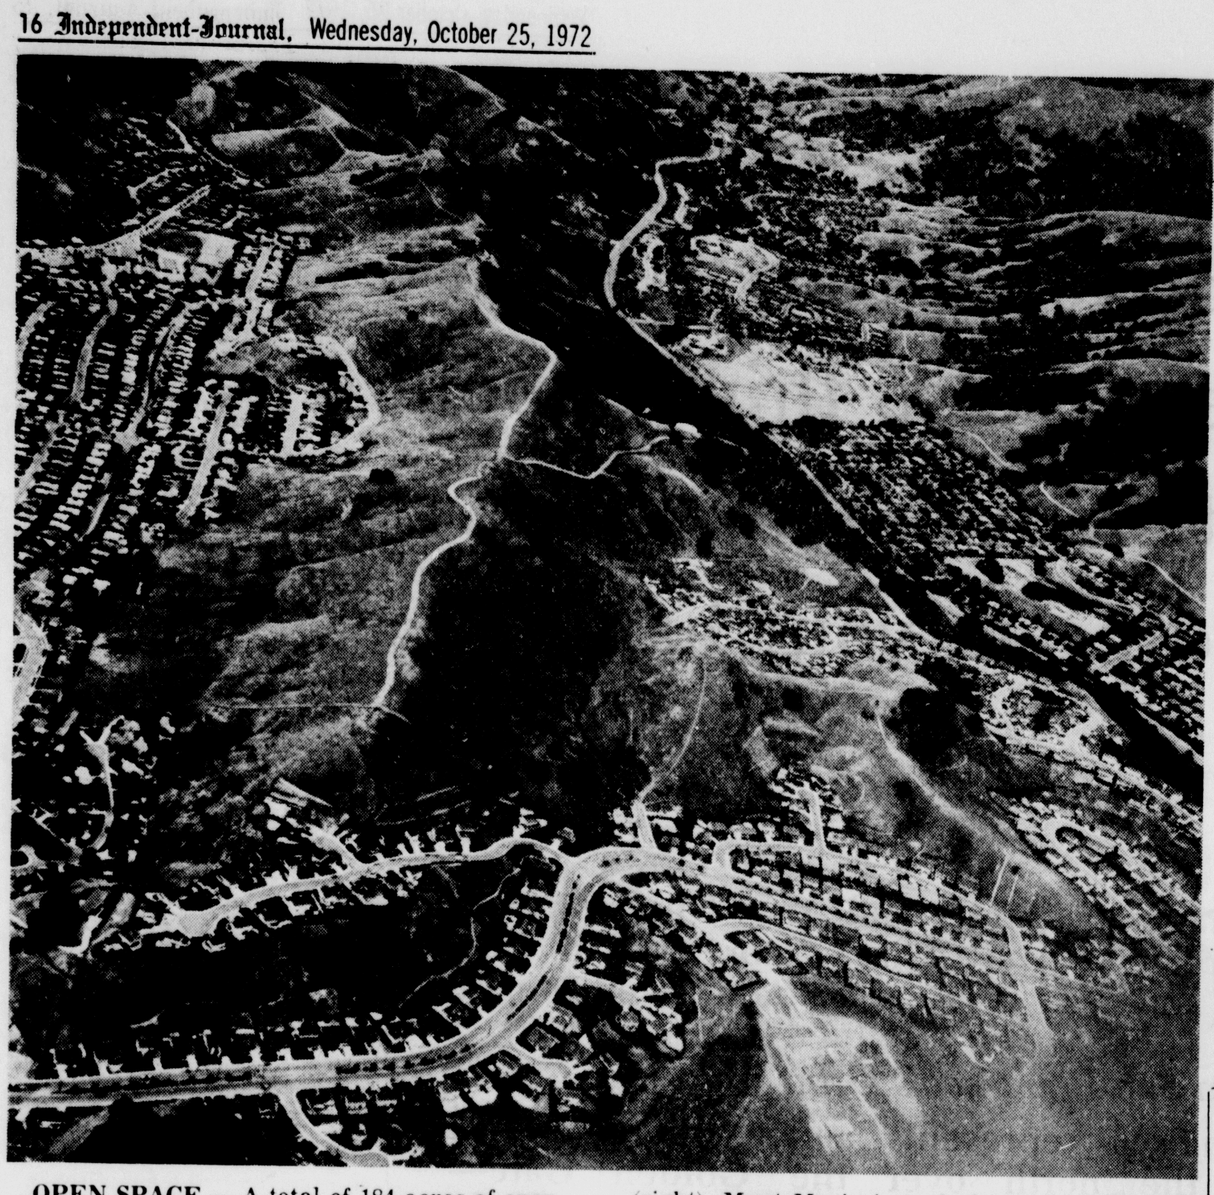

"Here is the rare combination of fascinating reading and valuable source material. Neal Peirce has brought it together out of his lifetime of experience and prodigious news research. If none of his accomplishments qualified him—and they have—this work would put him at the very pinnacle of political researchers and analysts."—Walter Cronkite, CBS News

California—"As a native son, I was impressed from the first to last pages of Mr. Peirce's California chapter, how little I knew about my native state and how much he had grasped about our culture, our economy, and our politics. He has captured the romantic past and the uncertain future of the world's seventh largest economy with clarity and keen insight."—Stephen Horn, President, California State College, Long Beach, and Vice-Chairman, U.S. Commission on Civil Rights

New York City—"An amazingly comprehensive trip with one of our very best reporters ... Invaluable, it's each man's library on where we are and where we live."—Richard Reeves, New York Magazine

Texas—"Peirce proves himself a rare reporter and analyst. He is neither taken in by persuasive partisans nor put off by disdainful critics. Instead he is fair, sane, balanced, and possessed of all those other qualities that make the incisive, responsible writer. He merits that ultimate accolade used alike by Texans and human beings, 'He is his own man.'"—Joe B. Frantz, Professor of History, University of Texas; Director, Texas State Historical Association

Mont Marin Closer To Open Space; Price Set

The Mont Marin Homeowners Association has jumped another hurdle in its attempt to form an assessment district aimed at preserving the balance of the Pimental ranch as open space.

Association representatives and landowners have agreed to a $317,500 purchase price for 184 acres of open space in the proposed Mont Marin Open Space Assessment District, according to association president Jerry R. Russom.

Proposed purchase of the land — which represents about 5 per cent of the 3,700 acres of privately owned open space in San Rafael — would cost each homeowner about $93 annually for 25 years, Russom said.

Purchase of the land would take place after the assessment district is formed, he said.

Mont Marin homeowners began talking about formation of an assessment district last spring, collected supporting signatures from 70 per cent of the 270 property owners involved and won a temporary building moratorium on the 184 acres before the citywide ban was established in June.

Russom said a public hearing on formation of the district will be called by the San Rafael City Council after city staff prepares precise maps and exact figures on the cost per homeowner. "Assuming there will be little opposition, the district will be formed, bonds issued, and in about three months the land will belong to the city," he said.

The district will be formed by the city in the same way a sewage assessment district is formed, Russom said. "The homeowners specifically do not want development on that land, so they will buy it up as a general recreational and open space area."

The general public will be able to use any recreational facilities on the parcel if acquired, he added.

Formation of an assessment district to finance purchase of open space is unprecedented in Marin.

(Lucas Valley residents, who last April voted to purchase the 285-acre Nunes ranch as a greenbelt and recreational area, already had a county services district for which only a few legal changes were necessary to take on the purchse.)

At issue in Mont Marin is 152 acres on the old Pimental ranch — the ridge between Lucas Valley and Terra Linda — and 32 acres forming the crests between Las Gallinas Avenue and Mont Marin. Rubin Glickman owns the Pimental ranch parcel and the American Housing Guild, a San Diego-based firm, owns the other 32 acres proposed for district formation.

What's to be done with the land if it's acquired?

The Mont Marin association's land use committee is studying ways of using and improving the land, Russom said. Homeowners have suggested a city-operated horse boarding stable, a picnic area along Miller Creek, a playing field and playground and hiking trails.

"The main thinking is, of course, that the great majority of the land should be left as open space," Russom said.

Recommendations on possible use of the parcel will be considered at an assessment district meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in Miller Creek School.

Sample Ballots In The Mails

Sample ballots for the Nov. 7 general election are being mailed to Sonoma County residents this week, according to County Clerk Eugene D. Williams.

Persons who have not received a sample ballot by Nov. 1 and have not moved recently should call the elections office in Santa Rosa. Sample ballots are third class mail and are not forwarded by the post office if the voter has moved.

Train Derails, Injuring Three

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Three persons escaped serious injury when four engines and 16 cars of a 70-car Northwestern Pacific Railroad freight train slammed into a truck and trailer unit at a crossing five miles north of here.

A company spokesman said it would be early today before wreckage clearing operations would allow reopening of the line, which handles only freight traffic.

The freight train was going about 45 miles per hour Tuesday when it hit the second of two truck gondolas loaded with tar, he said. One engine was overturned and a flatbed car hurled about 100 feet off the railroad right-of-way.

Education Board Seeks Road Safety Improvement

The Petaluma Board of Education last night called for improvements to Casa Grande Road and South McDowell Boulevard as a safety measure for students at Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School.

School principal William Anderson told the board parents have complained about problems of safety for students walking to the new school.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said the board approved a resolution asking the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to use gasoline tax revenue to improve shoulders along the roads so students needn't walk on the roadways.

Meyer said a copy of the request will also go to the city of Petaluma since the high school land should soon be annexed to the city.

Anderson reported that bad weather has slowed finishing construction work at the school, but that all work should be completed by late November or early December.

The board heard residents from Magnolia Avenue complain that bus service has been withdrawn for their students. Meyer said most live within the two-mile limit and that service was withdrawn because buses were crowded.

The board adjourned to Monday at 7 p.m. for a closed session with Meyer to give directions in his salary negotiations with teachers and other employees.

WE'RE SUPPORTING MIKE PEEVEY

All of us supported Jim Dougan for Fourth District Supervisor in the June Primary. But, he lost.

Now, we're supporting Mike Peevey. Why?

We believe Mike Peevey is the only candidate who has the necessary experience, background, and mature judgment to properly represent ALL of the voters in San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera, San Geronimo Valley and West Marin.

Mike Peevey has a sound, moderate approach to county government. He will not be a spokesman for one narrow group. He will be a reasonable, firm, and fair Supervisor.

Cranston Sees Reagan As Opponent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Alan Cranston says he expects Gov. Ronald Reagan to be his 1974 re-election opponent and relishes the opportunity to finish off the governor's political career.

The Democrat also says he is "very disturbed" that perhaps President Nixon has granted South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu a "veto power" over peace negotiations.

Cranston held a news conference Tuesday in the state capitol where he served eight years as California controller before being defeated for reelection in 1966, then winning a Senate seat two years later.

The freshman senator already has announced he will seek re-election to a second term in 1974, the same year Reagan's second gubernatorial term expires. Reagan has ruled out a third term bid but is considering running against Cranston.

"I expect Ronald Reagan will be my opponent," Cranston said.

"And despite his estimates of my feelings—I notice the other day he said he hoped this was keeping me awake nights worrying—my fondest dreams are that he will run against me. I would relish the opportunity to end his public career in California."

Cranston said he did not necessarily think Reagan would be an easy mark politically, "but frankly I like a race where the issues are sharp and clear, where I don't have a fondness for my opponent, where the support of each would be very strong and where the significance of the victory would be great."

Cranston based his prediction of Reagan's candidacy partially on "some information given me by people inside the Republican Party," but later he said this information came indirectly from a newsman.

The 58-year-old senator said he believes Reagan enjoys holding public office and "would like a crack at the presidency in 1976." A Senate seat would be Reagan's springboard for a second White House bid, the senator said.

Cranston also predicted there will be no Vietnam peace before election day because Thieu is "throwing a lot of sand into the gears," North Vietnam will not accept Nixon's terms and there are too many "knotty problems."

If peace does come before election day, Cranston said, voters should ask whether Nixon could have settled the war earlier and whether the terms "justify the price we have paid for four more years of war" since the President took office.

POINT REYES BUGGIES — A bucolic scene of an earlier era is recalled in this sun-filled watercolor in pinks and warm browns by Sister Joanne. Other California scenes by this artist, as well as works by other art faculty members of Dominican College, are on exhibit concurrently with a student art show at Dominican College in San Rafael.

ART REVIEW

Two Strong Shows At Dominican

By ADA GARFINKEL

It isn't very often that a college mounts a faculty and student art show at the same time. But this is what is happening at Dominican College in San Rafael, where a lively student exhibit fills San Marco Gallery and a faculty installation occupies adjacent Alemany Library.

And if anyone thinks that art work at a parochial college is academic or cloistered, he is wrong. San Marco Gallery is filled with "now" content and media. The emphasis is on photo silkscreen process and imagery, and Olympic hero Mark Spitz looms large as subject matter in several versions.

Barbara Dineen, however, resorts to her grandparents' family album for inspiration, and Janet Clark's emphasis on technique results in a photo transfer on mirror combined with a reverse print on an encasing plexiglass frame.

Sculptural ceramics is the next "big" thing. Much of it is free-form, even in pots and jugs with extended lips and handles and in a variety of pressed and scratched textures. There also is a particularly handsome salt-glaze work by Diane Lafrenze.

And the possibilities of clay is fully exploited by Marina Van Overbeek in a colorfully glazed and manipulated column.

In the faculty show, color photos by Sister Adele focus on double imagery derived from a montage technique —superimposing one image over another.

"Pairing an overview of Lake Tahoe with a close-up of snowflakes, for example, enables the viewer to experience the texture of falling snow as well as its effect on the landscape," according to the artist.

"Visual Encounter," "Sun Spires," "Highways of the Sky" and "Raintree" are handsome offspring of this method.

Sister Joanne's watercolors speak of an unhurried era in sun-drenched places; of red-tile roofs, tripod cooking, horse-drawn buggies and wooden wheelbarrows. And of crisp, white sailboats at Donner Lake.

Haunting fibreglass sculptures by Masatoyo Kishi, chairman of the Art Department at Dominican College, are in stark counterpoint, but one of a head has wingflaps and is humorously reminiscent of a nun's headdress.

A single painting by Kishi combines a strong diagonal format with a fastidious blending of color chords and textural effects on two panels within a single frame.

The Dominican art faculty is small. Its work, however, looms importantly in a controlled authority of purpose and experience. This is evident in the work of the foregoing artists, in the handsome functional stoneware of John Chambers ensconced in several wall-cases, and in the various wall hangings of Ida Grae.

Both exhibits will remain until Nov. 18 with viewing hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily at Alemany Library, and 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday in San Marco Gallery.

Patrice Munsel, Former Met Singer, To Star In 'Applause'

Former Metropolitan Opera singer Patrice Munsel will star in the Broadway touring company performance of "Applause" scheduled for Nov. 4 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

A matinee is set for 2:30 p.m. and an evening performance for 8:30.

PATRICE MUNSEL
Star of the show

"Applause" is one of the few musicals in theatrical history to have run more than two years on Broadway. It opened in New York on March 30, 1970, and ran for 26 months, winning the Tony award as the best musical of the season.

The show began as an 8,000-word novelette by Mary Orr, published in Cosmopolitan magazine in 1947 and based on Miss Orr's knowledge of backstage life as an actress, playwright and the wife of a playwright-director.

She later turned the story into a radio drama and then a movie was made entitled, "All About Eve," which came out in 1950 starring Bette Davis.

The musical version was written by Betty Comden and Adolph Green with music and lyrics by Charles Strouse and Lee Adams.

The musical, the classical broadway story of the understudy who comes out on top but told from the viewpoint of the star who gets deposed, features such songs as "But Alive" and "Welcome to the Theater."

Directed and choreographed by Ron Field, the show also features performers Virgil Curry, Stephen Everett, Ed Fuller, Bryan Spencer, Lisa Carroll, Pia Zadora and Diane McAfee.

Petaluma Acts To Preserve Old Church

The old Christian Church got a new lease on life when several groups banded together and last night persuaded the Petaluma City Council to preserve and renovate the structure.

Representatives of Heritage Homes Club, Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association and several other groups successfully urged the council to spend up to $30,000 to repair the old building for use as a community center.

Dennis Pooler of Heritage Homes said his group was willing to donate $2,000 from proceeds of a recent house tour to replace the leaky roof. He said his group and others could supply volunteer labor that would reduce renovation costs.

Building Inspector Henry Anderson estimated costs of repair at a maximum of $30,000 to bring the building up to safety codes.

Councilman Fred V. Mattei said he had wondered if the building was really worth spending the money to repair, but was impressed with the outpouring of concern by citizens to preserve it. Only Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. dissented, calling for more study.

The city bought the church last year with plans to demolish it for a parking lot for city hall.

Recreation Director James R. Raymond also urged its preservation and said it could be used for performing arts, civic and club meetings, art shows and for youth and senior citizens activities. He said Kenilworth Recreation building is in almost constant use and another center is necessary.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked the representatives of the groups and others interested to form a committee with Raymond and Anderson to speed repairs.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT — Approved a general resolution exempting minor projects from environmental impact report requirements and directed the planning department to prepare guidelines for determining what developments must submit reports and how thorough they must be.

ANNEXATION — Approved the annexation of 112 acres on I Street extension as requested by developer Arthur Condiotti. Residents of Sunnyslope Road and Sunnyslope Avenue protested, saying the development will overload the already inadequate road system.

POLICE CAR — Awarded the contract for a 1973 air conditioned police sedan to Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth at $3,425. Councilmen Robert A. Brunner, Robert E. Daly and Cavanagh dissented, saying it should be purchased from the state for $3,054.

HOSPITAL — Approved a resolution supporting the application of Petaluma General Hospital to build a new eastside hospital and recommending no changes be made at Hillcrest Hospital. The resolution will be presented at a hearing tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Kenilworth Junior High School sponsored by the Sonoma County Comprehensive Health Facilities Planning Council.

GAS TAX — Heard City Engineer David A. Young report the city should receive $76,000 from the new gasoline sales tax revenue and recommended it be used to develop a parking lot for commuters adjacent to the swim center.

PLAN LINES — Adopted plan lines to widen East Washington Street to four lanes from Lakeville Street to Highway 101.

REZONING — Approved neighborhood commercial zoning for 817,821 and 829 East Washington Street as requested by Ernest Curtis.

HAPPY WOMAN — Tammy Russell, 23, of Marion, O., wiped tears from her eyes yesterday after walking 80 miles to meet Sen. George McGovern at his arrival at the Dayton, O., airport. The Democratic presidential nominee was in town to attend a rally. (UPI Telephoto)

McGovern: Refusal By Thieu 'Shocking;

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

George S. McGovern today accused President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam of a "shocking" refusal to accept a Vietnam peace agreement. But President Nixon's campaign chief Clark MacGregor predicted a ceasefire by the end of the year.

McGovern said Thieu had been allowed by the administration to block a peace settlement. He said the time had come for the United States to tell Thieu that if he wants to continue the war, he will have to do it alone.

McGovern said in a broadcast interview in Milwaukee, at the outset of another hard day on the campaign trail, that he was gaining strength among voters because of what he termed the "shocking" Thieu holdout to peace and by alleged political espionage by the GOP.

Both Nixon and McGovern arranged political broadcasts—Nixon on radio and McGovern on television. McGovern said his broadcast tonight would expose "espionage and sabotage" on the part of Nixon's organization and added:

"There won't be any doubt we're putting the responsibility on one Richard Nixon." (See story, page 6.)

Sen. Robert Dole, GOP national chairman, issued a statement questioning McGovern's "credibility as a moralist" and his credentials to address the public "on the subject of morality in government."

Dole accused McGovern of having a "long public record of dirty campaigning," which he said was documented in the senator's official campaign biography.

In his radio speech, Nixon as usual did not mention McGovern by name and attacked the Democratic-controlled Congress for refusal to enact some of his programs, including a ban on court-ordered busing of school children outside their neighborhoods.

Nixon said he would renew his fight in the next Congress for such a law.

He also renewed his spendthrift charges against Congress. "The myth that all problems can be solved by throwing money at them is not easily dispelled," he said. "... The roots of the taxpayer revolt lie not in selfishness but in a sensible refusal to pay for government programs that have failed to meet the needs and wishes of the people in an effective way."

McGovern said a new report alleging that Nixon's chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, had access to an alleged secret fund for GOP spying on Democrats "places the whole mess of corruption, sabotage and espionage squarely in the lap of Richard Nixon." (See story, page 6.)

The White House issued a statement in behalf of Haldeman denying the Washington Post report.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, campaigning in the South today, charged that the McGovern organization was shifting to a "campaign of character assassination" in the final two weeks before the election.

Agnew said the McGovern effort was "in deep political trouble" and was resorting to desperate tactics.

MacGregor, in predicting a Vietnam settlement by year's end, also said McGovern "could not be more wrong" in charging it could have been achieved long ago.

MacGregor said he talked with Henry A. Kissinger Tuesday after the presidential adviser's return from Saigon. He would not discuss details of peace moves but said:

"There is an inexorable course to these events which will produce a cessation of hostilities in this calendar year... Nov. 7 has no relation to our efforts."

Appearing with MacGregor in an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show, McGovern's military and foreign affairs adviser, Paul C. Warnke, said, "It seems that events are taking their course and there will be a cease-fire in the foreseeable future."

Warnke, who receives regular briefings by the administration on peace talks and related matters, repeated McGovern's charge that essentially the same terms reported under consideration now could have been obtained as much as four years ago.

MacGregor said, "Sen. McGovern as in so many issues could not be more wrong." McGovern charged Tuesday that the President, "purely to avoid criticism from the rightwing war hawks," did not move vigorously in the past to end the war.

Warnke, a Pentagon official during the Johnson administration, said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu had blocked peace in the past and "the real issue at this point is whether President Nixon is going to make the courageous decision (to withdraw) and let Thieu take his chances."

Warnke said that during the recent intensive peace efforts the Nixon and McGovern "positions tended to converge." He said Nixon's "position is now that we would accept some form of coalition government ... For some period of time, the Nixon administration was unwilling to accept a coalition government."

MacGregor responded, "I cannot accept for a moment that there is a coming together of the positions of President Nixon and Sen. McGovern ... We would under no circumstances impose a coalition government on the people of South Vietnam against their will."

Both major party vice presidential candidates were busy Tuesday.

Vice President Agnew campaigned from the Rocky Mountains to New York State where he drew some of the most hostile heckling so far.

After addressing students at Brigham Young University and meeting with the elders of the Mormon Church in Utah, Agnew was confronted by a vocal group of hecklers at the Rome-Utica, N.Y., airport.

However, he ignored the chants of "Peace now! Peace now! and "We want George! We want George!" and delivered a short speech on the need to keep the United States military strong. He also appeared with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller at a Republican rally in Syracuse.

His Democratic counterpart, Sargent Shriver, made appearances in Chicago, Kansas City and Childress, Tex., where he spoke to 600 persons at a chili dinner held at the city auditorium. It was the first time a candidate for national office had ever appeared in the northwest Texas community.

Impact Studies Policy Is Adopted

The Corte Madera Town Council last night went over a five-page set of guidelines for environmental impact studies line by line before adopting policies similar to those approved earlier in San Rafael and Novato.

Four of the five councilmen reached fairly general agreement about the new policy, but the fifth, Robert Flahive, wanted to delete a section which would exempt from the environmental study requirement projects already under way.

Flahive mentioned a 14-unit condominium on Lucky Drive as a project in Corte Madera which would fall under the exemption since permits have been granted and development has begun.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff retorted, however, that "it would be a monumental disaster. . . if statewide, we ask everyone to tear down the stuff already started."

At issue is a recent state Supreme Court ruling which held that all private developments, except those deemed "trivial," must have environmental impact studies before building permits are issued.

At Flahive's suggestion, and after other councilmen decided it did not apply to any projects in Corte Madera anyway, a proposed section of the policy exempting projects where 100 per cent financial commitment had been made was deleted.

Flahive also objected to the town zoning administrator being responsible for making environmental studies, saying the town ought to force developers to hire consultants to make the studies.

Town Atty. Albert Bianchi said this could still be done under the policy.

Bianchi also told Flahive it was not possible to "force the Marin Conservation League" or other conservation groups to submit environmental studies for developers, another of Flahive's suggestions.

At the conclusion of the lengthy discussion, Flahive voted against the guidelines, saying he did not think some sections "were according to the law." The other four councilmen approved the policy, adopted as an emergency measure.

In a related matter, the council took Bianchi's advice and did not rule on whether a report made by a private consultant in connection with the Madera del Presidio development constituted an environmental impact study.

Bianchi said this question about the proposed development above Koch Luggage is now under advisement before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court and the council should await his decision.

The council also turned down a proposal by Flahive that Heerdt Marsh in East Corte Madera be rezoned as a study zone, which would require use permits for any development.

Councilman Edward W. Colthurst said the change from the present light industrial zoning was not necessary to preserve the marsh because "the BCDC (Bay Conservation Development Commission) is not going to allow anything there, anyway."

Wagstaff agreed "there is no threat" to the marsh at present and that it falls under the town's building moratorium, up for renewal on Nov. 6.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

FIREMEN — Presented badges to six new firemen who Chief Frank L. Nelson said, would help the fire department reach the Nov. 1 goal of "24-hour-a-day coverage of Corte Madera."

QUARRY — Postponed discussion of rezoning of the quarry site to the Nov. 20 meeting.

SIGN — Scheduled a public hearing for Nov. 20 on an appeal of planning commission denial of an application for a freestanding sign by Colonial Liquors at 212 Tamalpais Drive.

SPECIALIST — Approved planning commission appointment of Jack Forster as landscape specialist for the town.

PERMITS — Approved home occupation permits for Robert Goerner to operate an educational tape mail order business at 23 Buena Vista Avenue; for Ronald C. Sinclair to operate a plumbing and heating repair business out of his home at 21 Granada Drive, and for Shelley Jakobsen to operate a handicraft shop at 50 Corte Madera Avenue.

SIGNALS — Approved plans for new signals, estimated to cost $23,000, for the intersection of Tamalpais Drive and Madera Boulevard. Seventy-eight per cent of the cost is to be paid by federal funds.

PLAN — Agreed to write county officials that Corte Madera does not want a joint meeting on the Marin countywide plan until the town's new general plan is completed.

TURN DOWN — Rejected a suggestion by Town Engineer Arthur N. Morrison that stop lights be placed at the intersection of Tamalpais and Eastman drives.

$150 Million Suit Over Grain Deal

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)— An Oklahoma wheat farmer filed a $150 million lawsuit in federal court Tuesday charging a former Agriculture Department official and five grain companies with conspiracy in the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union.

Ed Cleveland, a former Oklahoma Wheat Commission member from Altus, alleged former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Clarence Palmby, now vice president of Continental Grain Co., leaked word of the pending sale after leaving the Agriculture Department July 8.

Cleveland said Palmby was aware of the Russian grain shortage after accompanying Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to the Soviet Union.

LOVE THAT CLOVER!

EGGS BAKED in the Spanish-style make an excellent lunch or brunch dish. This budget-easy dish is served with a sliced orange salad, a favorite in Spain. The dish is served for dinner over rice.

FROM SPAIN

An Egg Dish For Inexpensive Brunch

Don't forget eggs when planning a budget meal, even for simple but attractively-served party luncheons. Since eggs are such a good source of protein, you're cheating nobody by serving them instead of meat. And with just an added ingredient or two, eggs can be proudly featured at luncheon.

For party occasions, give your special eggs a fancy name such as Eggs a la Riojana. The Spanish flair comes from a special sauce in which the eggs are baked and Spanish olive oil provides the special flavor.

You saute red pimiento with scallions and garlic in the Spanish olive oil; simmer this mixture with oregano and tomato sauce and bake the eggs on top.

Serve with a sliced orange salad (also typically Spanish) and some crisp bread, the eggs are perfect for lunch or brunch. At dinnertime, prepare rice and serve the eggs and sauce over the rice.

EGGS A LA RIOJANA

1 pimiento (from can), diced
4 green onions (scallions), minced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
¼ teaspoon oregano
8 eggs
Salt

Saute pimiento, scallions, and garlic in olive oil until soft. Add tomato sauce and oregano and simmer 10 minutes. Divide sauce into four individual ramekins, or in one eight-inch square pyrex baking dish. Break the eggs one at a time in a cup, taking care the yolks do not break, then slide each egg into the sauce, with two eggs in each ramekin. Sprinkle the eggs lightly with salt. Bake at 400 degrees until wpites are just set, the yolks still soft. For ramekins, this takes 15 minutes; for for one baking dish, it will take slightly longer.

Makes four servings.

Don't let the name of this recipe fool you. Tortilla in Spanish means omelet and not the thin corn pancakes that are typically Mexican. This special omelet is baked with a sardine filling.

TORTILLA DE SARDINES

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 clove garlic
6 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Few drops lemon juice
1 can (3¾ oz.) drained
Mayonnaise or a tomato sauce

Heat olive oil in 10 or 12-inch skillet. Add garlic and cook over very low heat until garlic is golden and soft. Then mash garlic into oil and discard. Meanwhile, beat egg whites until thick. With same beater, beat the yolks until thick. Stir in salt, pepper, paprika, parsley and lemon juice. Fold yolks into whites and stir gently but thoroughly until blended.

Spoon half of the egg mixture into skillet, spreading evenly over bottom. Arrange sardine halves on top; then cover with remaining egg mixture. Cover skillet and cook very slowly until omelet is golden on bottom and just firm on top, about 10 to 12 minutes. Invert onto warm serving platter. Cut in wedges to serve. Top with mayonnaise or a warm tomato sauce.

Makes six servings.

Frozen Meats Can Reduce Consumer Costs

Today's homemakers usually are willing to pay for extra convenience provided in the preparation and packaging of food items. There are additional things, however, that the processor can do that might actually save money while giving that all important convenience. A good example is modern quick-frozen meat, with locked-in freshness and quality, that's easy to keep in convenient storage.

A Perfect Dish For Company

Join a baked Moon Lake fillet with a Caesar salad and you've put together a great meal and a great story from two different parts of the world: the fillet from Austria; the salad from New Mexico.

The fillet story began in Upper Austria a century ago when the Roman soldiers marched through the Monsee Lake region. They were so impressed with what they saw in this five mile stretch of water thatthey called it Moon Lake. Today the entire area is a resort with a great appeal for fresh water fishermen — a perfect spot for the birthplace of the baked Moon Lake Fillet.

Since this recipe has been adapted for American use, it calls for any type of white fish (flounder or sole are exceptionally good). The fish is folded over a prepared stuffing mixed with dill, chicken broth and Austrian Swiss cheese.

BAKED LAKE-MOON FILLET

8 large flounder fillets
Salt and lemon juice
1 package (8 ounces) bread stuffing
2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill
1 package (6 ounces) Austrian Swiss cheese, finely diced
1 cup chicken broth
1 cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup cornflake crumbs
additional chopped fresh dill

Sprinkle flounder fillets with salt and lemon juice. In a bowl mix stuffing, dill, cheese, chicken broth and half of the melted butter. Spoon stuffing on one half of the flounder fillet. Fold over uncovered half. Place stuffed fillets in a shallow baking pan which has been brushed with some of the remaining melted butter.

Spoon remaining melted butter over fillets. Sprinkle fillets with cornflake crumbs and chopped fresh dill. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 30 minutes or until fish turns white and flakes easily.

AUSTRIAN SWISS cheese mixed into the Moon Lake fillet stuffing and tossed through the Caesar salad gives a piquant accent that enriches both dishes and turns a meal into elegant cuisine.

Special Treat For Apple Days

National Apple Week is being celebrated, starting tomorrow. The good news is that the crop is abundant, naturally sweet from the summer's warmth, and vividly painted with autumn's palette of brilliant colors. Markets and roadside stands are made beautiful with the many varieties available for eating out-of-hand or for cooking.

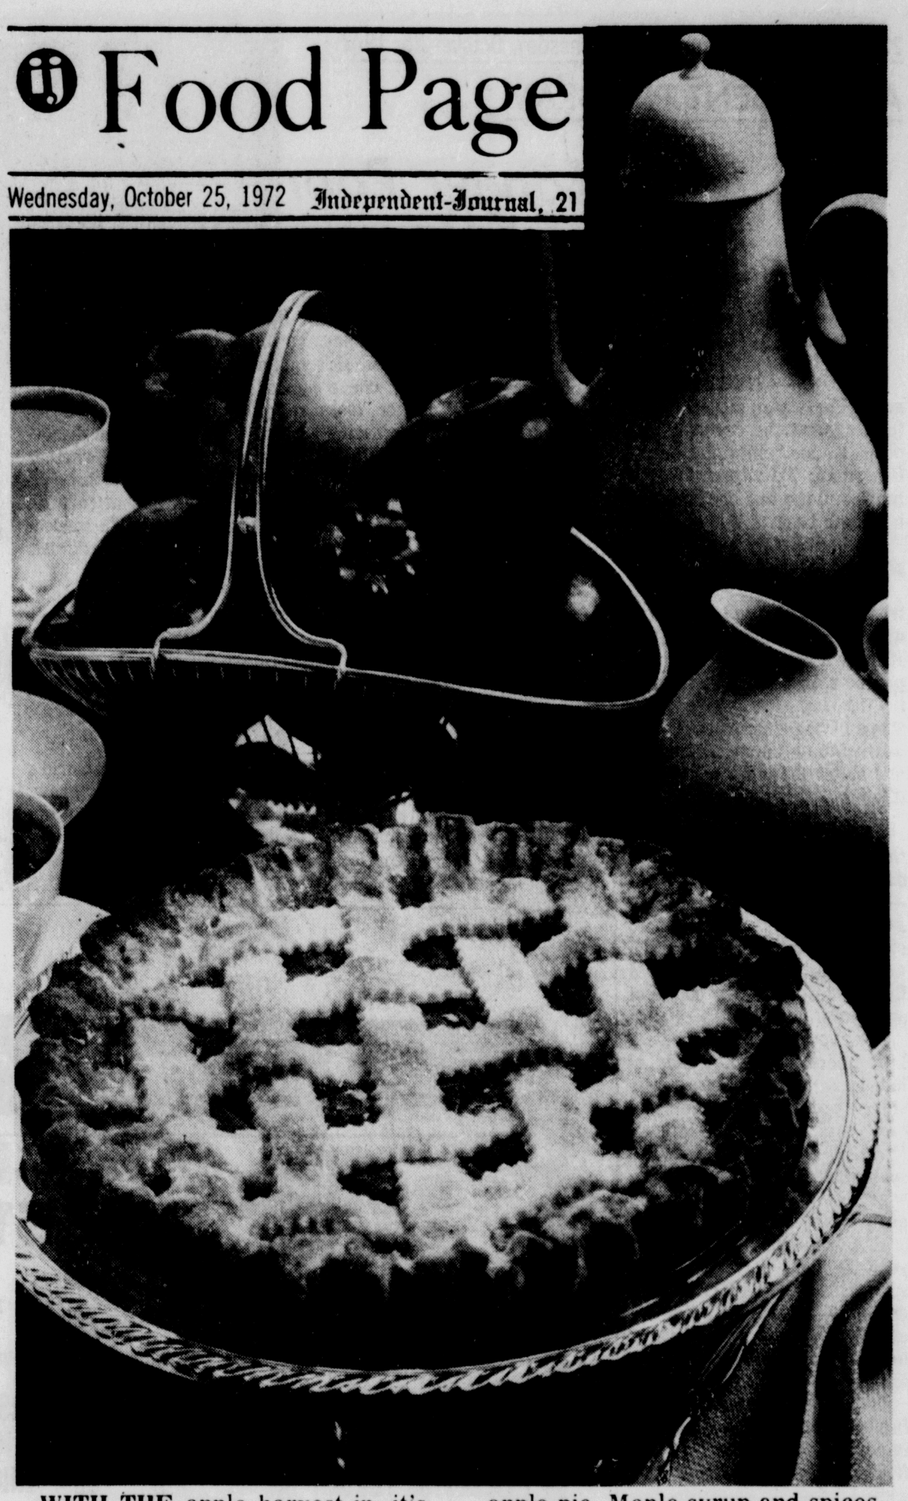

Celebrate the festival by making this unusual and delicious apple pie. While you are in the mood, make two, one for serving now and one properly wrapped to put in the freezer for future use.

SPICY MAPLE APPLE PIE

¼ cup maple-flavored syrup
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon salt
6 cups sliced apples (about 6 apples)
Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine syrup, sugar, tapioca, lemon juice, spices and salt in a large bowl. Stir in apples; let stand 15 minutes. Roll half the pastry very thin (less than one-eighth inch thick). Line nine inch pie pan. Trim pastry at edge one-half inch beyond rim of pie pan. Roll out remaining pastry very thin. Cut in 10 strips one-half inch wide and 10 inches long. Fill bottom crust with apple mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of bottom crust. Weave pastry strips over filling; flute edges. Bake at 425 degrees for about 1 hour. Cool before cutting.

Note: For a crisp, golden-glazed top crust, bake 40 minutes; then brush with 2 tablespoons maple-flavored syrup and continue baking.

WITH THE apple harvest in, it's time to celebrate National Apple Week with a spicy maple-flavored apple pie. Maple syrup and spices give it a distinctive flavor.

For Daily Diet

Preschool children should have one teaspoon or more of butter or margarine in their diet every day.

The Pork Chop Comes Long Way

Today's pork chop is not the same as the pork chop 30 years ago. Hogs go to market at a considerably younger age, the fat has been decreased and the lean meat increased.

Comprehensive studies of the nutrient content of typical cuts of cooked pork have shown an average of 22 per cent more protein, 57 per cent less fat and 35 per cent fewer calories in pork than food composition tables had indicated in 1940.

FISH'N POTATO DISHES FOR MEAT'N POTATO MEN.

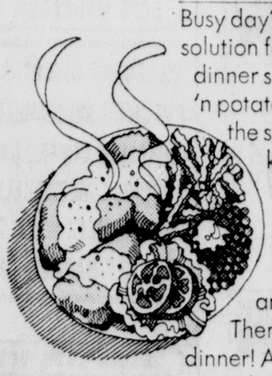

Hot Barbecue Sauce

Combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Heat to boiling; simmer uncovered 5 minutes. Remove lemon slices and serve hot with Gorton's Fish & Chips.

Cool as a Cucumber Sauce

Busy day? Here's the perfect solution for a quick-to-prepare dinner sure to please your meat 'n potatoes man. Just prepare the sauce early in the day and keep it chilled. Gorton's Fish & Chips take just 20 minutes in 450° oven; while they are in the oven, you can prepare salad and a vegetable.

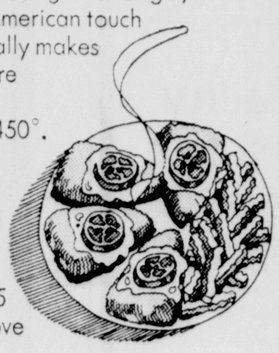

There you have it—a 30-minute dinner! And, you are cool as a cucumber.

½ cup sour cream
½ cup chopped pared cucumber
1 tsp. lemon juice
¼ tsp. onion salt

Mix all ingredients; chill. Makes about 1 cup.

Top each fish portion with thin slice of tomato and slice of process American cheese. Return to oven and bake 5 minutes longer. Sprinkle potatoes with onion salt and serve immediately.

ASSESSMENT PROGRAM

Fish Is No Longer Poor Man's Meal; Prices Climb

By PETER TONGE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BOSTON — Ed Larsen felt good. The water lapped peacefully against the canoe. It had been a good morning for a fisherman: Ed already had his limit, and the last one had been a 20-inch bass.

Not bad for an hour's "shopping" at nature's meat counter.

Time was when such a "gift from the sea" didn't do all that much for the weekly food budget. Now it does. More than most products, fish has risen in price in the last few years. That striped bass, for instance, was worth $12 on the retail counter and better than that once it was filleted.

WITH ONE or two exceptions fish matches beef in price. It's no longer the poor man's meal — and probably never will be, say the experts. In relation to steadily increasing world demand, the bountiful harvests of the sea just aren't so bountiful any more.

The average American eats a little more than 11 pounds of fish in a year, a figure that's stayed pretty constant for several years. But, says a National Marine Fisheries Service spokesman, just keeping pace with the expanding population adds many millions of pounds of fish to the national diet each year. In fact, per capita consumption had better not increase all that much "or we could run into some pretty tough supply problems," says another spokesman.

As it is, 65 per cent of U.S. fish requirements now must be imported, despite the fact that five billion pounds of fresh fish were landed by American carriers last year.

Less reliable fish catches these days are a major cause in pushing up prices. Says a spokesman with 42 years in the commercial fish business: "In the days when we had more fish than we would ever need off our shores, every boat that went out in the morning came back full, and we knew it would.

"Now we can never be sure and because this is a supply-and-demand business prices fluctuate with the supply. We could pay 40 cents a pound for haddock on Monday and 60 cents a pound on Wednesday. In the old days it wouldn't fluctuate more than a half centin a week!"

LABOR AND the high cost of equipment and maintenance have also helped fish prices zoom.

Paradoxically, rising prices haven't dampened public demand. People apparently recognize the high protein content and the variety available (there are far more fish types than meat varieties). Then, too, fish has now become socially acceptable. Says one official: "Now that it's not a cheap meal, people no longer look down on fish." An increasing ratio of seafood restaurants to others tends to confirm this.

Many people who never bother with fish at home eat it when they dine out, one restaura-teur notes.

Meanwhile, the National Marine Fisheries Service is beginning a "monitoring assessment and prediction program" which will attempt to predict fish populations in the years ahead. "But it's only in its infancy," a spokesman points out. "We'll need much information gathered over years before we can even begin predictions or suggest measures that might boost fish populations."

For sports fishermen the construction of artificial reefs (old motor car tires are particularly good on barren parts of the seabed) shows impressive results. What hasn't been discovered yet, though, is whether such artificial reefs boost fish populations or just attract fih from other areas. "We suspect a bit of both," says an official.

BUT FOR the big commercial fishing organizations the picture is not so rosy. Fish populations are drastically down on the once-teeming George's bank and Brown's bank in the North Atlantic.

Meanwhile, as the world's seafood requirements grow, many nations are becoming touchy over what they consider foreign poaching in their waters.

Pulse fishing, where a particular species of fish is hunted almost to depletion over a 10-square-mile area before the trawlers move on to the next area, is a major cause for the drastic reduction of some species. This is what happened to the haddock, once a plentiful fish in these waters.

Ireland has just declared its territorial fishing rights now extend to 50 miles offshore. Many South American nations have made similar or more extensive claims. So has India.

For its part the United States hopes that a United Nations "Law of the Sea" conference tentatively set for 1973 will help resolve many of these international problems.

But some of the more than 132,000 full-time fishermen in the United States would like Washington to follow the example of Iceland and other nations in what they term the world's "great sea grab." Foreign nations, they point out, remove in one year as many fish from U.S. coastal regions as local fishermen do in three.

HALLOWEEN CANDY BASKETS

6 cups puffed rice
¼ cup butter or margarine
5 cups miniature marshmallows
One 6-oz pkg. (1 cup) butterscotch pieces
1 teaspoon vanilla
Candy corn
Black string licorice
Green gumdrops

Heat puffed rice in a shallow baking pan in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Pour into a greased large bowl.

Melt butter, marshmallows and butterscotch pieces in the top of a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Pour marshmallow mixture over puffed rice, stirring until evenly coated.

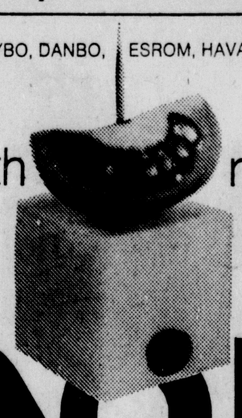

Reserve one and one-half cups puffed rice mixture for tops. With greased hands, press remaining puffed rice mixture firmly to line eight greased six-ounce custard cups, leaving centers hollow. Turn custard cups upside down; form tops of pumpkins over greased bottoms of cups.

8TH-GRADE START

A Busy Life For Marinite

By JOAN LISETOR

Jean Fitzgerald is embarrassed when she talks about winning an essay contest in the eighth grade in her native Tomahawk, Wis., and how she read the essay, "Why I like to Shop in Tomahawk," on a local radio station.

But the essay is significant because the San Rafael woman's life since then has been involved in radio, journalism, public relations and community service.

She hosts a radio show on station KTIM, "What's New In Marin," on Friday mornings.

"It's an interview show with commentary," she said. "Marin is a gold mine of nifty people with exciting new ideas."

She chooses people with new products and services to offer, and they discuss new trends and upcoming events in Marin, she said.

JEAN FITZGERALD
Sense of community

JEAN ALSO writes a consumer column for the Terra Linda News. The column is an offshoot of a project she undertook for a class in the University of California School of Journalism, where she is working toward a master's degree. In the column she discusses the aspects of managing money and the role money plays in a family. Financially, running a family is like running a small business, she said.

For three years she wrote for the Bank of America's small business reporter, which she described as an advisory service for small business owners. Each issue concentrated on a different area of business and required extensive research.

"It was like writing a thesis, a real intellectual challenge," she said.

While working for the bank she decided to return to school for graduate work in journalism with an emphasis on consumerism. Her degree will be complete when she finishes a performance thesis.

"I chose a performance thesis rather than an academic thesis because I wanted to do something alive instead of a rehash of many other people's ideas," she said.

Her experiences in the Lucas Valley Hill purchase will be the subject for the thesis and will explain her involvement in community affairs and what she learned attending zoning and planning commission meetings.

JEAN LEFT Tomahawk with a strong sense of community — instilled by her father whom she said was active in civic affairs — and when she was attending Marquette University in Milwaukee she was involved in student activities and campus affairs. She met her husband, Bill, shortly after graduation from Marquette.

"We are both from the Midwest (he is from Indiana). So we wanted to try another area of the country and decided on New York. If we were going to be New Yorkers, why not live in Manhattan?" Jean said.

They lived in Manhattan for a few years, before deciding to give the South a try. So it was New Orleans for a few years before the family moved to Marin seven years ago.

"We feel we have found a home in Marin, a place to put down our roots and raise our children," Jean said.

The family now includes Kirsten, 13, and Bill, 9, and a very noisy mynah bird, whose repertoire includes, "This is Howared Cosell speaking. . ." and another two-word sentence, unprintable, and a great embarrassment to Jean, who quickly explains, "The former owner taught him that."

Jean also has an advertising and public relations business in San Rafael.

"I couldn't do the things I do if my kids didn't take responsibilities," she said. "They're good kids. I like them as people."

ABOUT HER husband, she said, "He's the person I would choose to be stranded with on a desert island because he is an interesting person and fun to be with."

Running her home and business, preparing for the radio show, writing her newspaper column and working on her thesis are time consuming, she admitted, but not work.

"It's only work if you would rather be doing something else," she said.

Call For Camp Fire Donations, Deadline Set

The sustaining membership chairman for Central Marin, Mrs. Nancy Olson, is asking all friends of Camp Fire to donate their contributions before Nov. 1.

This year United Bay Area Crusade reduced its contributions to several organizations including Camp Fire. In order to serve the girls to the fullest potential, contributions are needed.

Although the yearly candy sale provides a good proportion of the money needed, sustaining membership is still necessary, Mrs. Olson said.

More Vitamins Sought In Foods

NEW YORK (UPI) — Foods commonly fortified with vitamins are milk — vitamin D; fruit drinks — vitamin C; flour — B vitamins and minerals; and breakfast cereals — vitamins A, B and D.

Consumer advocates are suggesting fortification should be increased in all food types.

Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., conducted a nationwide survey which showed about 70 per cent of consumers felt there was a need for vitamins to be added to food products.

Nutrition Taught In Few Medical Schools

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dr. Philip White, secretary of the American Medical Association's council on foods and nutrition, recently conducted a survey on the extent to which nutrition is taught in medical schools.

He estimated that only seven out of 60 offer nutrition courses and those are more likely to be incorporated into other courses than to be taught as an individual science.

New Collections Feature The Floozy

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — The vamp look. Wailing saxophones. Frizzy hennaed hair. Blood red fingernails. And dresses that look exactly like underslips.

The Paris spring ready-to-wear collections shown this week have stolen that World War II floozy girl from Yves Saint Laurent and dark red hair is all over town, the streakier the better.

The hennaed mannequins at the style parade staged by the Mendes manufacturing house tripped out on platform-soled, high-heeled shoes to display slinky short silk crepe dresses with lace trimming around the low neck and hem. Just dig out one of your old slips that women hardly wear under dresses any more.

More vampishness was evening trouser outfits in pale peach silk crepe and other pale edible colors worn with matching turbans.

THE MIDI dress also is back, to the relief of women who think it is absurd for Paris to decree absolutely one hemline for everybody last season some designers and fashion writers were insisting that the "average" woman, whatever that means, simply must wear everything just at the knee.

Jean Muir, the English designer who moved to Paris and has had spectacular success, showed her familiar line of silk jersey dresses that gracefully swung from knee length to midi to ankle length, take your pick.

Miss Muir won cheers from the press and buyers for those deceptively simple-looking dresses in muddy greens, pale gray, black and rust that were draped, shirred and tucked. They had that romantic, soft look reminiscent of the 1930s but still very 1972.

The dress is very big around the spring shows, more numerous than suits and trouser outfits, even at the house of Andre Courreges who a decade ago started the entire pants craze.

COURREGES' DRESSES range from his classic "structured" look in white wool to sweet numbers in candy cane colors and awning stripes. Some of them snap off to show bikini swim suits underneath that have that structured Courreges look, too.

Courreges paraded trouser suits in deep pink. Applause honored his navy stiff-looking hip-length coats worn with immaculately tailored wide white trousers or white dresses.

One coat with a V-neckline came in a range of candy colors from pistachio to lemon yellow. The little jackets for suits unzipped to show bare midriffs and bra tops underneath. Swinging pleated skirts went with white dotted blouses that matched little gloves with flowers at the wrist.

NOT ONE platform-soled shoe — he still loves white boots — or 1940 look appeared at Courreges. To his usual wool collection he added a new array of cotton dresses, including little dresses or suits in sateen and long dresses in white pique or colored gingham.

The mini dress still is in favor. The Micac sportswear house displayed both mini and maxi T-shirt dresses. The main daytime look consisted of wide trousers and blouson or short tailored jackets plus sweater vests and contrasting printed shirts.

Computer Will Teach Grade-School English

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — About 100 fourth, fifth and sixth-grade students at Elvira Elementary School might as well forget about bringing apples to the teacher.

The teacher is a computer which has been assigned to teach them English grammar.

At the beginning of the program students will be given comprehensive grammar tests, which will be corrected by the computer. Depending on their scores children will begin working on lessons that Barbara Burrows is developing.

The students will work through a lesson, and then their answers will be fed daily into the computer which will provide the answer as to what the next step in the student's instruction should be.

"This is the first time computer managed instruction has gone on in Arizona," said Mrs. Burrows, who will help direct the program. "It will give the teacher a look at a child's specific problem, where we used to get only a general impression."

Mrs. Burrows said the children's daily work will be programmed into the computer which will then recommend either that a child go ahead to another skill level, be given an alternative way of approaching the skill, or be started at a lower level.

The computer also can suggest various alternatives for the student to take in approaching this problem.

"This is a way of teaching skills that saves time for the student as well as the teacher," Mrs. Burrows said. "It will show if a student doesn't have to sit through something he already knows, and conversely, be puzzled by something day after day."

She added, "It will give the student time to pursue specialized interests and that's why we believe it's not a cold way of teaching. Actually, it's making teaching more individualized."

The project will cost $30,000 for this first year and is federally funded.

Although this is a pilot program using a University of Arizona computer, Mrs. Burrows said smaller towns may someday be connected to a central computer. She said such plans are already in the planning stages in one Tucson school district.

Other subjects also are being worked on for computer programming. Mrs. Burrows said mathematics will be next, and all skill areas and all grade levels are possible.

AND PROBLEMS REMAIN

Old Age Is 'Time Of Much Loss'

By JOAN LISETOR

"Older people are human too. They feel the same stresses and anxieties as those of other age groups," Florence Vickery told an audience last night in College of Marin's Olney Hall.

Miss Vickery, executive director of the San Francisco Senior Center for 20 years and author of a recently published book, "Creative Programming for Older Adults," was one of three panelists for the sixth in the eight-part "SOS — Stress in Our Society" series co-sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health and the College of Marin.

The other panel members were Dr. Dan Beittel, staff psychiatrist at the Marin Community Mental Health Center, and his father, Dr. A. D. Beittel, an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ and a former college president.

Miss Vickery said old age has been described as the stage in life that is a time of loss — loss of the social role, role of a homemaker, parent, loss of a job, spouse, friends and health.

WHILE PHYSICAL care for the aged has improved in the past two decades, the problems have not been solved, she said.

"To older people, being cared for is just as important as the need to be cared about, to be made to feel worthwhile," she said. "There is a subtle kind of rejection. Older people are housed in high-rise cubicles, and many are frightened to go out in the day or night. They are cared for and too often forgotten about in hospitals. There are separate recreation programs for older people, and jokes about older people."

These facts are all indications of how older people rate in a youth-oriented society, she said.

Setting a chronological age, 65, as a retirement age is not realistic, Miss Vickery said, since everyone is different, and a senile mind can live in a healthy body.

"According to the behavioral scientists, old age is when you no longer function," she said.

THE HUMORIST on the panel, Dr. A. D. Beittel, said he was to be on the panel because he was a subject being studied by the geriatricians.

The abrupt termination of employment at age 65 and limited income of older persons arethe problems of aging, he said.

The self-employed gradually curtail their work and by so doing do not deprive society of skills and wisdom, he said, but most persons employed by others must end work abruptly at 65.

"As the retirement age is lowered, life expectancy is raised, so the years beyond retirement are increasing," Dr. Beittel said.

"Very many older persons face financial problems, and their financial need make independence impossible."

ANOTHER PROBLEM older persons have, according to Dr. Beittel, is the inability to exert clout on their legislators.

Quoting author Eric Erickson in his book, "Childhood in Society," Dr. Dan Beittel said, "Mature people get their kicks out of educating coming generations. We are a teaching species. Seniors must teach juniors. Seniors have a major educative role, which they need, and they are needed in the schools."

Aging cannot be stopped, but senility can be prevented, he said.

Most Beefsteak Eaten In U.S.

Americans are the world's champion beefsteak eaters, surpassing even the British who inspired our passion for the robust dish, according to the Associated Press.

The British started it all about two centuries ago with their famed Beefsteak Clubs which lured luminaries from the literary, theatrical and sports worlds.

One such club, the Sublime Society of Steaks, was said to have attracted members of Britain's royal family.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Forget The Extra Pay, Office Chase May Not Be Worth It All

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a quite new secretary at a big radio station. My problem is the moderator of the early afternoon talkback show. It's one of those racy "sexersation pieces" where bored housewives call in and bare all — from seductions of the TV repairman to fantasies about swinging. They get super raunchy, which stirs up the moderator (Mr. S.E.X., he's called), who leads them on — but the trouble is, he stays stirred up!

It isn't safe being around him the rest of the day, but I can't avoid him because he calls me in for dictation. He works one-eighth of the time and the rest is devoted to suggestive ploys to get me on the couch side of his desk!

He's never finished by 5 p.m. so wants me to come in nights for extra pay. This may sound naive but, Helen, he is only difficult to hold down after his sexy program. In the mornings he's a perfect married gentleman. Do you suppose he'd recover enough to be safe by 7:30 p.m.? — NEEDS THE MONEY

DEAR NEEDS:

Don't count on it! Old Sexy may be one of those night people who rev up more as the evening wears on.

You'd be safer to forget the extra money and remind him that "all work and no ploys gets Jack out of the office on time," (and keeps him "a perfect married gentlemen.") — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is an avid sportsman. He can remember to the ounce how much his last buck weighed, how many spikes, etc., but he couldn't guess my weight within 15 pounds, and he never notices when I change my hairdo.

I was about to discount all this when he told me he was going to take me on an ocean cruise. Ah, moonlight and romance, I thought — maybe I'm still his favorite dear.

Ha! Not only does the cruise include a lot of fishing at various places, but guess why he chose it; He heard the food they serve on board is the best in the world. — WANTS A LOVER NOT A SPORTSMAN-GOURMET

DEAR WLNSG:

Don't be a defeatist! Surely moonlight, soft sea island breezes, and a sexy little wife, can redirect her husband's appetite. — H.

P.S. Concerning sportsmen's total recall, columnist L.M. Boyd (who writes "Pass It On") offers consolation:

"Almost without exception," says he, "the typical fisherman can remembeh the measurements of the biggest fish he ever caught and the day he caught it. But he can't remember the measurements of his bride on their wedding day. He can recall the weight of that fish precisely. But he can't recall at all his wife's weight then. He can recollect exactly what bait that fish gobbled up. But he can't recollect what he and the lady friend ate at the first marital meal. Women happily married to fishermen understand these odd memory fixations, it's said, and make allowances."

...So too should wives of buck hunters. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

About the lady who is bugged by the perfection of her mother-in-law and sister-in-law: She metnions every good thing about these two persons, but I wonder how their sex life is?

Usually a "perfect" wife in all those departments fails miserably in bed. My wife wins no gold medals as a social butterfly or spotless housekeeper — she's more human than superhuman. But I wouldn't trade her for all the bikini-clad beauties or "perfect" homemakers. She has perfect sex-understanding and mate-understanding. We have been married over 25 years and she still makes me feel like a king.

As you say, Helen, your correspondents's husband probably knows when he's lucky. — MARTIN

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Couple Will Make Home In Cotati

John D. Milliken of Petaluma claimed Barbara E. Norton of Novato as his bride on Oct. 14 at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Barbara, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monte R. Norton of Novato, chose Susan Strider as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Testa of New Ulm, Germany, Mrs. John Graham of San Rafael and Susan Norton of Novato, the bride's sister.

William Jensen was best man, and ushers were Steve Durham and Gerald Martini, all of Petaluma, and Thomas McGrath of San Rafael.

Following a wedding reception at Bel Marin Keys Community Center, the couple went on a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Disneyland and Lake Tahoe. They will live in Cotati.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is employed at Berkeley Farms in Novato.

New Yoga Class Series Announced

The Age Of Electronics Can Bring Extra Pleasures

It's not easy to return to school, take up a hobby or master a foreign language when there are children at home. In fact, it's hard to find a quiet corner and cuddle up with a good book. This doesn't mean you have to relegate yourself to a back stool in the kitchen, while career women and full-time students are improving their minds.

Electronic learning devices can teach you while you're engaged in other activities. First prophesied by Marshall McLuhan (who said books would be replaced by other forms of communication), these new learning aids don't require an engineering degree to handle. Units in schools involve complex teaching machines, or expensive video-tape hookups. But to take advantage of the new home study courses, all you need is a cassette tape recorder, an inexpensive machine that can be used for a variety of purposes besides learning. You just flip in a prepared cassette by Automated Learning, Inc. and bone up on history or Italian, learn how to chart your own horoscope or eat your way out of fatigue. And, once you turn on the tape, your hands are free to cook, sew or attend to the many emergencies that crop up during the day... There are no pages to turn.

If you miss a day listening to your cassette tune in while you sleep. The Russians have been doing it for years. For more information, write Automated Learning, Inc., 1275 Bloomfield Avenue, Fairfield, N.J. 07006.

Who says all you can do in the kitchen is cook?

Mirrors that have become unsightly through damaged backing can be resilvered. Ask your hardware man for guidance. Or ask at the furniture store.

Robinson's Former Teammates Join In Mourning

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Former teammates and opponents of Jackie Robinson Tuesday joined in mourning the passing of the dynamic Hall of Famer who broke baseball's color barrrier in 1947.

Robinson died of a heart attack in Stamford Conn., at the age of 53.

"His death saddens me greatly," said Pee Wee Reese, who with Robinson in Brooklyn formed one of the great double play combinations in baseball in the 1950s. "Jackie was quite a person. I grew to know him and admire him a great deal, off the field as well as on. We used to play golf and tennis together and he was a great competitor in everything he did.

"I was quite concerned about his health when I saw him at the series," said Reese, one of the first Southerners to accept Robinson as a teammate. "He seemed to be quite feeble, completely blind in one eye and with only partial sight in the other.

"He was a controversial guy," Reese added, "and some of the things he said made some of the players on the old Dodger teams pretty mad. But for all that he was a great person and I had to admire him for having the guts to say what was on his mind."

Hall of Famer Roy Campanella, the other black star of the Dodgers and one of the premier catchers in baseball, called Robinson, "a winner who would do anything in the world to beat you. The more you got on him, the more he was going to hurt you. Others might have gotten upset in a situation like this but not Jackie. He got better. He was a tremendous competitor and became one of the top hitters in the league."

"It was shocking to hear of his death," said Campanella, who is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of an auto accident in 1958. "When I first heard it, I said to myself it couldn't be true. But I knew different. The last time I saw him he told me that his eyes were bad and his legs were hurting him."

Duke Snider, the centerfielder of the 1950s Dodger clubs, said in Fallbrook, Calif., that Robinson was, "the greatest competitor I have ever known. I'm shocked. We were the best of friends."

Carl Erskine, the ace righthander of the Dodger staff, said he was "saddened" by Robinson's death. "He meant encouraging things to me," Erskine said from Anderson, Ind., He was the kind of man who took the time to be encouraging. He did this quietly to the other players as well.

"Jackie always seemed to have so much more to get done than he could do. He was interested in his race. He was interested in people in general. Among the things he wanted was a black manager in baseball. His interest may have enhanced the chances for this to happen sooner."

Jim Gilliam, Robinson's successor as second baseman of the Dodgers and now a coach with the team in Los Angeles, may become the first black manager in the game. He called his former rommate's death, "a shock and a tragedy.

"This is a sad moment for me and my entire family," Gilliam said. "I came up with the Dodgers at an early age. Being rommates with Jackie Robinson was the greatest thing that ever happened to me. He taught me a lot of things on the field and off. We were very close, and we've been close through the years. He was one of the greatest and smartest ballplayers of all time."

Leo Durocher, who managed the Dodgers when Robinson broke in, called him, "a great competitor who could do it all. He was a great player, a manager's dream." Durocher, who was later to see Robinson as a nightmare when he opposed him as manager of the New York Giants, said in Los Angeles, "he was under a lot of pressure when he came up but he took it as gracefuly as anyone. As a player, he could upset a pitcher so bad he didn't know where he was half the time. If I had to go to war, I'd want him on my side."

Yogi Berra, the Yankee catching great who opposed Robinson in six World Series, called him, "a hard out and a player who could do everything. He was a helluva ballplayer," said Berra from St. Petersburg, Fla. "He was good to me and we were good friends. It's a sad thing."

Allie Reynolds, the pitching star of the Yankee team who gained fame as the "Dodger Killer" in the World Series, called him, "an outstanding

Marinites Migrate To Menlo College

It's like Little Marin County in the football program at Menlo College of Menlo Park.

With only 28 players on the team, five of them did their high school playing in Marin County. Assistant football coach Don Baikie is a former Marinite and did his share of recruiting in his old stamping grounds. He taught at San Rafael Military Academy from 1962 through 1966 and was head football coach for the 1964 and '65 seasons.

The five Marin players are all on the starting offensive team for Menlo — Randy Jackson, halfback from Novato High; Dave Limont, fullback from Marin Catholic; Brad Wright, center from San Rafael; Ross Chamberlain, guard from Redwood, and Bob Stubbs, tackle from Redwood.

Jackson was the team's leading ground gainer before suffering a concussion three weeks ago. He's been out of action for the last three games, but Baikie and head coach Ray Solari were waiting word from the doctor this week in hopes of getting Jackson back.

"We certainly could use him," said Baikie. Menlo has a record of 4 wins and 2 losses this year and an 0-1 record in the Coast Conference.

THE BOB MOORE FAN CLUB is alive and kicking in Greenbrae. Moore, former Stanford star and now reserve tight end for the Oakland Raiders, thrilled a group of 14-year-olds when he arrived for the first meeting of the Bob Moore Fan Club Monday night at the Robert Gustafson home at 47 Cielo Drive, Greenbrae.

Fourteen-year-old Mark Gustafson was throwing a surprise 14th birthday party for Ross Ohrenschall, who lives across the street from the Gustafsons. Ross' favorite football player has been Moore, both at Stanford and in Oakland. He even has Moore's number — 88 — on his Redwood High School freshman football jersey.

Mark got in touch with Moore and invited him to his house for dinner and the surprise party. So while most of you were sitting around watching the Vikings-Bears game on television, Moore, a second-year Raider, was in the Gustafson back yard teaching 15 kids how to block and catch passes. They got such a workout they came back in the house to down three gallons of milk.

"It was really something," said Mrs. Gustafson. "That Bob Moore is really a great guy with the kids."

SCOTT DUNCAN, the super runner from San Rafael High School who played in the Shrine prep all-star football classic last summer, is a starting halfback on the University of California junior varsity team and J.V. coach Ron Hudson predicts Duncan will be a three-year varsity player for the Bears.

"He's got great quickness and he's an all-around athlete," the Cal coach said, and to anyone who ever saw this young man run, the coach's statement was not news.

Although Scott didn't score any touchdowns in the Cal Ramblers' 62-34 loss to UCLA's junior varsity last Friday, he kicked two extra points. Yes, he can also kick extra points. Like the man said, he's an all-around athlete.

Winesberry Is Ready, Says Chris

BURLINGAME, Calif. (UPI) —Stanford Coach Jack Christiansen hopes the return of John Winesberry will signal the rebirth of the Cardinals ground game when Oregon State comes to call Saturday.

Stanford managed only 25 yards rushing against Oregon last Saturday as the Ducks pulled a 15-13 upset. Winesberry is by far the Cards' top rusher even though he has missed two games with a foot injury.

NOT SORE

Christiansen told the Northern California football writers Tuesday that Winesberry has no soreness and just a little stiffness and should be ready to play.

Oregon State Coach Dee Andros told the writers by tape that "offensively, we move the ball, but we just aren't putting any points on the scoreboard." Oregon State brings a 1-6 record to Stanford.

Publicist Rod Commons said the Beavers were trying soph Mike McLaughlin at their troubled quarterback spot because he has shown he can run from the option attack although his passing is still a questionmark.

'TOUGH'

Mike White, whose California Bears are also 1-6, saluted the Wishbone attack of UCLA, which piled up a 49-13 win at Cal Saturday.

"The Wishbone is tough," said White. "UCLA is very good, they execute brilliantly.

"The secret of their offense is in their quarterback ... quarterbacks I should say, all three of them. They are the most effective runners I've seen in that situation."

AT SEATTLE

California meets injury-riddled Washington at Seattle Saturday and despite the Huskies 5-2 record this represents one of the Bears few chances for victory in their suicidal schedule.

Colorful UOP now has won four straight games while completing 2 of 14 passes during those contests.

The Tigers took San Jose State 38-28 Saturday as soph Willard Harrell gained 165 yards in 11 carries and returned three kickoffs for 126 yards. He was named Northern California offensive player of the week for his heroics.

'SAVING IT'?

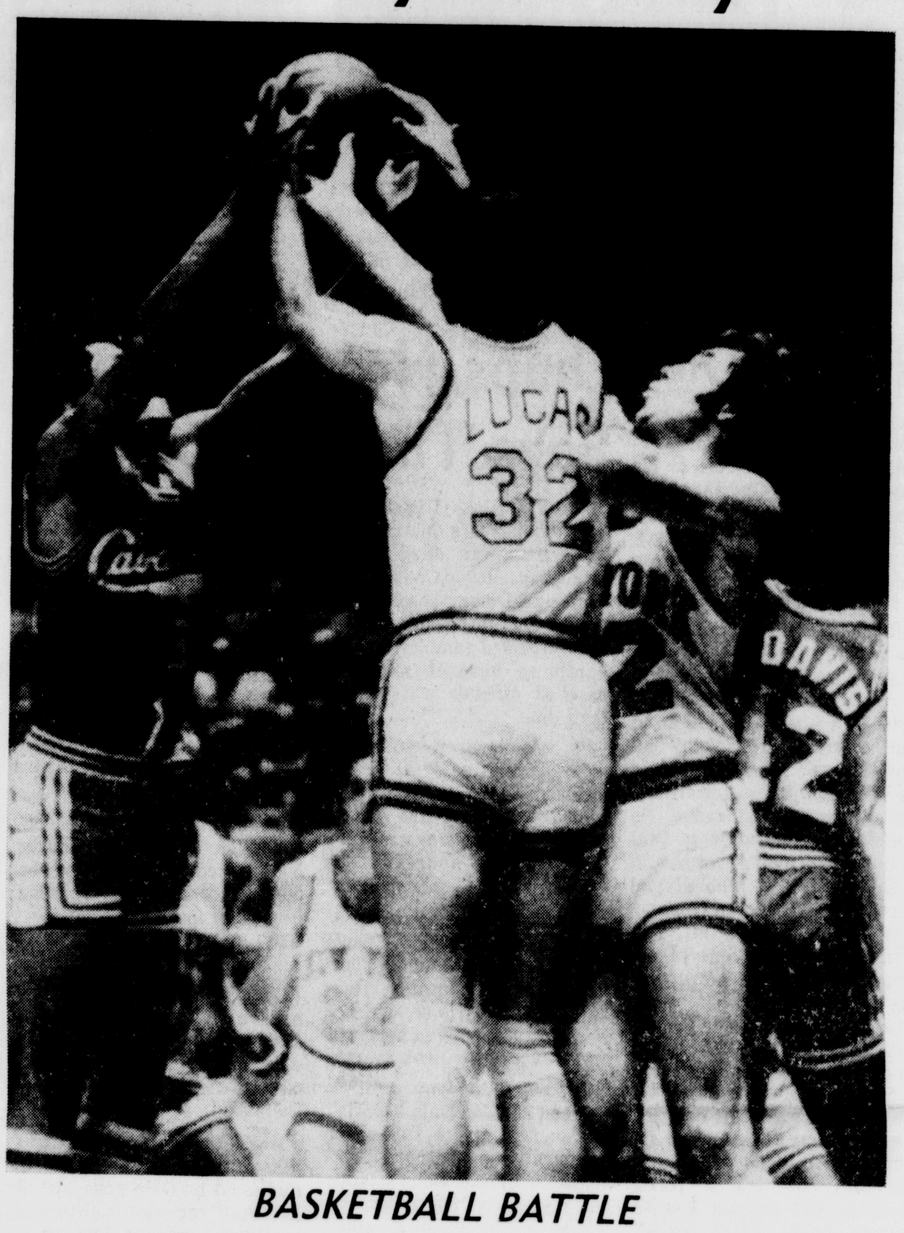

UOP coach Chester Caddas noted that a Davis newsman had written that his team was "saving our passing attack" until we play the Cal Aggies Nov. 18.

"Saving it?" said Caddas, "We're looking for it."

San Jose, whose Craig Kimball threw for 252 yards against the Tigers, meets Long Beach State next while UOP calls on Idaho.

Vida Stays Away From A's Party

BASKETBALL BATTLE

Jerry Lucas (32) of the New York Knickerbockers and Austin Carr of the Cleveland Cavaliers struggled for the ball last night in a National Basketball Association game in New York, while the Knicks' Dave Debusschere helped Lucas and Cleveland, Dwight Davis (42) moved in. New York won, 123-90. See NBA roundup story, page 29.

Finley Shows His Anger Without Naming Blue

Owner Charlie Finley admitted today he was displeased with the non-appearance of the 1971 star who never regained his form in 1972 after a contract holdout with the owner eliminated his spring training.

"I don't care if anybody knows how I feel," Finley said. "It sickens me to think that some of the players on the club didn't have enough red blood in their veins to come to the parade."

Blue missed the mass parade Monday as well as the team party later in the day.

After Sunday's World Series win that gave the A's the title over Cincinnati in seven tough games, Blue said "I know there are going to be parties for the players, but I'm not going to any of them. The Vikings and Bears are on TV and I'll be watching.

Fans at the airport kept chanting "we want Vida" when the team came home in triumph. He didn't show.

"What bothers me is showing a lack of appreciation," said Finley, who never mentioned Blue by name. "I don't pay salaries, the fans pay salaries."

The battle between Finley and Blue of last spring still raged this month when Blue suggested the reason he wasn't getting a starting assignment in the playoffs was that if he looked good, he might ask for extra money next spring.

'Jackie Brought New Dimension,' Says Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon eulogized Hall of Famer Jackie Robinson Tuesday as a man who "brought a new human dimension not only to the game of baseball but to every area of American life where black and white people work side by side".

The president expressed "deepest sympathies and condolences" to the dead star's family and said in a statement: "his courage, his sense of brotherhood and his brilliance on the playing field brought a new dimension not only to the game of baseball but to every area of American life where black and white people work side by side."

Tar Harriers Take Two Wins

College of Marin handily won a Camino Norte Conference double-dual meet in cross-country yesterday, defeating Solano College of Suisun City, 24-31, and DeAnza College of Cupertino, 16-42, at Skyline College's 4.2-mile course in Belmont.

The Tars' Lee Hotchkin won the race in 22:21, and was closely trailed by John Streett, fourth; Joe Kinn, fifth; John Ladd, sixth; and Frank Elias, ninth.

Women's Lib Scores Win In NCAA

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)— The NCAA council, one jump ahead of women's lib, Tuesday recommended throwing open tournament and meet competition to qualified members of both sexes.

The recommendation, along with proposals dealing with organization and financial aid, still must be approved by the entire membership at its annual convention Jan. 11-13 in Chicago.

The council, which is holding a three-day meeting here, approved open competition in any of the 17 recognized sports to both men and women.

Most of the NCAA rules, like the 1.6 minimum grade average rule and no participation in club sports, would apply to the women, according to Louis J. Spry, assistant executive director of the NCAA.

"The problem of how women will compete during the regular season would still exist," Spry added.

Under the recommended reorganization plan, the 660 NCAA members would be divided into two division. However most members would fall in Division One which requires a full program in eight of the 17 recognized sports. Members of this division would be required to play at least 50 per cent of their football and basketball games against other division members.

Other requirements for Division One qualification include a major program in at least two sports—football or basketball and one other, or football and basketball; either take part in an NCAA event or have a medalist in an event during the past three years.

Division two schools would be required to have four sports programs, one in each of the three seasons.

ENDS 51-GAME FAMINE

Drake Wins First Water Polo Match

It was a day of upsets and superlatives yesterday in Marin County Athletic League water polo action, as Drake High School won its first game in the five-year history of the league by beating Novato in overtime, 9-8, and Redwood High stunned previously undefeated Terra Linda, 13-10.

In the other league game, Mike Kamler scored an astounding 10 goals to lead San Rafael to a 15-5 victory over San Marin. Tamalpais drew a bye.

Rich Garcia scored the winning goal for Drake with about one minute left in the second three-minute overtime period. "It was a regular field shot," said coach Dave Ramos, but it was far from ordinary, since it broke a 51-game league losing streak. ("We won four by forfeit last year, but we don't count those," said Ramos.)

Ramos praised Garcia's offensive play (five goals) and the defense of Rippe and Kon Zaharoff.

Defending champion Terra Linda, meanwhile, had won 34 of its last 35 league games before running into Redwood's Tom Schindler and Corwin (Corky) Hull, who scored five goals apiece. Four-goal efforts by the Trojans' Keith Strange and Todd Gulick couldn't reverse the outcome.

Terra Linda committed 37 fouls to Redwood's 20, and five of the Trojans' first eight men fouled out. The upset kept Redwood and San Rafael in contention with 6-2 records, while Terra Linda held the lead at 7-1.

Standings

Terra Linda 7-1, Redwood 6-2, San Rafael 6-2, Tamalpais 3-4, San Marin 3-5, Novato 1-6, Drake 1-7.

Terra Linda Triumphs In Key Soccer Match, 2-1

The McCarthy brothers of Terra Linda High School led the Trojans to a key 2-1 soccer victory over Redwood yesterday in Marin County Athletic League competition in Terra Linda.

In other games yesterday, first-place San Marin drubbed crosstown rival Novato 7-1, while San Rafael beat winless Marin Catholic, 3-0, and Drake shut out Tamalpais, 2-0.

The McCarthys, James and Mark, scored a goal each to give the Trojans their victory over Redwood. Terra Linda remained half a game behind San Marin in league standings, and will play at San Marin Friday at 4 p.m.

Drake shut out Tam as Frank St. Just and John O'Shea both scored. The Pirates evened their record at 4-4.

Standings

San Marin 7-1-1, Terra Linda 7-2, San Rafael 6-3, Redwood 5-3-1, Drake 4-4-1, Novato 3-5-1, Tamalpais 1-7-1, Marin Catholic 0-8-1.

Kings Overpower Hapless Seals, 5-0

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)— Bob Berry is off to the best start any Los Angeles hockey player ever had and the Kings are beginning to win.

The Kings made it two in a row Tuesday night, beating the California Golden Seals 5-0 as Berry collected his eighth goal of the young National Hockey League season.

Now 3-6, Los Angeles hosts the new Atlanta Flames Thursday night. The Seals (1-5-1) host tough Pittsburgh Friday.

Berry scored on a power play early in the second period to give the Kings a 3-0 lead. He deflected in a long shot by Mike Corrigan, his fifth power play score this season.

Rogie Vachon registered his 14th NHL shutout—and first as a King—by knocking away 18 Seals' shots.

Terra Linda Wins In 'B' Basketball

Tom Clunk scored 17 points yesterday for Terra Linda High School as the Trojans beat Marin Catholic 38-31, in Marin County Athletic League Class B basketball game. In the other game, Drake edged San Rafael, 39-38, behind Tom Ambrosini's 15 points.

In "C" action, Drake knotted up the standings, beating San Rafael, 23-18, while Marin Catholic was holding Terra Linda to total of two points in the first half to win easily, 39-16. Drake moved into a three-way tie for first place, with Marin Catholic and San Rafael, all holding 3-1 records.

NOVATO GAL CAPTURES DART CROWN

Karen Hibbs of Novato Sunday won the Northern California Darts Association Ladies Singles championship by defeating defending champion Caren White of Hayward two games to one, in the finals at the Abbey Tavern in San Francisco.

"I've only been playing for two years and I had no idea I would win it," said the Novato housewife, who took up the game at the urging of her husband, SM. Sgt. Marvin Hibbs of Hamilton Air Force Base.

About 30 women competed in the tournament, and Mrs. Hibbs defeated six to reach the finals. The victory earned her a trip to Los Angeles in February to meet the Southern California champion for the state title.

Oilers Trade For Backfield Men

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers Tuesday traded wide receiver Charlie Joiner and linebacker Ron Pritchard to the Cincinnati Bengals for a pair of running backs and linebacker George Webster to the Pittsburgh Steelers for a wide receiver.

Joiner, the Oilers No. 1 receiver, and Pritchard were traded for backs Fred Willis and Paul Robinson and Webster for receiver Dave Smith.

Smith, 6-2, 205-pounds, is in his third year and finished sixth in AFC receiving last year. This season he caught 10 passes for the Steelers for 98 yards but no touchdowns.

Robinson and Willis, both 6-foot speedsters, are faster than any of the Houston backs and are expected to move into the starting lineup. The Oilers have one of the worst offensive records in the NFL and need outside speed.

Robinson, a five year veteran from Arizona, gained 1,023 yards his rookie year but was injured last season and gained only 213 yards. This season he has gained 94 yards on 21 carries.

Willis, a 212-pound second year pro from Boston College, moved into the starting lineup last season and led the Bengals in rushing with 590 yards. He has gained 127 yards in 42 carries as a starter this season.

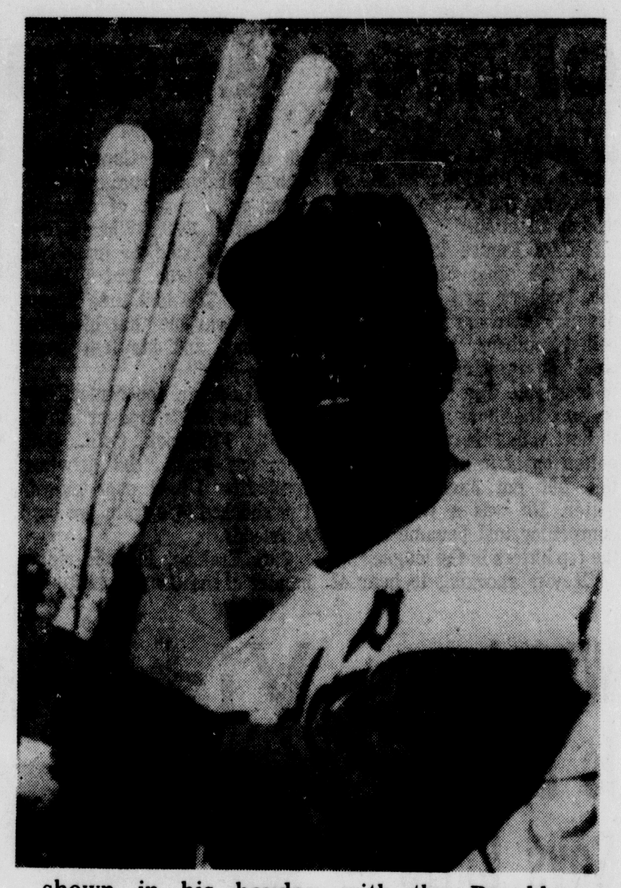

"We wanted offensive linemen, but they're just not available and we've been looking constantly," General Manager John Breen said. "Coach Peterson and I made the trades and Bud (Adams, the Oilers owner) was told. That was it."

Pritchard, a 6-1, 235-pounder from Arizona State, was the Oilers' No. 1 draft choice in 1969. He played as an outside linebacker in 1970 and 1971 and was moved to middle linebacker this season.

Joiner, a four-year veteran from Grambling, has caught 59 passes the last two years for 1,097 yards and 10 touchdowns. He has caught 16 passes for 307 yards and two touchdowns this season.

Webster, hobbled for several years by knee injuries, has been out two weeks but was scheduled to start this week. Webster, 6-foot-4 1-2, 230pounds, was Houston's No. 1 draft choice in 1967.

REMARKABLE CAREER — Jackie Robinson, who became the first black to play major league baseball and later the first ever inducted into the Hall of Fame, died in Stamford, Conn., yesterday at the age of 53, apparently of a heart attack. At right, he is shown in his heyday with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and at left, he held the plaque at his Hall of Fame induction in 1962 — a plaque which, ironically, made no mention of his breaking the color barrier.

Williams was signed to his second two-year contract Aug. 12 at "a substantial increase" then got another raise after the A's won the pennant. At a victory celebration party Monday night owner Charles O. Finley announced that the manager's pay was being boosted again.

No figures were disclosed, but published reports have put Williams at about $80,000 a year with his latest raise.

Leonard Steals Show At The Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.J. (AP) — When Yogi Berra, Sandy Koufax, Lefty Gomez of Fairfax, Early Gus Wynn and former Negro first baseman Walter Buck Leonard were inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame, Leonard stole the show.

The ex-slugger of the Homestead Grays of the old Negro National League told how he learned last February of his selection for the shrine. He was called to New York by Monte Irvin of the baseball commissioner's office on the pretext of picking an all-Negro team and telling baseball men all about the late Josh Gibson, Homestead catcher regarded as "the Black Babe Ruth." Leonard said he was so excited the sweat dripped off his face "onto my new suit." Leonard sells real estate in Rocky Mount, N.C.

New Mexico Mulls Girl's Varsity Bid

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI)—The New Mexico Activities Association was to consider a proposal today to open high school sports to girls.

The 16-member NMAA executive board was asked to consider the case of Nancy Lopez, a sophomore at Roswell Goddard High School who wants to join the school varsity golf team.

NMAA Executive Director U.G. Montgomery said he believed if the board approves Miss Lopez' request, "they'll have to do it for all sports."

Miss Lopez, a 15-year-old golfing sensation, is a three-time winner of the New Mexico Women's Amateur Golf title and this year won the U.S. Junior Girls National Tournament and the Western Junior Tourmaments.

Goddard Golf Coach Bill French said she is a better player than at least two of the present varsity golfers.

Last year, the NMAA told Albuquerque's Manzano High School that it could be suspended from the association if it entered tennis player Helen Harbert in an official match.

Miss Harbert had joined the tennis squad after an insufficient number of boys turned out for the team.

The school appealed the NMAA ruling to the executive board, but the board deferred action for further study.

Montgomery said the NMAA formally dropped girls' sports competition in 1934 because of a feeling then that athletics were too hard on girls.

"Of course, most doctors now will tell you different," said Montgomery.

Boryla Grabs Passing Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Another week brings another new leader in the Pacific Eight passing department.

Stanford's Mike Boryla became the third leader in as many weeks when latest figures today showed him with a 217.5 yards per game aerial average.

He replaced Oregon's Dan Fouts, now second at 205.3. But Fouts leads Boryla in total offensive figures, 203.1 to 200.2.

Kermit Johnson had another big day rushing Saturday against the California and the UCLA speedster now dominates those figures with a 95.9 yards per game average, far ahead of teammate James McAlister at 74.4.

Mike Rae of USC, who handles the placekicking as well as the quarterbacking for the Trojans, leads the scorers with 68 points.

Overtime For 49ers In Practice

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers put in extra time on the field and in the film room in an effort to overcome mistakes they made in last Sunday's 20-20 tie with New Orleans.

The extra effort on what normally is a light practice day resulted from unhappiness with the team's performance against the Saints, who almost won the game but settled for a tie when San Francisco got a field goal in the final seconds.

Coach Dick Nolan of the 49ers said Tuesday he expects regular quarterback John Brodie to be sidelined with a sprained ankle no longer than one more game after Sunday's contest in Atlanta.

Brodie will again be replaced by Steve Spurrier in the Falcon game, Nolan said.

competitor—he was just tremendous—and a credit to his race. I'm part Indian and I knew what he had to put up with. I didn't appreciate many of the things Jackie faced from some of the players."

Preacher Roe, Brooklyn's ace left-hander, said Robinson was, "a great guy to have on your team. When he broke in, he had a rough go of it. Jackie put up with a lot when he first started but he went in there to play ball and he was a good one. I never saw a man with greater instinct for winning a ballgame. He could see more ways to beat you than any man I ever saw."

Eddie Stanky, who played second when Robinson came up from the minors in 1947, said "baseball has lost one of the greatest players that ever put on a pair of spikes", while Dixie Walker, a former Dodger outfielder, said he was, "as sad as could possibly be. Me being a Southern boy and raised in the South, it wasn't as easy for me to accept Jackie when he came up. At that time I was resentful and made no bones about it. But he and I were shaking hands at the end."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn described Robinson as, "a man whose life was one of total courage. No one surpassed his contribution to sports. His entire life was courage. Courage as the black pioneer of the game; courage as a player; courage in the way he fought for what he believed; courage in the way he faced his final illness.

"More than anything else, I will remember him for his love of his wife Rachel and his children and for his dedication to the battle against drug abuse."

Marin Academy Wins

Trevor Robins scored two goals yesterday as Marin Academy improved its soccer record to 5-2 with a 4-0 victory over Marin Country Day School. Ross Parameter and Bill Spencer scored the other Marin Academy goals.

Umps Not Guilty, Says The Gambler

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Baseball officials are investigating "certain aspects" of an incident involving the names of 11 American League baseball umpires found in the address book of a suspected gambler. But the gambling suspect says the baseball officials are wasting their time.

"I would never embarrass them guys," said Al Isella, arrested Sept. 25 when police raided his home and lodged gambling charges against him. He said the address book "serves as my Christmas list."

State's Attorney Samuel A. Green Jr., of Baltimore County told a news conference following a high-level meeting Tuesday that "There is no evidence of any wrongdoing on behalf of umpires of the professional leagues."

Green said "certain aspects" of the incident are still under investigation by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office but neither he nor others involved in the meeting would comment.

Richard Butler, supervisor of umpires of the American League, Henry Fitzgibbon, security chief of the baseball commissioner's office and Maryland State Police Superintendent Thomas Smith attended the closed door session with Green.

Butler said he would recommend to Kuhn that none of the umpires be disciplined.

So far, none of the umpires have been identified and future identification is up to the commissioner. It is believed two of the 11 are dead and two more are retired from baseball.

Isella told Baltimore News American Sports Editor John Steadman that his friendship with American League umpires began about 15 years ago when he met several of them in a Baltimore area seafood restaurant.

Through them, Isella said he met more umpires and other sports personalities who frequented area restaurants, including one where he is maitre de.

Isella said he was once convicted on a gambling charge but insisted he never used the umpires or any other sporting friends for inside information.

"If there is anything wrong that comes out of this then I'm willing to take 20 years in jail or give my year's salary to the Catholic Church. If I'm guilty of something wrong with umpires then the Pope is guilty," Isella said.

Isella, who faces charges stemming from the Sept. 25 raid, said he once gave tips at Rosecroft raceway to then-vice president Lyndon B. Johnson.

Portland Obtains Davis From Cavs

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Portland Trail Blazers have obtained guard Charlie Davis from the Cleveland Cavaliers for cash and a third round draft choice in either 1973 or 1974.

To make room for Davis, Portland Tuesday placed center Bill Smith on the injured list, keeping the active roster at 12.

Lamonica To Rejoin Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders report that quarterback Daryle Lamonica will be able to play Sunday when the Los Angeles Rams come to call.

Lamonica was sidelined early in the loss to Denver although Ken Stabler filled in well and it was the Raider defense which had problems in the Broncs' 30-23 victory.

Much-travelled Charlie Johnson hit 20 of 28 passes as the Broncos built up a 24-3 lead at the half.

"I didn't think anybody could pass against us like that," said linebacker Phil Villipiano. "It was embarrarrassing. But Johnson did a great job of play calling and passing."

Part of Denver's strategy involved isolating 6-5 Billy Masters or 6-4 Riley Odoms on 5-foot-11 safety George Atkinson, but perfect tosses by Johnson were what resulted in the completions.

After Operation Juan Is New Man

Juan Marichal is a new man following a back operation that freed him of pain for the first time in 12 years.

"I feel wonderful," said Marichal. "I'm glad I had the operation."

Marichal reported Wednesday he would re-visit Stanford Medical Center to receive instructions from Dr. Daniel Meub on a course of winter exercises which Marichal hopes will get him back in shape so that he will be able to resume his major league pitching career.

Dr. Meub performed surgery on Marichal Oct. 9 for a "protruding" lumbar disc between the third and fourth vertebrae of the lower back.

"DON'T KNOW yet what exercises Dr. Meub will set up for me," said Marichal. "I'll probably start off swimming and then go to weight exercises. Because of the facilities at the Marines Memorial Club in downtown San Francisco, I'll probably stay here instead of returning to the Dominican Republic.

"If everything goes as planned in the exercise program, I may go back to the Dominican for the last month of winter ball there. But first I'd talk with Mr. (Horace) Stoneham about that."

MARICHAL DISCLOSED that he has been living with his back problem ever since he made his major league debut for the Giants in 1960 and posted the first of 227 victories with a one-hit shutout against the Phillies on July 19th.

Marichal's back was giving him so much trouble that he wore a corset to minimize the pain. Tom Sheehan, who had just succeeded Bill Rigney as manager of the Giants, took Marichal to a chiropractor in Cincinnati when the young pitcher made his first road trip with the Giants.

The chiropractic treatment temporarily relieved the pain but Marichal still remembers 1960 as a miserable one physically despite his success on the mound.

THERE WAS A frightful moment in 1960 in Pittsburgh when he couldn't bend over to put his shoes on in his hotel room. His roommate, Jose Pagan, had to help him.

"I began to learn to live with the pain," said Marichal. "Sometimes it got real bad but nothing like this past season when the pain crept down my left leg into the groin.

"I finally had a talk with Dr. (E.C.) Sailer (team physician of the Giants) and he told me that I'd probably have to have an operation whether I ever pitched again or not. Now, I'm glad I had it. I feel very lucky that I could survive these past years with that back."

The fact that Marichal was a 20-game winner in six seasons is a remarkable achievement for any pitcher. But the fact that he did it with a tricky back is almost miraculous.

BECAUSE HE complained from time to time about his back, Marichal was unjustly accused by some of being a hypochondriac. However, this season it became evident to everyone as he was losing 16 and winning only six games that Marichal, indeed, did have a very serious back problem.

But it wasn't until a milagram dye test was made on Marichal's spine that the protruding disc in the lower back was pinpointed as the source of his trouble.

Six Marin Wildlife Subjects In Report

Six Marin County projects of the Department of Fish and Game were covered in the Wildlife Conservation Board's annual report released yesterday.

The Marin projects discussed in the report for the 1971-72 fiscal year were: Agate Beach coastal fishing access, Paradise Beach of Tiburon fishing pier, Phoenix Lake, Miller Park coastal access, upper Tomales Bay and Petaluma River fishing access.

The Agate Beach coastal access in Bolinas provides fishing for rockfish, greenling, perch and ling cod, plus abalone picking and clamming, the report said. This $16,070.08 project is maintained by Marin County.

An old Navy pier at Paradise Beach County Park was rehabilitated in 1962, giving sportsmen 1,075 linear feet of fishing area. The project on the northerly side of Tiburon peninsula cost $31,238.86.

The report also deemed Phoenix Lake as "a fine fishing lake since its dam was rebuilt by the Marin Municipal Water District in 1968. In turn, the District provided the state a 20-year lease of the dam and lake. The $152,000 reconstruction project was finished in 1968. The Wildlife board allotted $90,000.

Miller Park on east shore of Tomales Bay features launching ramps, boat floats with rock jetty projection and a parking area. The seven-year project costing $48,419.59 was finished in 1961.

Unlike the previously discussed locales, the Upper Tomales Bay undertaking is not finished. Some $550,000 was earmarked from the (William T.) Bagley Conservation Fund to the Wildlife Board for land purchases at Tomales Bay. These lands, the Wildlife report indicated, will provide access to salmon and steelhead fishing on Papermill Creek. The locale will also provide "an ecological area with high wildlife value," the Wildlife report stated.

The Petaluma River, which separates Marin and Sonoma counties, will provide access to fishing and waterfowl hunting from the west bank. A boat-launching ramp, loading floats and other facilities have been constructed on a half-acre of Division of Highways right-of-way. Marin is operating and maintaining the $15,065.09 project completed in 1962.

Magers Is No. 1 Rusher

It was a very good weekend for the running game at Novato High School and the passing game at Terra Linda. At least, that's what the Marin County Athletic League statistics show.

Tailback Mark Magers of Novato, who ran for 128 yards against Tamalpais, took over the MCAL rushing lead from fullback Steve D'Ambra of San Rafael. Magers has 299 yards in 77 carries and a 74-yard lead over D'Ambra.

11.1 AVERAGE

Fleet Novato halfback Joe Powell, who scored on touchdown runs of 31 and 15 yards, moved into ninth place with 111 yards on just 10 carries for a spectacular 11.1 average.

Meanwhile, Terra Linda wide receiver Paul Mooney caught seven passes and moved into a tie for the league lead with Dennis Morini of Tamalpais at 13 receptions. Morini has more yardage, 239 to 217.

Terra Linda quarterback Kevin Kirby, who didn't win the job until the first weekend in October, moved into fifth place among the league's passers. The leader in attempts, completions and yardage remains Tom MacAusland of Drake.

Craig Saunders of San Rafael tallied two touchdowns to pad his scoring lead. The versatile Saunders has scored three times by running, twice by pass reception and once by a kickoff return for 36 points.

TEAM LEAD

San Rafael retained its total offense lead by the barest of margins, averaging 248.5 yards a game at Redwood's 246.7. San Rafael leads in rushing at 172.8 and Drake leads in passing at 140.0.

Redwood gave new meaning to the term "balanced offense." The Giants have exactly the same number of yards on the ground as in the air — 370 — in three league games.

Novato established a wide lead in team defense. The Hornets have given up only 87.0 yards a game, fully 45 better than second-place Terra Linda. Novato's rushing defense of 29.3 borders on the unbelievable.

NBA ROUNDUP

Celtics Stretch Streak To Eight

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Boston Celtics, mirroring their dynasty years in the late 1950 and early 1960s, are tearing apart the NBA. The unbeaten Celts made it eight in a row Tuesday night by beating the Buffalo Braves 105-97 behind JoJo White's 28 points.

Boston moved out to a 51-37 lead at the half but the Braves rallied to go ahead 95-93 on Elmore Smith's basket with 3:43 left. But Smith, Buffalo's seven-foot center, then fouled out and Don Nelson converted a pair of free throws and a long set shot to put Boston ahead to stay.

Don Chaney and John Havlicek had 14 points each for the Celtics while Bob Kauffman had 24, Fred Hilton 23 and Smith 22 for the Braves.

In other NBA action, New York trounced Cleveland 123-90, Los Angeles topped Kansas City-Omaha 114-94, Chicago nipped Phoenix 107-106 and Atlanta beat Portland 118-110.

Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley combined for 42 points as the Knicks extended winless Cleveland's losing streak to seven games and spoiled Lenny Wilkens' Cavalier debut. Frazier had 22 points and Bradley 20 and rookies Henry Bibby and Tom Riker chipped in with 17 and 11 as the Knicks ran their record to 5-1. Wilkens had 14 points in his first appearance for the Cavs, one less than high-point man Austin Carr.

Jerry West's 29-point effort led the Lakers over KC-Omaha, which got a 33-point performance from Nate Archibald, and Pete Maravich and George Trapp sparked a seecondquarter burst that enabled Atlanta to defeat Portland. Maravich hit 10 of his 20 points and Trapp 11 of his 20 in the period.

Chet Walker's 16-foot jump shot with 54 seconds left lifted Chicago over Phoenix. Bob Love scored 29 points to lead the Bulls over the Suns, who blew three chances in the final minute to go ahead.

Haywood Insists He Will Return

SEATTLE (UPI)—Facing a medical checkup on his bad knee for the third straight day, Spencer Haywood insists he'll play for the Seattle SuperSonics tonight against Atlanta in the Seattle Coliseum.

Haywood, suffering from swelling in the knee caused by a bruise just above the joint, practiced shooting Tuesday.

Haywood, a 6-foot-9 all-star forward and the Sonics' captain, leading scorer and top rebounder, missed the last two Seattle games over the weekend because of the knee injury.

Cedric Tarr's General Store In Woodacre Under New Ownership

Cedric Tarr's General Store at 10 Park Street in Woodacre has been sold to new owners, who plan to modernize and upgrade various departments.

New owners are Michael and Alice Shiffman and Robert and Joan Whelan, all of Woodacre, who will rename it The Woodacre Country Store.

They will eliminate western clothes and all the horse tack and introduce new toys, a big yarns and notions department, cards and gift items, and take local artists' works on consignment.

"We'll try to be more in keeping with the trends of the Valley," said Mrs. Shiffman. "We plan to have gourmet candies and coffees in the future and will stock all the Body-Shop line of cosmetics."

The store will be closed next week from Oct. 29 through Nov. 3 and will have its grand opening on Nov. 4, with mulled wine served to customers. The Woodacre Country Store will be closed on Tuesday instead of Monday, and will be open the rest of the week.

Shiffman has been in the real estate business for 10 years and is in his last year of law school in San Francisco. He will maintain his real estate office, Woodacre Properties, at the Woodacre store. The Whelans have lived all their lives in Marin. He is a shipping clerk in Oakland, and she is about to complete dental hygiene school.

Cedric Tarr and his wife Janis, former owners of the store, bought it 12 and one-half years ago from Thomas Legree, who had it about 10 years before that. Tarr plans to retire but will continue to live in Lagunitas.

Woolworth To Shut Store In San Rafael

It's official now. F. W. Woolworth Co. will close its variety store at 1009 Fourth Street in San Rafael on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

E. W. Kauffman of Burlingame, Pacific regional vice president, said he regrets closing the store after so many years in San Rafael.

"However, the requirements of efficiency and economic operations make the closing necessary. Woolworth has no immediate plans to open a new store here, but the company is continually investigating all areas for future expansion."

Roy Venham of Petaluma, manager of the San Rafael store for the past 11 years, said he will start a close-out sale about the first of November.

The Woolworth store in Corte Madera is the only one remaining in Marin. Venham and the 13 employees would be offered positions in other Woolworth stores, Kauffman said.

Market Irregular During First Hour Of Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market moved irregularly during the first hour in moderate trading today. The Viet Cong's denial of a pending cease-fire dampened a market that had soared on previous peace rumors, analysts said.

The market sensitive to the slightest news on peace in Indochina has found little news to rally on, one analyst said.

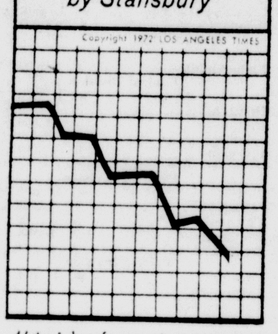

National General Corp. was the most active issue, gaining 1 1-4 to 30 1-4 on 495,300 shares, including a block of 450,000 shares at 31, up 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading. Teleprompter was the most active Amex issue, off 3-8 to 33 3-8 on 99,400 shares.

Computer and electronic issues lost ground. IBM dropped 3 1-4, Burroughs 2 3-8 and Fairchild Camera 1.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Interest Mounting For Bank Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My original purchase of 200 Union Commerce Bank has, through splits, increased to 600 shares in the holding company Union Commerce Corp. Now that the shares are listed on the New York Exchange and have greater marketability, should I sell or hgld on for possible appreciation? — D.C.

A. Bank stocks, particularly the regionals, continue to out perform the market; and for good reason. Earnings have been in a generally rising trend since 1962. In the last decade, regional banks have recorded an average annual growth rate of 15 per cent versus an average of 7.5 per cent for the components of the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Average. The current uptrend in the prime rate indicates that the spread between interest paid to depositors and the interest received on loans should be adequate to foster continued profit growth through 1973. Additional stimulus should be derived from an expanding economy and the concurrent surge expected for loan demand. U.S. Treasury borrowings alone are projected at $30 billion in fiscal 1972-73. Given a moderately expansionary Federal Reserve policy on money supply and no government imposed neiling on loan rates, bank earnings growth should continue to outpace that of other industries.

As a result of the generally bullish sentiment toward the industry, investors have reevaluated the group with the result that price-earnings multiples in many instances have returned to levels reached in the late sixties. Union Commerce has joined ranks with a growing number of banks which have elected to become holding companies.

Now the leading international bank in its service area, Union eventually plans to diversify into a full financial service company. Despite a 2-year, 200 per cent increase in share price, Union is currently trading at 12X projected 1972 results. This is somewhat below the multiples accorded many other regional banks. At the first half earnings were up 14 per cent year to year and assets, deposits, loans and capital funds at record levels. Shares should be held.

INVITATION OUT FOR A SMELL-IN

A San Anselmo man has invited Marin residents to sniff 150 scents he has collected from throughout the world.

It's part of a smell-in — or olfactory art exhibition — scheduled for 6:30 through 10:30 p.m. today at the home of Colin Ingram, 89 Elm Avenue. Another smelling session is scheduled for the same time tomorrow night.

Among fragrances on display will be Persian spice, Moroccan myrrh, frankincense, Brazilian redwood, Alpine lichen, magnolia and lilac.

16 Children Are Winners In Contest

Sixteen Marin County school children have been awarded $10 gift certificates as awards for their entries in the People for Parks and Open Space art and letters contest.

The entries, which will be on display with others for two weeks at the Civic Center Art Gallery, were judged best in a field of 650.

Bobo Strandgard and Hilary Connaughton of Strawberry Point School and Gary Base of Laurel Dell Primary School, 7-year-olds.

Mike Murphy of San Ramon School, Jennifer Solomon of Marin Country Day School and Andy Kunkel of Strawberry Point School, 8-year-olds.

George Allen of Larkspur-Corte Madera School, Danny Hutchins of Our Lady of Loretto School and Doug Blair of Marin Country Day School, 9-year-olds.

John Charles Burdick of West End School, Bobby Ehlers of Larkspur-Corte Madera School, Stephen Horn of Alto-Edna Maguire School and David Bengson of San Clemente School, 10-year-olds.

Eric Ashby of West Marin School, Bill Howley of West End School and Jeff Guthertz of Marin Country Day School, 11-year-olds.

Safe Looted

Burglars hacked away Monday at the safe at Bar Ale Feed Co., 19 Copeland Street, Petaluma, and stole $30, police reported. Officers said the safe had been battered with a sledgehammer and hacksaw.

Split second party dessert for kids

Slice a banana in half lengthwise. Place three scoops of vanilla ice cream between the halves, top with Cock O' the Walk fruit cocktail—and presto—you've got a many-fruited banana split the kids will love. You'll like using Cock O' the Walk fruit cocktail. It has top national brand quality, yet costs you pennies less. And, along with the light price, it's got a new light syrup you'll enjoy, too.

Cock o' the walk

48% Living In Marin Are State Natives

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Almost half of Marin County's population is composed of native Californians, according to a detailed analysis of the 1970 federal census issued today by the Bay Area Council.

Of the county's 1970 population, 48 per cent were native Californians, 38 per cent were born in other states and 9 per cent were foreign born.

Of the 78,000 born in other states, 35 were born in North Central states, 22 per cent in the Northeast, 22 per cent in the West and 21 per cent in the South.

In Sonoma County, 56 per cent were native Californians, the highest percentage among the nine Bay Area counties. The statewide average was 43 per cent, and in the Bay Area it was 47 per cent.

Other Sonoma figures showed 33 per cent born in other states and 6 per cent foreign born.

San Francisco, at 40 per cent, had the lowest proportion of native Californians among Bay Area counties. But 22 per cent of its population was foreign born, the highest proportion in the Bay Area.

The council, citing the decrease of migration to California, predicted the state's population will become increasingly native.

The council also noted that 51.3 per cent of Marin workers were employed outside the county, far above the average of 28 per cent for all the Bay Area counties.

Bandit Balked By Boy's Bite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—It was bite, fright, flight—in that order—when a gas station customer tried to snatch $40 from Owen Young, 13, as Young helped his stepfather at a gas station.

Just after a motorist bought a dollar's worth of gasoline, he reached for Young's shirt pocket. Young bit down hard. The would-be thief howled in pain and hurriedly drove away.

More Links In Bugging Denied

TAMPA Fla. (UPI)—Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III Tuesday denied reports he warned President Nixon there were direct links to the White House in the Watergate bugging case.

Gray, on a tour of area field officers, told newsmen he had made "no recommendation to the President or to (presidential assistant) John Dean that they do anything with regard to that particular (Watergate) investigation."

Gray was told that CBS newsman Daniel Schorr reported that Gray warned Nixon the FBI had established more serious direct links to the White House in the Watergate incident.

"That is false," the FBI director said.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

WHOSE BIRTHDAY is likely to cause a riot today? Last year thousands of tourists jammed the roads and highways in Southern France, trying to see him at his villa in Mougins. President Pompidou opened an exhibition of his works at the Louvre. Letters and telegrams poured in. But a recording at his gate repeated, "He is not at home."

In 1895 Don Jose Ruiz Blasco saw what his son had done at age 14. The father, a Spanish artist, handed the boy his own paints and brushes and quit. Soon the world learned why, after 5,000 paintings, etchings, drawings and sculptures revolutionized modern art. Pablo Picasso is 91 today and still a giant.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. RICHARD E. BYRD, American artic explorer, was born 84 yaars ago. A U.S. Naval Academy graduate, he made the first airplane flight over the North Pole and wrote several books about his exploits, the last being "Alone." Flying with him in his 1926 record-breaking pole crossing was Wiley Post, Roald Amundsen, or Floyd Bennett?

2. ANTHONY FRANCIOSA, Hollywood actor, is 44 today. Maybe he doesn't look like a ship's waiter, but that was his first job aboard the U.S.S. President Cleveland. Remember seeing him in "The Long Hot Summer"? Yes? No?

3. JOHANN STRAUSS, Austrian composer, is an Oct. 25th notable. Against the wishes of his father, a famous composer and conductor, this young man turned to music. His fame led the people of Vienna to call him Die Fledermaus, the Danube Dandy, or the Waltz King?

ANSWER

College Concerts

The College of Marin Music Department will present concerts by violinist Charles Meacham and pianist and harpsichordist Robaline Meacham Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Room 72, Fine Arts Building on the Kentfield campus. Admission is free.

DUMMY'S MISTAKE

West led the deuce of spades, and dummy made the mistake of putting his spades down before he put the other suits on the table. Quick as a flash, declarer played the queen of spades from dummy.

East was not in such a hurry. He waited to see the rest of the dummy before he made his first play. Then he carefully played the eight of spades, resisting the temptation to cover with the king.

FINESSE FAILS

Declarer next finessed with the nine of clubs, losing to West. Back came another spade, and this time East used the king to cover dummy's picture card.

South floundered about from here on, and eventually went down two. He could never bring in dummy's long diamonds, and nothing else broke well.

DIAMONDS ARE KEY

Dummy's long diamond suit will provide enough tricks — if you can reach them. The only sure side entry is in spades. For this reason, South must be sure to keep dummy's spade entry.

South should play a low spade from dummy at the first trick, and should win with the ace in his own hand. Then he leads diamonds until the ace is forced out.

SOME OVERTRICKS

Declarer can later lead a spade to force out the king, after which he can get to dummy by way of the last spade.

This assures him of two spades, three hearts, four diamonds and one club — more than enough tricks for the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:

ANSWER: Using standard methods, raise to two clubs.

This is the most reasonable description of your hand.

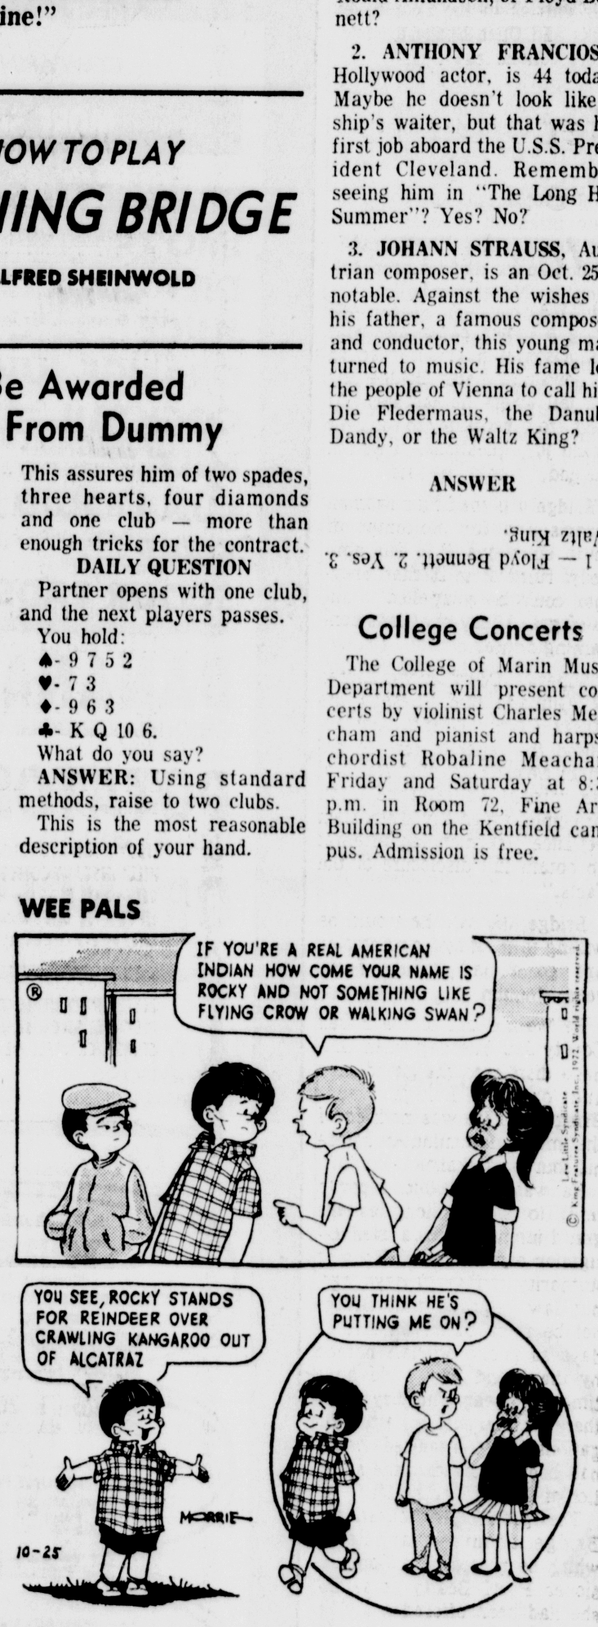

Impact Hearings Given Approval

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Water Resources Control Board has approved a regulation requiring public environmental-impact hearings before a community can draw up final designs or begin construction of sewage treatment plants.

Previously local governments using state or federal funds for treatment plants were required only to submit environmental-impact statements before construction could begin.

The board said the new regulation adopted Tuesday is designed to air objections long before construction begins, "locking decisions in concrete."

PETER BRIDGE
As he leaves jail

Reporter Is Freed; 'I Won In End'

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Carrying a brown paper bag with his prison number scrawled on it, newsman Peter Bridge left the jail where he had spent 21 days for refusing to answer grand jury questions. "I won in the end, I think," he said.

Bridge was the first newsman imprisoned for contempt of court since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled June 20 that newsmen could be compelled to answer grand jury questions concerning crime.

Superior Court Judge James R. Giuliano said Tuesday the Essex County Grand Jury accused the reporter for the defunct Newark Evening News of "a misguided reliance upon principle, especially when such reliance interdicts an attempt to obtain full disclosure of the facts."

Bridge, 36, said he would be willing to stick by his principles and go to jail for the same reasons again.

He walked out of the Essex County Jail Tuesday when Giuliano dismissed the grand jury and ordered Bridge freed. Bridge said he was notified of the move five minutes before his court appearance.

He was jailed Oct. 4 for a term to last as long as the grand jury. It finished its investigation of the Newark Housing Authority (NHA) 10 days ago, but law required that Bridge not be released for another 10 days so public officials named by the grand jury could have time to appear. The jury found there was no substance to allegations that organized crime had been involved in the selection of the NHA's director.

The grand jury questioned Bridge about an article in which he quoted NHA Commissioner Pearl Beatty as saying she had been offered a $10,000 bribe for her vote on a new NHA executive director. Bridge answered more than 35 questions relating to the printed story but contended that questions concerning unpublished material might endanger confidential sources.

Teacher-Parent Group Robbed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three youths walked into the faculty lounge of a Queens public elementary school Tuesday morning and robbed a group of six parents and teachers of more than $300 in cash and jewelry valued at $250.

A few hours later in the Bronx, another youth entered a first grade classroom and seized a teacher's pocketbook after threatening to "blow the kid's heads off."

The incidents were the latest in an outbreak of robberies in the city's public schools. Sixteen parents and teachers have been robbed in classrooms or in front of schools this month.

Education Board Votes To Continue Present Benefits

The San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to continue the present employee fringe benefit plan for the rest of the fiscal year amid teachers' concerns that switching to a new plan would result in fewer benefits.

The board also set up a committee of teacher representatives and administrative staff to review the school system's present fringe benefit situation, according to Supt. John F. Plank.

Plank had proposed that employees be put on a program developed by a Los Angeles firm and called Medic-Aid, saying the new system would cost the two districts about $20,000 less annually than the present Bluecross plan. But teachers argued against the switch, claiming that although Medic-Aid promised basically the same benefits as now received, it was a new and untested system, Plank said.

"We contacted two districts in Southern California that have used Medic-Aid and they seemed pleased, but our employees wouldn't go for it," according to Plank. "Teachers want present fringe benefits sustained forever."

He said the board wants to hold the line at the current fringe benefit expense of about $750 annually per teacher.

The teacher-staff committee was told to report back to the board with an evaluation of present fringe benefits by January, 1973.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

SURVIVAL — Promised to study a request by Survival, Inc. that a solid waste recycling depot be set up at San Rafael High School. The depot would cost about $3,000 annually to pay a supervisor, Plank said.

ENROLLMENT — Reported enrollment this year was 8,629, about 248 less students than last year.

DEFICIT — Announced that the elementary district may face a $155,000 deficit by June 30, but that there is no deficit expected in the high school district.

TEXTBOOK — Approved use of Investigating the Earth, an earth science text, in the school science program.

PERSONNEL — Made the following appointments: Daniel Cardona, bus driver at $3.40 per hour; Donna Dicker, handicapped teacher, $8 per hour; Lay Fox, teacher aide, $1885 annually; Gerald Griffin, teacher aide, $2.72 per hour; Melinda Haldeman, teacher aide, $2.72 per hour; Elza Ross Helton, custodian, $7,056 annually; Mary Holley, bus driver, $3.40 per hour; Gary Lewis, custodian, $7,056 annually; Werner Lortz, custodian, $3.40 per hour; Elyce Melmo, teacher aide, $2.72 per hour; Sandra McEowen, handicapped teacher, $8 per hour; Darcy Stanley, bus driver, $3.40 per hour, and Max Wolf, custodian, $3.40 per hour.

ADULT EDUCATION — Hired six teachers at $8.45 per hour for adult education: Cory Corder, Peter Gregg, Shirla Klenk, Sue Loggins, Victor Piltch and Paula Trehearne.

LEAVE — Granted custodian Arthur Furber a leave of absence.

MONEY — Announced a public meeting on district finances will be held in the district office at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14.

One Redevelopment Hearing Not Enough

Tomorrow night, San Rafael residents will get a chance to sound off about the proposed San Rafael Redevelopment Project. It may be their only chance.

The single public hearing required by law is scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow at City Hall. The city council has rejected a plea for a special meeting with the San Rafael Board of Education on the redevelopment program's impact on school fiannces, saying, "Bring what you have to say to the public hearing."

The redevelopment plan prepared for the city by Urban Projects, Inc., contains 32 pages of explanation plus two maps. And it leaves many questions unanswered.

ACTIVATING the plan would tie up a portion of tax revenues which otherwise would go to general city government, schools, county, etc. And it could keep them tied up for as long as 45 years.

It could create a new bureaucracy that might tend, like most bureaucracies, to expand its powers as it went along. It could do this because, once having set up a redevelopment area, the redevelopment authority (in this case, the city council) can, by law, add to it at will.

The council, as redevelopment agency, could do many things within the redevelopment area. It could buy and sell real estate, exercise tighter controls over the type of building construction, put through new streets, change present ones — anything that could be financed through the tax increase from increases in assessed valuation in the area.

THE THINGS the council has in mind for downtown San Rafael and the Francisco Boulevard and East San Rafael areas sound good. They are badly needed. The redevelopment agency may be the only way to get them done.

However, such a far-reaching and important matter, it seems to us, deserves more than a single public hearing.

Although only one hearing is required by law, there is nothing to prevent the city council from holding additional ones. We think it should do so. Everyone should have a chance to raise whatever questions he has about the plan, and get whatever answers are available.

A delay of a month or two at this time means little, when it is remembered that the redevelopment agency can, by law, remain in existence for as long as 45 years — with taxes from increased valuation all going to it throughout that time.

The plans the city council has for San Rafael sound good. But we think they should be thoroughly explored, thoroughly explained, thoroughly discussed, before this extremely important step is taken.

CERTAINLY TWO or three public hearings would seem to be necessary — not to meet the law's requirements but to meet the council's obligation to the public.

The council might even put the matter up to the people in a special election, or in next April's municipal election. Certainly it is more important than many matters which have gone to a vote of the people.

Soft-Spoken Jays

As observers of the California jay, we have frequently written of its loud, aggressive manner. Surely this is the side most frequently presented by this bold fellow. However, these jays can often be seen in the fall, sitting on a branch and crooning and churring softly to themselves. The first time we witnessed this, we kept looking for the other bird. Such mild, refined behavior seemed out of character for a jay.

Busing Just Bogeyman? Not Under Proposed Rules

By RUS WALTON

Just ask Wilson Riles. He'll tell you.

The very idea of compulsory busing to achieve racial balance in California public schools is ridiculous!

Furthermore, says the state superintendent of public instruction, Proposition 21 is just something "to keep people stirred up". (Proposition 21 — the so-called Wakefield Amendment — provides that no public school student shall be assigned to a particular school because of race, color or creed.)

The real need today, he asserts, is tuality education.

THAT'S GREAT! I mean, who can fault quality education? It is something to be desired and something of which there is too little.

The trouble is, Riles' words do not match Riles' actions. Either that or he doesn't know what's going on within his state Department of Education.

The department's Bureau of Intergroup Relations has completed the rough draft of regulations designed to prevent and eliminate racial and ethnic imbalance in California's public schools. The regulations have been prepared for a Nov. 2 meeting of the state Commission on Equal Educational Opportunities. They are the first step toward implementing the 1971 Bagley Act.

The stated purpose of the Bagley Act is to legislate an end to racial and ethnic imbalance in schools. Governor Reagan signed the measure into law over the protests of legislators who warned it could only lead to compulsory and extensive busing of school children.

THE DRAFT regulations, which must be approved by the state Board of Education, and which will probably be presented to it at its November meeting, put teeth into the Bagley Act.

The regulations define racial imbalance: it will exist "when the school percentage of any racial or ethnic group, including the majority group in the district, differs by more than 15 percentage points from the districtwide percentages of the same group." There are some minor waivers for districts wherein minority groups comprise less than 10 or more than 90 percent of the enrollment.

The regulations outline ways the imbalance can be prevented or eliminated and give out-of-balance school districts six months to send their "desegregation" plans to the state's education hierarchy. Or else.

The "or else"? If a local district does not comply with the regulations, or if its plans are not acceptable, Riles — as the state's education czar — "may initiate legal action against the district for enforcement and compliance."

One Department of Education employe admits that under the regulations, as now written, it would be impossible to achieve racial and ethnic balance without mandatory busing in many of the state's school districts.

EARLIER THIS year, a Sacramento city-county human relations commission applied similar rules to the schools in the area. It concluded that 146 of the Sacramento schools were out of balance. A state Department of Education spokesman who reviewed those findings reported it was doubtful the imbalances could be rectified without busing.

Busing? That's just a bogeyman. Something to keep folks stirred up, Wilson Riles said so.

"Looks like a landslide out here, too, Tex."

"Oompf! This was bound to happen sooner or later."

Fluoridation Question Looks Different Now

In the past few years, many consumers who never paid any attention to such matters have become aware of chemical food additives. They avoid such foods and buy those brands that do not contain them.

Should artificial fluoridation be added to all of Marin's public water, we do not have any choice? Bottled water, especially for large families, is far too expensive.

This is one of the reasons why the question of artificial fluoridation looks very different in 1972 than it did in 1960.

Many of the people of San Francisco who voted for it 20 years ago would not vote for it again in 1972.

Fluoride Beneficiaries Are The Minority

Mr. Shand (Oct. 16) made such a ridiculous statement pro-fluoridation it demands an answer.

Mr. Shand states, "The minority who is still opposed are really not penalized, since they have the opportunity to purchase bottled water at a reasonable price."

The minority are the youngsters under 10 years of age. Why not buy for them bottled fluoridated water so the rest of us can rest assured that poison will not be added to our already polluted water system?

Mill Valley Action Called Machiavellian

I wish to dissociate myself as clearly as possible from the arrogant misuse of power by Mill Valley in the recent matter of Cal-Fong.

I personally incline toward a position of severely curtailing growth, especially in areas like Marin where the environmental and public health price to be paid for continuing the traditional patterns of growth is so conspicuously unacceptable.

How far we go, however, is not quite as important as whether or not we can live with each other along the way.

In other words, if the quest for open space, the effort to restore the balances of nature, and the struggle to enhance the aesthetic values of our community are going to require such a transparently Machiavellian disregard for process and the principles of trust, good faith and fairplay as took place Monday evening (Oct. 16) then please count me out.

A Parting Tribute To A Loyal Friend

Our Niki possessed neither a pedigree nor kennel club qualification. When he came to make his home with us he was already 12 years old, overweight, slightly deaf and not too agile. His ancestry was questionable, however, he was a lovely redish colored medium size dog with kind brown eyes and unquestionable devotion. There were times we found it hard to believe he was "only a dog". After his mistress, our neighbor, passed away, and the remainder of the family moved, he moved in with us. We had recently lost our own pet and while working in the garden one day there lay Niki, looking in need of companionship, as much as we were. From that day on, for the next four years he was our constant and loyal friend. Although some may find it odd that so much mutual love went into our four years together, we felt the need to express a final thanks to Niki for the happiness he brought us each day. We earnestly hope, in some way, when we finally had to put him to sleep last Tuesday that he knew how much we loved "our dog".

Why Does President Avoid The People?

In this crucial year only Senator McGovern walks among and speaks to the people.

We wonder why our President will not come among us, rich and poor, to answer our many questions. Since Vietnam was not to be an issue in his campaign why is he letting us down by avoiding the good old American political campaign?

Remember 35,200 American servicemen remain in South Vietnam. An additional 108,000 Americans are fighting the Vietnam war from airbases in Thailand, Guam and from the Seventh Fleet warships off the coast. There remain 143,200 men still in this war zone.

The draft is not ended.

With a Republican victory perhaps this horrible war will escalate.

Go to bed tonight and really, really think of the thousands of our men who were sent to Vietnam to sleep forever.

Remember they are still being sent and still becoming tragic casualties of this war. War, misery and taxes walk together.

Patriotism Is Not Turned Off At Dusk

In regards to the letter by Lyle E. Van Der Werff entitled "Flag Should Be Flown In Daylight Only." Obviously Lyle hasn't looked out his own back door at one of his neighbors. I'm referring to McDonald's.

Since President Nixon said, "Patriotism does not go to sleep at night, and neither should our national symbol, the flag, come down at sunset. From this night on the White House flag will fly day and night in all types of weather, it will be well lighted during the evening and in inclement weather (as long as it is a nylon flag). We will show other nations that our patriotism is not turned on and off by a switch, but shines on brightly day or night." I believe that it is great to show your patriotism shining brightly throughout the night. From many parts of San Rafael you can see the flag as she is flying, and if you have never seen the flag at night from a distance you are missing a beautiful sight. To see this huge flag with its bright colors against a dark background is incredibly fantastic. My hat is off to Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury for the added beauty to San Rafael. Note: I'm only a teen-ager (17).

Facts About Fluorine Are Not Scare Tactics

I really get a kick out of the emotional reaction of the proponents of fluoridation whenever scientific facts of fluoride toxicity are presented to them... "purveyors of doom," etc.!

Facts aren't "scare tactics." I would find it much scarier to be kept in the dark.

TODAY'S WORLD

"... and another great feature — it has 1,286 fewer parts to worry about."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Five Forces Work To Bring Settlement Of Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — There are five powerful forces now working to bring the Vietnamese war to a peaceful settlement:

3 — Moscow and Peking want to end the fighting and are pressing their views on the North Vietnamese.

4 — Hanoi is stepping up the pace of secret negotiations with Dr. Henry Kissinger. Time is no longer on Hanoi's side because the Communists can now see that continuing the war is not going to defeat President Nixon.

5 — But the most important and valuable force of all is the denisive and steadfast public support of the President's refusal to accept Hanoi's one-sided peace terms designed to take over South Vietnam at the conference table though unable to conquer it by military force.

IT IS WELL to remember that the Vietnamese Communists defeated France not primarily because of Dienbienphu, but because of a wavering and divided French public opinion.

It is an overwhelmingly united and firm American public opinion which has enabled Mr. Nixon to use air and naval power to blunt the North Vietnamese all-or-nothing offensive of the past six months and to resist a Communist takeover.

After L.B.J. was virtually driven from the White House because the war was so lacerating the nation, Hanoi had every reason to expect that domestic opinion would force the United States to capitulate no matter who was elected in 1968 and that all it had to do was to keep on the offensive until this happened.

Mr. Nixon inherited a glum and deeply divided public opinion.

He has succeeded in turning it right around. He has won a steady and staunch backing for his way of ending the war.

HE DID THIS, in part, by withdrawing nearly 500,000 U.S. ground combat troops and by reducing U.S. casualties to nearly zero.

But this was not capitulation. The President helped to turn back the massive 12-division Communist offensive with air and naval power, and the South Vietnamese helped to turn it back on the ground so that today, North Vietnam holds no provincial capital anywhere in South Vietnam.

How fully do the American people support the President on Vietnam today? Gallup finds that:

On the use of air and sea power it is 69 per cent for; 24 per cent against.

On mining the North Vietnamese harbors, it is 66 per cent for; 27 per cent against.

On continuing to stand by our South Vietnamese ally, it is 69 per cent for; 23 per cent against.

On seeking to end the war with the best prospect of avoiding future war, it was 86 per cent for the President's course; 11 per cent against.

THIS SHOWS how decisively Mr. Nixon has been able to unite the country — even in the midst of what could have been a divisive presidential campaign — behind the Vietnam policies he has advocated.

He is ending the war. He may be able to end it by negotiation before the election or soon thereafter.

Mr. Nixon can afford to wait. But can Hanoi afford to wait since the President would have no special incentive to make concessions after Nov. 7?

The Viet Cong spokesmen in Paris maintain their stance that nothing is at the point of settlement. That is the Communist negotiating tactic —to always keep on saying no to everything until at last they say yes to something.

Southern Democratic Candidates Avoid Links With McGovern

BILOXI, Miss. — Congressional candidate Ben Stone walked into radio station WVMI and the friendly newsman, who had no intention of doing him harm, handed him a list of questions he might ask during their half-hour interview on "Speaking of the Gulf Coast." Smooth as always, and friendly himself, Stone nevertheless was firm in saying he would talk about everything suggested except the Watergate break-in, the ITT scandal and the Russian grain deal.

All of those, of course, are embarrassing subjects for any Republican running this year, so it is perfectly understandable to avoid them — if you are a Republican. But Stone is a Democrat, and as a candidate in southernmost Mississippi, he does not want to use any of the issues George McGovern is using in his campaign, nor to say anything that might slightly annoy a single supporter of Mr. Nixon. He is not only willing, he is eager to ignore the presidential issues, and if you let him lead the conversation, you might never know this was a national election year.

IN THIS, he is typical of Democratic candidates up and down the South. At age 37, going on five years a Mississippi state senator, Stone is a knowledgeable politician. He says the last telephone survey he commissioned in the Fifth District by a Memphis, Tenn., firm, showed him leading his Republican opponent, Trent Lott, by 43 per cent to 27 per cent. But it also showed Mr. Nixon leading McGovern by 78 per cent to 8 per cent in the district, which was carried four years ago by George Wallace. If Stone had no other incentive to run an independent campaign, that would more than suffice.

However, he did not have to commission a poll to know thepotential effect of any linkage with McGovern on his chances to take the seat of retiring 20-term Democratic congressman, William Colmer, chairman of the House Rules Committee. Nor did Lott, who switched parties after serving as Colmer's administrative assistant in order to run on the prudent side for any ambitious beginner in elective politics this fall in the South.

Lott explains his defection from the majority party as a rejection of "so-called liberals" and "Yankee Democrats" who "harassed and humiliated" Colmer as Rules Committee chairman. But he is also said to have told a farewell party in Washington that if McGovern were nominated by the Democrats, he himself surely would be back to the capitol in January. And ever since Stone won the 10-way Democratic primary and subsequent runoff, Lott has tried persistently to pin the McGovern label on him.

THIS FALL EVEN more than usual, Mississippi politics is more a game of who is for whom than of who is for what. At the senatorial level, the Republicans nominated an attractive Meridian businessman, Gilbert Carmichael, to run against Sen. James O. Eastland. But Nixon political operatives, including Mr. Agnew, have pointedly scorned Carmichael to say kind things about Eastland, who may be a Democrat, but who is mainly the chairman of the Judiciary Committee and a solid backer of Mr. Nixon's Supreme Court nominees to date.

Agnew said in Mississippi that retiring Representative Colmer was supporting Lott, but Colmer denied it. Lott nevertheless makes much of his own previous tie to Colmer. Yet when all the claims and denials are balanced out, the tie that matters most in the Fifth District of Mississippi and in other congressional contests from the Chesapeake Bay to the Rio Grande is the one that exists between each Democratic candidate and McGovern, simply because they wear the same party label.

That is why Ben Stone underwent an hour of questioning from students at the Jefferson Davis campus of Mississippi Gulf Coast State College the other day, and they pinned him down about veterans' benefits, Vietnam, Colmer, utility rates, marijuana, defense spending and the environment — and yet he emerged smiling as if with relief. For once, nobody had said the dread words "George McGovern" out loud.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

A few more irresponsible transactions like Dick's grain deal and we'll no longer have the biggest and best farm surplus in the world.

Making a profit out of international trade violates our proud tradition of foreign aid give-aways.

What Dick hasn't yet learned is that, politically speaking, the safest farm policy is not to have one.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BONNIE BARD

Sonoma State College Study Of Politics Goes To Dogs

Although the general election is only two weeks away, Southern Sonomans must look at a calendar as a reminder since very little evidence of political activity can be found.

A refreshingly small number of political signs have been posted, and those tacked up illegally in public places were quickly removed by policemen. Only State Sen. Randolph Collier has invested in a few billboards, with the simple message "Re-elect Senator Collier." Democrat Harry J. Moore has posted some signs in his assembly race with William T. Bagley.

Few of the eight candidates for the Petaluma Hospital District board have done much campaigning and none has posted signs. Perhaps Petalumans are saving their campaign energy and money for the election for mayor and city councilmen next June.

MAYBE BY THAT time citizens will see candidates taking the family dog along on the campaign trail — that's if the candidates pay any attention to a study being prepared by a group of Sonoma State College students.

A sociology class taught by Robert Tellander is preparing a survey of Petalulma voting habits in relation to the type of dog the voter owns.

The survey should answer the all-important question of whether liberals tend to own mixed-breed dogs and conservatives the pure-bred varieties or vice versa. Since the survey will be broken down into several areas of the city, perhaps candidates with pure-bred dogs can borrow a "mutt" for campaigning in neighborhoods where they're favored.

With heavy research like that going on, it's got to change the minds of those who contend the local college students aren't making a serious contribution.

PETALUMA DISTRICT teachers — long upset over the lack of salary increases — last week made their feelings known very clearly in Rohnert Park. Teachers at Rancho Cotate High School refused to participate in the traditional "back to school night" and Principal Robert Daggett was forced to cancel the program.

The teachers contended that because of their low salaries, they have the right to withhold non-essential services. Teachers said the refusal to take part in the program did not mean they would refuse to meet with parents, but they simply wanted parents to realize how unhappy they are.

Teachers said they might also boycott other events such as chaperoning games and student dances, since they are not compensated for such after-hour activities.

The boycott trend will probably continue until next month when the Petaluma Board of Education hopes to dig deep enough to give teachers a salary increase.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Some interesting findings about American teen-agers and their high schools are produced by the third annual national opinion poll conducted by "Who's Who in American High Schools."

The picture that emerges shows high school juniors and seniors rather more conservative than their elders might have expected. It shows also that most of them consider their teachers qualified, but very few turn to their teachers for personal advice.

The polls, results of which have just been announced by Public Relations Network International, may not give a true picture of all students in the age group. The questionnaire was sent to 50,000 selected as "student leaders" for the annual publication, "Who's Who in American High Schools." Some 23,000 responses were received. Of those responding, 91 per cent were white, but the breakdown by race on each question shows little deviation among white, black and "other."

THE SPREAD of drugs on campus and in the community is evidenced by 55 per cent reporting that drugs listed are "readily available in my school" and 77 per cent saying they are "readily available in my community."

Despite this, 72 per cent of these student leaders report they have never used marijuana, 92 per cent have never used amphetamines, 94 per cent have never used barbiturates, 95 per cent have never used LSD, 97 per cent have never used cocaine, and 98 per cent have never used heroin.

About the same percentages disapprove of the use of these drugs by others, except that only 62 per cent say they they disapprove of marijuana use. Yet only 26 per cent say they would use marijuana if it were legalized.

By way of comparison, only 15 per cent say they have never drunk beer, only 18 per cent have never drunk wine, only 25 per cent have never drunk liquor, and only 55 per cent have never smoked cigarettes. But 85 per cent say they do not now smoke.

Only 43 per cent report their high schools have a drug education program, and of these, only 26 per cent say it is doing an adequate job.

THIRTY-SIX per cent of these 23,000 student leaders feel the majority of their high school teachers are "well qualified," and an additional 52 per cent think they are "adequately qualified." However, 51 per cent say their schools' college and career counseling is lacking.

There has been much talk and effort in recent years about making the high school curriculum more relevant. Apparently the effort has not succeeded in the students' view, for 58 per cent of those polled say their schools spend "too much time on irrelevant subject matter." Unfortunately, there was no question to elicit what kinds of subject matter the students regard as irrelevant.

Seventy per cent say they are members of organized religious groups, and 57 per cent say they attend religious services frequently. Yet when it comes to discussing their personal problems, few of them turn to either the clergy or their teachers. Forty-eight per cent report they most often discuss such problems with a close friend; 43 per cent, with a family member; one per cent, with a clergyman; less than one per cent, with a teacher.

SEVENTY-EIGHT per cent believe needed changes in our society can be made through the existing political system.

Only 27 per cent advocate total amnesty for draft dodgers, but 55 per cent think they should be given amnesty if they do public service in place of their military service.

And, if the poll results are indicative, the heavy registration of 18-year-olds may not be such a boon to the Democratic ticket as some have expected; for 47 per cent say they will vote for Nixon, and only 37 per cent, for McGovern. The poll was taken in August.

Some additional comfort for worried parents may be found in responses to a question as to whether these young people plan to rear their children in the same way their parents reared them. Sixty per cent say yes.

Democrats Lead In Registration

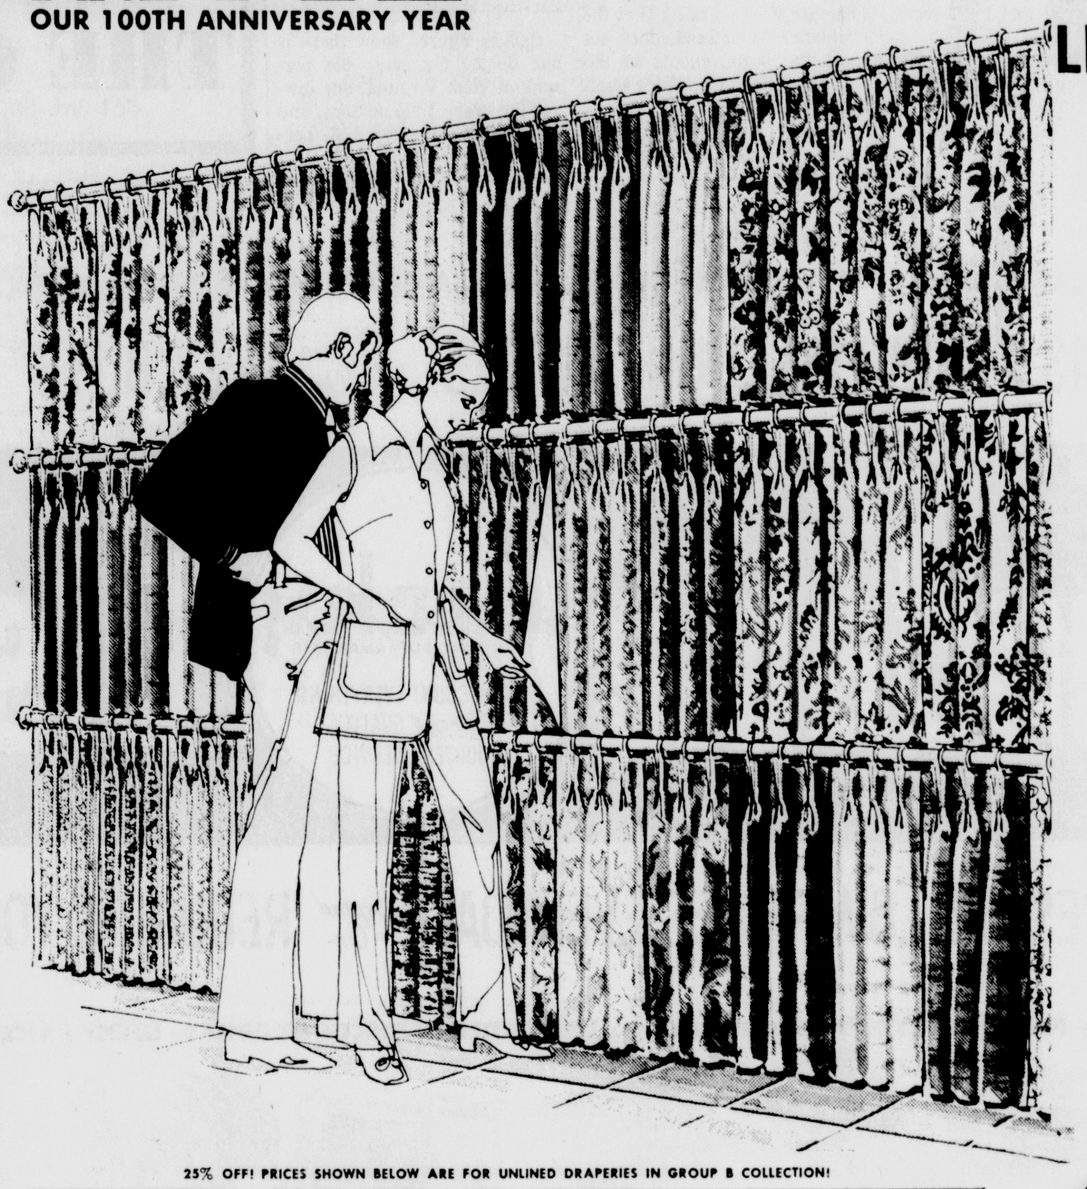

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Democratic registered voters outnumber Republicans in the city by a nearly 3-to-1 margin, Registrar of Voters Emmery Mihaly announced Tuesday.

Mihaly said there were 281,720 Democrats while there were 103,515 Republicans. The total figure of 421,020, he added, was a record. The figure included members of other parties.

A total of 36,482 persons registered as Democrats since the June primary while 7,739 persons signed up as member of the GOP, Mihaly said.

Sausalito Reviews Ferry Conditions

The Sausalito City Council last night reviewed a list of conditions it would like the Golden Gate Bridge District to meet in its Sausalito ferry operation, but stopped short of approving the recommendations. (Another Sausalito City Council story, page 1.)

The council decided first to seek reactions on the proposals from City Atty. Leland H. Jordan and the city planning commission.

The proposals call for a minimal terminal facility in downtown Sausalito, limiting the terminal to restrooms, benches, ticket booths and a movable canopy for inclement weather.

The recommendations, prepared by the council and several Sausalito organizations, including the Sausalito Business Association and Chamber of Commerce, citizens council, the Sausalito Foundation and women's club ask that the bridge district:

1. Prepare a statement of the environmental impact the ferry will have on Sausalito and present it to the council before any final agreement on the ferry operation and planned terminal is signed by the city and the district.

2. Appoint a committee, empowered to speak for the bridge district, to work with the council in preparing plans for the terminal.

3. Permit the City of Sausalito to select the consulting firm which will prepare the environmental impact statement.

4. Limit its shuttle buses taking passengers to and from the ferry from the ferry from its northern parking lot to four per ferry arrival and agree to eliminate the shuttle bus service entirely as soon as a mutually acceptable mode of transit is available.

5. Lease the site of its terminal and landing facilities from the city for either a lump sum, to be determined, a fee for each passenger carried, whichever is higher by the end of each fiscal year.

6. Lease 320 commuter automobile parking places in the city's proposed northern parking facility in Marinship once that facility is built.

7. Establish the Larkspur ferry terminal as the primary port of embarkation for visitors to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and West Marin.

The council agreed to consider reports on the proposals from Jordan and the planning commission at its Nov. 8 meeting.

Several representatives from the bridge district were in the audience during the review of the conditions, but made no comment.

Sausalito Council Wants Houseboat Policy Revised

A proposed houseboat ordinance, which would permit the City of Sausalito to regulate the number of boats in its waters and insure that the structures meet city safety and fire codes, was sent back to the city attorney for revision last night by the city council.

City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the council asked for the changes after learning that the ordinance as drafted, does not meet the requirements of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board.

St. Cyr said the regional board is asking that the ordinance require holding tank and pump-out facilities for sewage in all houseboat marinas and that it should allow houseboaters to have onboard holding tanks as an alternative to a connection to a public sewer.

The board also requested that the ordinance provide criminal penalties for violation of any of its provisions, St. Cyr said.

Census figures show there is one doctor for every 658 persons in West Virginia, one lawyer for every 1,015 persons, and one dentist for every 2,381 persons.

Exemptions Allowed In Impact Area

The Sausalito City Council agreed last night that it will not require environmental impact studies for projects and developments for which the city has already granted a building permit.

The council acted in response to the recent state Supreme Court decision in the case of Mammoth vs. Mono in which the court ruled that impact statements are needed for private, as well as public, developments.

Previously, the council had decided not to require impact statements for single-family residences and their accessory buildings, interior alterations to existing buildings, maintenance and repair of existing buildings and signs which conform to the city zoning ordinance. Repairs required by city code enforcement are also exempt.

In related business, the council agreed not to require environmental impact statements for the remaining 105 units still to be built in the Marina Vista subdivision and for proposed remodeling of Rico's restaurant by Sam Zakessian who plans to add a second floor to the existing structure.

The council acted, according to City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, after hearing requests from Zakessian and Marin Vista architect Roland Mays that the two projects be exempted from the requirements.

The Sausalito City Council also:

RECORDS — Adopted an ordinance requiring sellers of residential property in the city to present to the purchaser a record of all city actions which may have an effect on how the property or dwelling can be used.

TENNIS COURTS — Awarded a contract for resurfacing Martin Luther King School tennis courts to Malott and Peterson-Grundy whose bid was $8,849 for the work. The council also approved rules for reserving the courts on weekends and holidays from May to September.

EMERGENCY — Adopted a city emergency plan in conformance with the Marin County disaster plan.

EXPANSION — Split 2-2, with Councilman Stephen A. Fraser absent, on a request from the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District that the district not be required to prepare an environmental impact statement for its proposed expansion of its Main Street pumping station.

MARINSHIP PARKING — Asked St. Cyr to prepare a report on possible location of a Marinship parking facility, along with costs and financing plans, for presentation to the council within six weeks. The council tentatively agreed that such a lot should contain between 600 and 1,000 spaces and could be expanded at a future time.

MEETING — Set its next meeting for Wednesday, Nov. 8, since its regular meeting date, Nov. 7, falls on election day.

DREDGING — Approved a proposal by the State Lands Commission to do maintenance dredging of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor.

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?
Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Cause of Asthma Is Obscure; Psychological Factors Blamed

A young mother from New York writes: "What is the cause of asthma? Our 10-year-old daughter has had all the skin tests and our doctor says the results are negative. Her bouts of wheezing are so bad that she is forced to miss school for a day or two. Please advise."

The precise cause of asthma is obscure, but the best possibilities are infection, psychological factors, and allergy. Apparently, allergy is not the cause inasmuch as the skin test results were negative for pollens, housedust, animal dander, molds, and other allergens. Infections usually involve the respiratory tract and are incriminated when the individual develops asthmatic symptoms shortly after catching cold. Many of the sufferers respond to the antibiotics.

IN CHILDREN, psychological factors may stem from stressful situations in the home or at school. Our reader gave us no information on this aspect. Exercise may also induce wheezing; asthma attacks have also been linked to air pollution. Despite all of this, many with allergic asthma may develop an attack when they catch cold or become emotionally upset. In other words, one condition aggravates the other.

In asthma, the bronchi narrow due to swelling of the lining membranes and spasm of the muscles surrounding the windpipe. There are many products that relax the bronchial muscles, relieve the congestion in the lining membranes, and liquefy thick, tenacious mucus. The traditional bronchodilators are adrenalin, ephedrine, and isoproterenol. Orciprenaline a newcomer is being used in England. All bronchodilators must be used as directed because they may stimulate the heart leading to cardiac irregularities. Corticosteroids and aminophyllin also are useful, especially when intractable asthma exists.

POWDERED DISODIUM cromoglycate is a good preventive, but must be used before exposure to the allergen. It is practical for those with seasonal asthma due to a known pollen or dust which the person cannot avoid.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal).

INFECTION FATIGUE

A.G. writes: Why is a person so tired when he has a virus infection of the nose and throat?

REPLY

Fatigue is one of the effects of the toxins created by the infection.

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE CLOT?

R.B. writes: Does the blood clot dissolve eventually in thrombophlebitis?

REPLY

No. The clot is replaced by scar tissue and the vein shrinks down to the size of a piece of twine.

WHEAT ALLERGY

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, but there is bound to be someone who develops a swollen toe or pain in the neck after eating white or whole wheat bread.

LUMINOUS CLOCK

Mrs. T.K. writes: Will a boy of 12 be harmed by sleeping in a room with an illuminated alarm clock?

REPLY

No. The tick-tock will disturb him more than the illuminated dial.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, heavy air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, heavy air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 8:30 p.m. — James Farentino stars in "Hunt for a Lonely Girl," the premiere episode in the "Cool Million" series. Ray Milland and Kim Darby also appear.

Larkspur Panel Performs A Little Act Of Chivalry

The Larkspur Planning Commission delayed action last night on a young mother's variance application to allow construction of a prefabricated home on Madrone Avenue, then promptly called a five-minute recess so they could give her some advice. (Another Larkspur Planning Commission story, page 1.)

The act of chivalry came after Nora La Corte told commissioners the only home she could afford for her son and herself on her small lot at 239 Madrone Avenue was "a rustic factory built house."

She had searched for different styles of house, but many of the modular home firms appeared to have gone out of business. The one she could find would require a 10-foot variance in the required front yard setback.

"Can't you get an L-shaped prefab?" asked Commissioner Benton A. Sifford Jr.

When Miss La Corte said she'd been unable to get one, the commission continued her application to their next meeting on Nov. 14, then declared a recess.

Commissioners Sifford, Leonard S. Rubin and Charles H. Curley asked members of the audience for recommendations, advised Miss La Corte how to go about finding a kind of prefab that wouldn't necessitate a set-back variance, then resumed the meeting.

The Larkspur Planning Commission Also:

PARKING DECK — Continued to its Nov. 14 meeting an application by Jan Danielson for a front yard set back for a parking deck at 1 Owlswood after being told by neighbor Robert Davis that he and other residents hadn't been properly notified of the application.

Go-KART — Continued A. and B. Finnila's application to have their go-kart track on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard rezoned to commercial use from its current light industrial category until after a general plan for the San Quentin Peninsula is adopted.

IMPACT — Decided that two architectural supervision applications — for 26 apartments on South Eliseo Drive, and for seven on Hawthorne and Locust avenues would need environmental impact reports before approval or denial.

LOT SPLIT — After an hour's debate over whether an environmental impact report was really needed, Planning Director Arthur Stout insisting it was, and commissioner Curley dissenting — told the Remillard Co. to submit such a report before reapplying for a lot split for its land on the peninsula; the split is to enable Robert Lee and Associates to buy the Remillard brick kiln for a restaurant conversion, and for the Remillard Co. to sell the rest of the 39 acres to T. I. Properties.

GRADING — Recommended the city council adopt an amended grading ordinance.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned at 12:30 a.m. to the next regular meeting on Nov. 14 at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

Petaluma Store To Open Sunday

Mervyn's Department Store will open its new Petaluma branch at the Washington Square Shopping Center Sunday with festivities to begin at 9 a.m.

The opening celebration will include the ascension of a 40-foot diameter balloon at 10 a.m., a concert by a steam calliope, a performance at 9:30 a.m. by the state champion Petaluma Police Assistance League Girls Drill Team along with prizes and free coffee and doughnuts.

The 48,000-square-foot store will be the first to open at the new shopping center on South McDowell Boulevard at East Washington Street. The store will be open seven days a week and including evenings except Saturday and Sunday.

The chain was founded in 1949 in San Lorenzo which remains the main headquarters. Eight stores are currently operating in Northern California and four new stores are scheduled to open this month. Annual sales exceed more than $50 million.

Mervyn's Petaluma store will have an annual payroll of $750,000 and employ 100 persons full time, not including seasonal and part-time help. Almost all employees have been recruited locally.

Heading the store will be Lawrence Palmer as director. He had previously been operations manager at the San Lorenzo store. Douglas P. Grimm will assist him as operations manager.

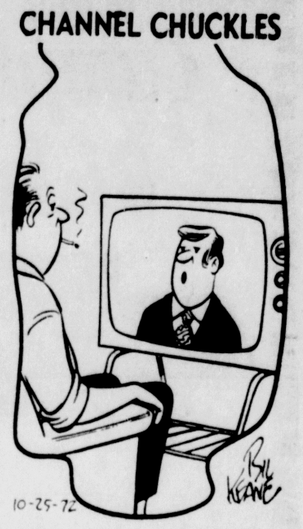

Local residents who will be department managers include George Baptista, Dudley Clarke, Mary Dougherty, Theresa Johnson and Terry Legate of Petaluma and Jack Stapleton of Rohnert Park.

The store will carry a complete line of clothing along with yardage, linens, bedding, draperies, domestics, cosmetics and toys.

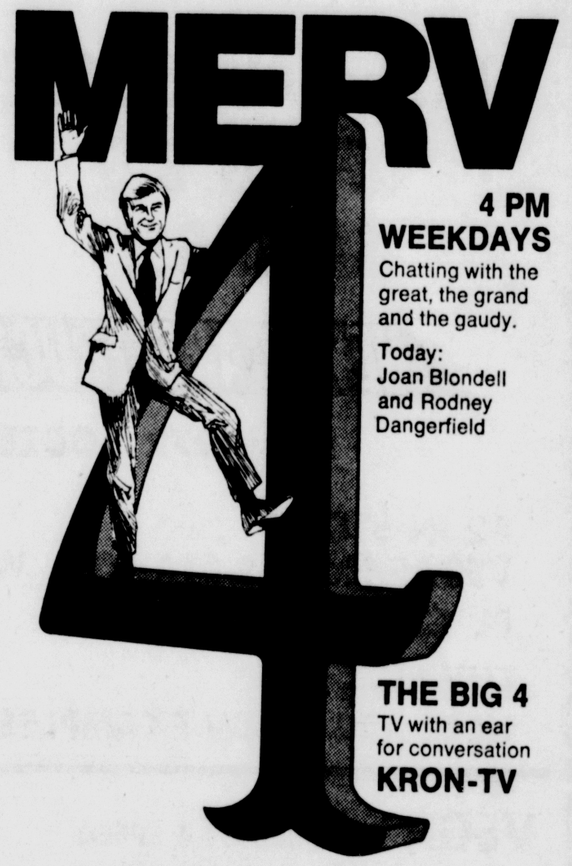

Equipment Stolen

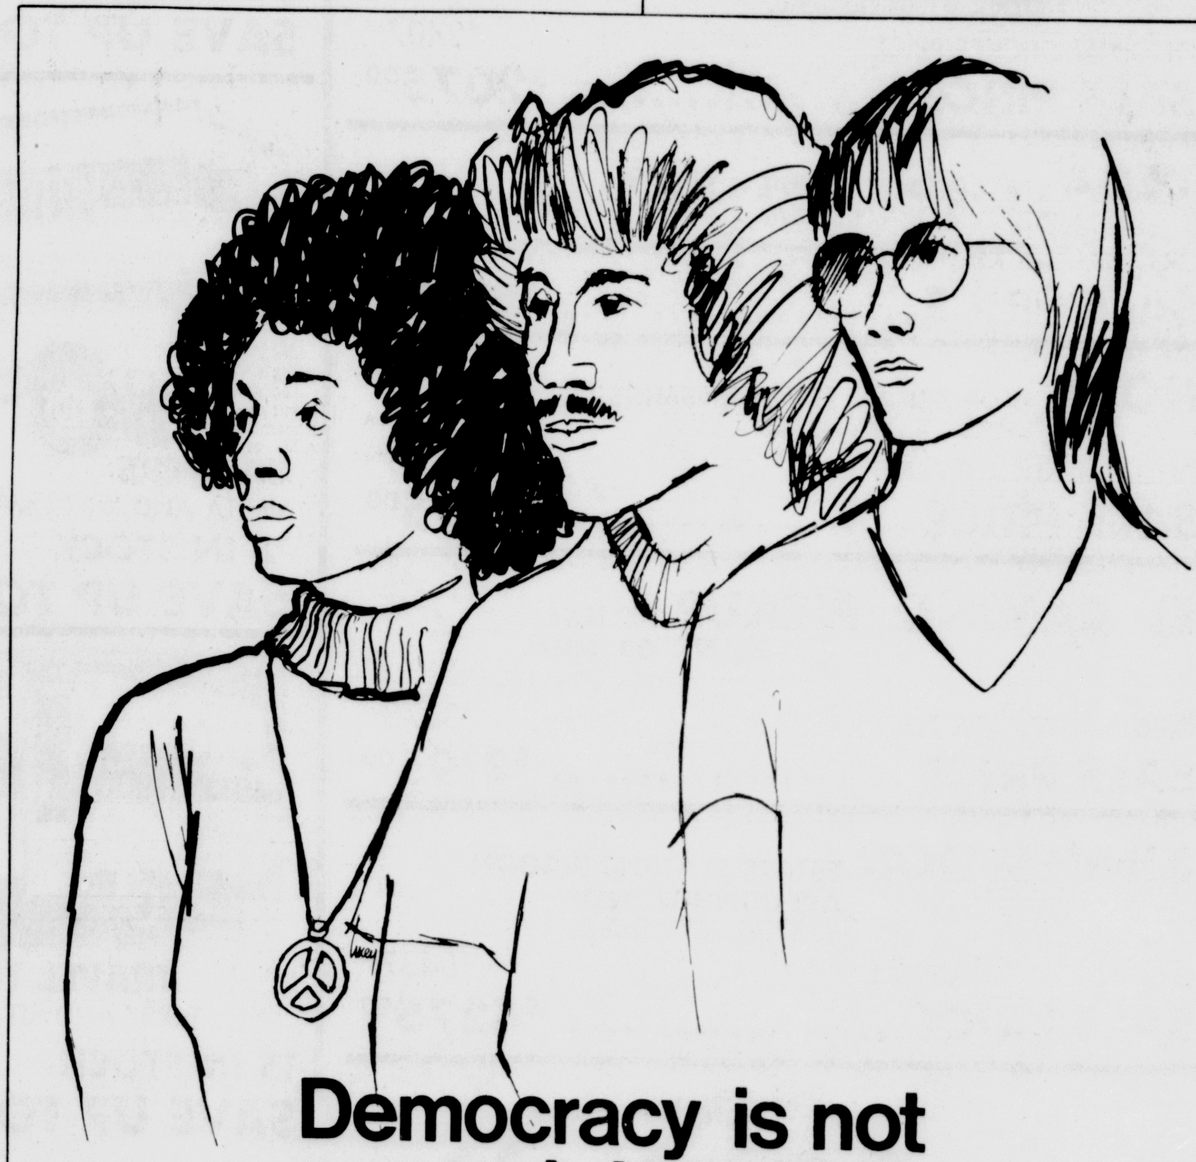

Equipment valued at $2,800 was taken Tuesday or Wednesday from the Gil Construction Co. uite on Mesa Road, Point Reyes Station, company supervisor Ernest W. Allen reported Saturday to Marin County sheriff's deputies.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

Democracy is not a spectator sport.

The word democracy is from two Greek words, demos which means people, and kratos, power. People-power means that you are vested with the power to choose your leaders and to approve or reject certain propositions. You will fulfill that important right on November 7.

Between now and Election Day, you will find careful coverage of the issues and the candidates in the I-J. The entire Marin Magazine, published with the Saturday, November 4th I-J will be devoted to the election.

Need more information?

We'd like to recommend the two pamphlets, pictured here. Published by the League of Women Voters, they are available at the public library nearest you, at schools and in the lobby of the Independent-Journal, 1040 B Street, San Rafael, They will help you to cast a thoughtful and informed vote on November 7th.
